

Hi there,

Traveling with our son who has an Anaphylaxis allergy to peanuts and tree nuts is a stressful time.

Imagine not knowing if there's a chance you could be 30,000 feet in the air and suffer a reaction, all because the person next to you insists on eating M&M peanuts as their snack.

I would love it if there were sanctions in place such as:

No peanuts or tree nuts allowed on a plane

Epi pen mandatory to be carried on planes

Mandatory announcement stating no consumption of nut products

No serving in flight snacks containing peanuts or tree nuts

No items in the flight magazine that have nuts or tree nuts

This would make all people that have an Anaphylaxis allergy feel much safer.

Thanks for providing us with an opportunity to state our wishes.
