PREFACE

A Life within the Century

A man of fantastic vital energy, Otto Joachim has journeyed through this century in the most contemporary manner possible by continuously adapting to the different environments in which he has lived. Fortified with an exceptional musical talent and untiring curiosity, he has opened every door he has encountered, expanding his experience and accumulating an impressive store of knowledge which makes him an astounding artist and man.

Born in Germany in 1910, a violinist and violist trained the hard way – by his father by a few teachers and through self-education, young Otto Joachim gained experience with all types of music. Because of his ability to learn quickly, he was soon working as a musician to support himself and his family.

When it became obvious that safety required him to leave Nazi Germany, he accepted his first foreign engagement. Thus began 15 stateless years of living wherever circumstances drew him: first Singapore, then Shanghai. Despite cultural shock and difficult conditions at times, he carved his niche with disconcerting ease, bringing his family with him. He took every opportunity to play in hotels, in clubs, with orchestras and chamber music ensembles, while collecting records and developing artisan expertise in repairing instruments, radios and record players.

When chance brought him to Montreal in 1949, he decided to settle there. At last the man found asylum; the artist was free to express all his dimensions. Activities and accomplishments followed one another, each of which could have filled a lifetime: violist with the Orchestre symphonique de Montréal; founder of the Montreal String Quartet; founder of the Montreal Consort of Ancient Instruments, for which he built period instrument replicas; and violin, viola and chamber music teacher. With his fiery personality, cut-and-dried opinions, deep love for the masters of the repertoire he knew from first to last note, and his thirst for experimenting and self-expression, it was only natural that he turned to composing.

His loyalty to the German tradition is unflinching; his music is based on dodecaphonic series and solid structures that allow him to delve into his sensuality, his taste for taking risks and his interest in experimentation. Out of this came his introduction to the aleatoric and a commitment to electro-acoustic music which captivates him still. Although he also paints, composing is now his primary professional activity and he is deeply involved in the dynamic Quebec contemporary music scene.

A unique individual, Otto Joachim is the personification of the Promethean artist: cosmopolitan, open-minded, curious and marked by human absurdities. In finding peace here, he has succeeded in assuming his artistic responsibility and repossessing his past and his heritage.

INTRODUCTION

This finding aid is classified as a numerical list because it describes the fonds at the file level. Descriptive notes have also been prepared for the overall presentation of the fonds as well as for each series. The different levels of description thus enable researchers to locate the information by proceeding from the general to the specific.

The descriptive note for each file contains a file code, the title, the inclusive dates, the type of record (textual records, audio discs, photographs, etc.), the number or linear quantity of textual records and the number of iconographic or audio records, a description of the file's content when it contains different types of records, and a section reserved for notes. This part is important because it contains information on any restrictions to file access, the nature of the records (originals and copies) and reference numbers for any sound recordings. In addition to the preceding elements, the introductions to the fonds and the series also include a biographical sketch (for the fonds only), a section devoted to the scope of the records and an area for comments concerning the description of certain records, among other things.

This finding aid does not contain any files marked "undated". Whenever undated records were encountered, a date was assigned and described using the following recording conventions: [1959?]: probable date; [ca. 1950]: approximate date; [197-]: decade certain; [197-?]: probable decade.

The file code, which enables files to be located quickly and accurately, is structured as follows:

MUS 270/C1,10

- MUS: Repository (Music Division)
- 270: Fonds (Otto Joachim fonds)
- C: Series (Musical Works)
- 1: Sub-series (Orchestra)
- 10: File (Contrastes)

The numerical list is accompanied by an index of proper names and titles. The references in this index are to file codes, not to page numbers. For simplicity, the first two elements of the file codes have been omitted (for example, MUS 279/A1/2,5 becomes A1/2,5). In addition, an index of files has been established to match file codes with box numbers.

Lastly, this finding aid adheres to the standards prescribed in the Rules for Archival Description, prepared by the Bureau of Canadian Archivists.

Biographical Notes

Born in Düsseldorf (Germany) in 1910, Otto Joachim studied music at the Butths-Neitzel Conservatorium Düsseldorf (1917-1928) and at the Rheinische Musikschule in Cologne (1928-1931) with Hermann Zitzmann. In 1934, he left Germany and settled in Asia (Singapore, Shanghai), where he pursued a career as both instrumentalist and teacher. In 1949, the artist obtained an immigrant visa to Brazil and, following a trip to Canada, decided to live in Montreal. He became a member of and solo viola player for the Orchestre symphonique de Montréal and the McGill Chamber Orchestra. Along with his brother Walter (violoncello), Hyman Bress (violin) and Mildred Goodman (violin), he founded the Montreal String Quartet (1955-1963). The ensemble was very successful and its repertoire, consisting of primarily Canadian music, contributed to the dissemination of works of Canadian composers such as François Morel, Clermont Pépin, Violet Archer and Jean Papineau-Couture. In 1956, he pursued a teaching career at the McGill Conservatorium and at the Conservatoire de musique du Québec à Montréal where, until 1977, he taught, among other things, chamber music classes.

A period instrument enthusiast, Joachim founded the Montreal Consort of Ancient Instruments in 1958 and even manufactured replicas of certain period instruments. In the 1950s, he established an electroacoustic music studio and opened himself up to a world of sound still little known to his contemporaries. A composer of many moods, he has produced several works including Asia, Concertante No. 1, Contrastes, Divertimento, Night Music, Kinderspiel and Uraufführung. He was also responsible for the electroacoustic music piece called Katimavik, composed for the Expo '67 Canada Pavilion. He received many awards throughout his career including the Prix Paul-Gilson for his work Illumination II in 1969 and the Prix de musique Calixa-Lavallée in 1990.

MUS 270/C MUSICAL WORKS. – 1938-1989. – 33 cm of textual records.

The records in this series illustrate Otto Joachim's composing and the diversity of his work. An avant-garde composer, he explored serialism over the years, aleatory music, electroacoustic music and also turned towards multimedia composition with works such as Illumination I for chamber ensemble and projectors and Mankind, where the composer used slides, incense and projectors. Among his works are Concertante No. 2, Nonet, 12 Twelve-Tone Pieces for the Young, Mobile für Johann Sebastian Bach, Music for Violin and Viola, Expansion, Requiem and Psalm. For the Compagnons de Saint-Laurent troupe, Joachim wrote the incidental music for Federigo & Nocés de sang.

This series contains sketches, drafts and manuscripts of musical works and arrangements by Otto Joachim, as well as related notes.

The series encompasses the following sub-series: MUS 270/C,1 Orchestra; MUS 270/C,2 Chamber Music; MUS 270/C,3 Solo Instrument; MUS 270/C,4 Vocal Music; MUS 270/C,5 Electroacoustic Music and Multimedia; MUS 270/C,6 Arrangements; and MUS 270/C,7 Other.

In standardizing the description of a work's instrumentation, we have opted for a generally accepted musical codification system. For example, the figures "3. 2. 2. 2 - 4. 3. 3. 1" denote the following instrumentation: 3 flutes, 2 oboes, 2 clarinets, 2 bassoons, 4 French horns, 3 trumpets, 3 trombones and 1 tuba. Blocks of figures separated by a dash correspond to the woodwind and brass sections, and follow the traditional order in which various instruments appear on a score. If a musician plays a second instrument, this is indicated by placing the abbreviation for the auxiliary instrument in parentheses [e.g., 3(picc) = 3 flutes plus 1 piccolo played by one of the three flautists]. And if performing the work requires the presence of an additional musician for an auxiliary instrument, this is indicated using the "+" symbol (e.g., 2+cbn = 2 bassoons plus a third musician for the contrabassoon). Catalogues of musical works do not always name auxiliary instruments but merely indicate their presence by an asterisk (*3) or underlining (4). For the description of archival records, we prefer to ascribe some significance to auxiliary instruments, since they enrich the orchestra with particular sound qualities.
