CBC/RADIO-CANADA, COMMUNITY FOUNDATIONS OF CANADA AND VIA RAIL CANADA ISSUE AN OFFICIAL SUMMARY OF HIGHLIGHTS OF THE CANADA 150/2017 STARTS NOW CONFERENCE SERIES TODAY IN OTTAWA

Tweet this release: http://cbc.sh/Ae1641h

June 27, 2013, OTTAWA – The Canada 150/2017 Starts Now conference series concluded today at the Canadian War Museum in Ottawa with the presentation of an official summary document of key findings and ideas from the three-month-long, 12-city event. The conference series, presented in partnership with CBC/Radio-Canada, Community Foundations of Canada, VIA Rail Canada and other local and national organizations, brought together leaders and citizens from every corner of the country, in both official languages, to start a national conversation about Canada's 150th anniversary. The summary report captures the energy and dialogue that was heard across the country, and can be found online at www.2017startsnow.ca.

"Ninety days ago we set out to bring people together, to connect regions and to foster a spirit of celebration around Canada's 150th anniversary," said Hubert T. Lacroix, president and CEO, CBC/Radio-Canada. "We've heard from nearly one hundred passionate speakers, connected with more than 1200 Canadians across the country and inspired thousands more through our webcasts and social media. I'm proud of CBC/Radio-Canada's role in bringing this spirit to life."

"The ideas and stories Canadians shared with us are a great kickstart for Canada's 191 community foundations as we mobilize our network to build smart and caring communities leading up to 2017," said Ian Bird, president and CEO, Community Foundations of Canada. "We look forward to working with partners from coast to coast on making this moment count."

"Beginning in Vancouver in April, this conference series has expressed the diversity of this country through the creativity and originality of the ideas expressed in events from coast to coast," said Yves Desjardins-Siciliano, Chief, Corporate and Legal Affairs Officer, Corporate Secretary, VIA Rail Canada. "As Canada approaches its 150th anniversary, we know this enthusiasm will grow and Canadians will come together to celebrate this important milestone in our nation's history."

Highlights included in the report:

- A challenge to leave behind a cleaner environment for future generations - Vancouver.
- Canadians should each try to acquire a second, third, or fourth language as an access path to living in one of the world's great multicultural countries - Calgary.

- Canadians should come together and write one new song to celebrate our 150th anniversary of Confederation - Toronto.

- We should do more to ensure that young Canadians have a chance to visit and contribute to less-fortunate parts of the world - Winnipeg.

- 2017 is a time to invigorate our cultural identity and deepen our awareness of history - Montreal.

- A proposal for a travelling show celebrating Canadian culture in 2017 called KA'NATA - Halifax.

This investment in public engagement has left a legacy: these conferences have helped to plant seeds across the country by starting a conversation about the meaning of Canada's next major anniversary. Now it is up to each of us to decide what happens next. What experiences can we share? What can we accomplish together for our sesquicentennial?

As part of the CANADA 150/2017 STARTS NOW conferences, the 2017 Starts Now Conversation Kit was launched to engage even more Canadians in the conversation. The kit helps families, friends, colleagues and neighbours host their own local conversations in communities and organizations across the country. It provides many tools and resources to help incubate ideas about how Canadians will celebrate this milestone.

Bonjour,

J'ai la confirmation qu'Hubert est intéressé à participer aux conférences de Moncton et d'Ottawa.
Hélène : as-tu l'horaire de Louis Lalande?
Sarah: Do you have Kirsten's schedule? Where she is planning to go?

Their schedules are filling up, we should make a decision sooner than later and have a plan for their involvement. What will their role be? Should they stay for the whole day?

How about our partners and their CEO's, which conferences will they attend?

Overview of proposed tasks for remaining 2017 conferences

Hi James,
Further to our discussion last week and additional conversations with Hélène, the following is an overview of proposed tasks for her regarding the remaining 2017 Starts Now conferences:

s.21(1)(b)

- General support for East Coast conferences:

- In-person support: Attend in person both the Moncton (May 23) and Halifax (June 4) conferences, to aid with logistical event-flow requirements, support local Radio-Canada staff and meet and assist francophone speakers and attendees. To ensure Hélène is brought in the conversation quickly for both of these events, I will send her today the call-in info for the recurring conference calls that are taking place for each. (Note: Johanne Huard is unable to attend the Halifax conference, meaning that Hélène would be present as the lead Radio-Canada 'ambassador' for this event. Hélène's presence in Moncton is also required and appreciated given the high level of French-speaking people in that community.)

- Northern event:

- Ottawa conference support

Please let me know if you and Hélène are fine with these proposed items, or if there are any aspects you'd like to discuss in greater detail. Thanks and we look forward to continuing to work with Hélène in this described capacity.

David

Hello,

Attached, please find the draft of Hubert's message (including his take on the overarching themes past, present and future) in which he also introduces the summary video.

As per the rundown, Yves will provide his VIA Rail Canada remarks and then introduce Philippe De Gaspé Beaubien's video presentation (which is being recorded today). Jacques and Hélène can let you know what he talks about to help write the intro.

Ian Bird comes afterwards and could talk about the the engagement we're looking for from the audience at a community level and creating partnerships, to celebrate 2017 "en grand".

Hello,

s.19(1)

Attached, please find a table for Ottawa speakers, cohosts, entertainers and elder.

Let me know if you have further comments or ideas.

FYI Hélène, Sarah, and I just had our meeting with the local Ottawa planning team. They all seem to agree with the event proposal, there were no comments and not many questions.

They were interested in promotion, spreading the word and media outreach.

List: I'll get most of them by tomorrow, so the save the date could be sent Wednesday, May 29.

I'll keep you posted if there's anything else.

Hello,
Attached, please find the update list of speakers. I've included the artists (singers, choir) in the top table as well.

Here is where we're at (if they all say yes, some of them have):

Sonnet L'Abbé
Summary presentation (video and booklet)
Opening remarks : 3 CEO's plus War Museum's CEO

English speakers
Jowi Taylor
Bruce Croxon

s.19(1)
s.21(1)(b)

French
Lynda Thalie
Philippe de Gaspé Beaubien
Chantal Petitclerc

In it's own category (bilingual):

Ottawa and Gatineau Mayors
Have a biligual elder

Entertainment (songs TBD)
with Jowi's guitar
Lynda Thalie
Choir

This means

It's a challengue to estimate the time, but I'm at aover 2hours 1/2 of content, plus the coffee break, which brings us to a full morning from 9 am to 12 pm.

Happy to discuss and hear your comments.

Bonjour,
As you can see, the conference has evolved since the May 15 proposal was submitted.

CBC wants as a performer. He would be the best fit to play Jowi's guitar.

Jowi will be considered one the speakers. If we were to have him slated as a special feature, it would mean that we would need a French-language special feature as well.

As for a National representation, at the moment we actually have speakers from Toronto and from Montreal.

We'll make sure the summary video/presentation brings up the national vision with comments from speakers across the country.

We will not be inviting as we had agreed to have only new speakers for the Ottawa conference (with the exception of Jowi).

Is there a chance we could all have a conversation today to regroup on this... and also to discuss the VIDEO and other presentations? I want to make sure we have a common/inspired vision. And I want to properly brief Leslie's production team as soon as possible so that they can get started.

I will ask Olga to schedule a call. Sorry for late notice. whoever can make it...

Hello,

I'm trying to gather all of the bios and photos of all tof the attached list of speakers. Please provide what you have (I did receive some, many are missing).

Also, I had no time to reach out to them today. Will do so on Monday, via email (will you have that one pager ready? Can I share that with them?).

I'm open to your thoughts on the list of speakers and partners for the website. When they're listed, I need bios and photos, and we later on add their presentation (the video),

2017 STARTS NOW CONFERENCE SUMMARY

With the completion of the Ottawa event, the Canada 150 / 2017 Starts Now conference series has officially concluded. But as Canada's 150th anniversary nears, the impact of this investment in public engagement will continue to be felt. These events have helped to plant seeds across the country by starting a conversation about the meaning of Canada's next major anniversary.

This 2017 STARTS NOW CONFERENCE SUMMARY (link to PDF) is intended to capture the enthusiasm and energy that accompanied a recent cross-Canada tour that connected 90 prominent Canadians with more than 1200 local delegates representing community organizations and other important groups.

In addition to speaker highlights, and an overview of the questions discussed by conference delegates, the document also presents some of the common themes and most popular ideas that emerged from the conferences, which may be viewed as building blocks for future initiatives or further conversations that may inspire you or your organization.

RÉSUMÉ DES CONFÉRENCES 2017 DÉBUTE MAINTENANT

La conférence d'Ottawa a mis fin à la série de conférences CANADA 150 / 2017 DÉBUTE MAINTENANT, mais les retombées de ce projet sur la mobilisation publique de la Confédération devraient se faire sentir de plus en plus à l'approche du 150e anniversaire. Les conférences ont incité des groupes de partout au pays à réfléchir sur le sens à donner à cette date historique.

Le RÉSUMÉ DES CONFÉRENCES 2017 DÉBUTE MAINTENANT (link to PDF) a pour but de mettre en mots l'enthousiasme et l'énergie de la récente tournée pancanadienne qui a réuni 90 personnalités en vue d'ici et plus de 1 200 délégués issus des milieux communautaires et d'autres groupes locaux d'importance.

In addition to speaker highlights, and an overview of the questions discussed by conference delegates, the document also renferme les thèmes et idées les plus populaires suggérés lors des conférences. Vous pourrez vous en inspirer pour vos projets ou d'autres discussions exploratoires au sein de votre organisation.

Résumé des conférences

Ce résumé a pour but de mettre en mots l'enthousiasme et l'énergie de la récente tournée pancanadienne qui a réuni 90 personnalités en vue d'ici et plus de 1 200 délégués issus des milieux communautaires et d'autres groupes locaux d'importance.

Ces délégués appartiennent à des réseaux regroupant des millions de Canadiens qui, nous l'espérons, contribueront à imaginer et à planifier le 150e anniversaire de la Confédération canadienne en 2017, et participeront aux festivités.

Les douze conférences ont été conçues par CBC/Radio-Canada et ses partenaires, VIA Rail Canada et les Fondations communautaires canadiennes, pour engager une conversation et encourager chacun d'entre nous à penser à la façon dont nous pourrions unir nos efforts pour célébrer et commémorer cet événement, tout en raffermissant les liens entre les Canadiens et leur patrie.

L'objectif des conférences CANADA 150 / 2017 DÉBUTE MAINTENANT était simple : engager une conversation entre des Canadiens de tous les coins du pays et se servir de ces échanges comme d'un moteur pour passer à l'action. Comme dans les années qui ont précédé le 100e anniversaire de la Confédération en 1967, les Canadiens commencent à se pencher sur le passé, le présent et l'avenir de leur pays. Le prochain jalon majeur de notre histoire est à nos portes. Les conférences 2017 DÉBUTE MAINTENANT s'appuient sur cet héritage du centenaire de la Confédération pour contribuer à mobiliser la société civile canadienne pour qu'elle se projette vers 2017 et au-delà.

Les commémorations nationales sont des moments privilégiés pour faire le bilan et marquer un temps d'arrêt propice à la réflexion. À quatre ans à peine du grand jour, il est temps comme nation de penser de manière créative aux défis et aux occasions que nous réserve l'avenir.

Vous trouverez ci-après un aperçu des personnalités et des idées qui ont été à l'avant-scène des conférences. Nous espérons que vous pourrez vous en inspirer pour aborder vos concitoyens, entamer un dialogue avec eux et dresser des plans au sein de votre communauté ou de votre organisation...

UNE IDÉE AUDACIEUSE

Les commémorations nationales sont naturellement prétexte à l'audace. Cette série de conférences en est un exemple. Ainsi, du 5 avril au 27 juin 2013, 12 conférences se sont tenues dans chaque province du pays ainsi que dans le Nord.

Le projet, réalisé à une vitesse phénoménale, en a été un de grande envergure et aura, dans son sillage, tissé des liens entre des milliers de Canadiens. Il s'inscrit en droite ligne dans la continuité des nombreuses initiatives populaires qui ont créé un engouement pour le 100e anniversaire de la Confédération avant sa célébration en 1967.

Un grand nombre des organisateurs qui ont contribué à façonner les célébrations de 1967 étaient des éducateurs, de profession et de cœur. Ils avaient la conviction que le 100e anniversaire de la Confédération était un moment charnière, puisqu'il donnait à tous les Canadiens l'occasion d'en apprendre plus sur eux-mêmes, sur leurs compatriotes et sur leur pays. Tous nos partenaires et collaborateurs partagent cette vision et la conviction qu'elle est toujours pertinente aujourd'hui : Comment pouvons-nous tirer parti du 150e anniversaire pour en apprendre davantage sur nous-mêmes, nos compatriotes et notre pays?

Dès le départ, plus de deux douzaines d'organismes se sont joints au consortium pour former ce qui allait devenir de loin le plus vaste réseau pour les célébrations de 2017. Ces collaborateurs ont contribué à la formation des équipes locales de planification et ils continueront de se rencontrer et d'échanger des idées. Chaque organisation façonnera ses propres plans pour souligner à sa façon le 150e anniversaire de la Confédération.

PRÉPARATION DE LA SÉRIE DE CONFÉRENCES

Chacune des 12 conférences 2017 DÉBUTE MAINTENANT s'est amorcée tout naturellement par une conversation entre les différents intervenants et les représentants locaux de la ville hôte. À chaque conférence, une demi-douzaine, voire davantage de personnalités locales ont été invitées à prendre la parole pour parler du projet, présenter des idées inspirantes et parfois proposer des défis audacieux. Leur tâche était de brosser un tableau du Canada d'aujourd'hui et de demain, et de partager des idées concrètes pour les célébrations du 150e anniversaire.

Les allocutions, d'à peine dix minutes chacune, ont été versées dans d'immenses archives en ligne qui constituent un legs important du projet.

Chaque fois, les conférenciers ont donné le ton de la conversation. Grâce à la présence des délégués sur place, souvent plus d'une centaine, il a été facile de poursuivre la discussion en tables rondes animées où tous les participants étaient encouragés à réfléchir au déroulement de 2017, tant à l'échelle locale que nationale.

À la barre de ces conférences, des duos d'animateurs bilingues de CBC/Radio-Canada ont fait un travail d'encadrement dans les deux langues, comme l'exigeait la portée nationale du projet, et grâce à l'interprétation simultanée, ont alimenté un dialogue de fond que plusieurs milliers de Canadiens ont pu suivre sur Internet.

Des équipes d'animateurs locaux, souvent recrutés dans les universités et les collèges de la région, ont également joué un rôle non négligeable dans le bon déroulement des discussions. Ce contingent de jeunes bénévoles a non seulement apporté un regard neuf et stimulant, mais a rapidement mis les délégués à l'aise… pour que ces derniers se mettent au travail.

LES CONFÉRENCIERS

Les 120 conférenciers de la série 2017 DÉBUTE MAINTENANT sont à l'image de la diversité et de la créativité canadiennes. Partout où elles ont pris la parole, ces personnalités de tous les horizons ont préparé le terrain pour favoriser un dialogue constructif et inspiré. Vous trouverez ci-après une liste de quelques-unes des têtes d'affiche du programme.

Vancouver : La militante écologiste Tzeporah Berman a parlé de la nécessité de protéger nos ressources naturelles. Pour lui, les enseignants sont des partenaires clés pour mobiliser les jeunes et concrétiser les célébrations de 2017. La commissaire du Nunavut, Edna Ekhivalak Elias, a invité tous les Canadiens à découvrir l'Arctique et a fait part de sa réflexion sur la diversité culturelle croissante dans le Grand Nord canadien.

NOS DÉLÉGUÉS

Chaque conférence présentait une brochette de délégués de toute provenance : la société civile, le secteur des arts et de la culture, des groupes de jeunes, des associations bénévoles, des nouveaux arrivants, une diversité de confessions religieuses, des organismes communautaires, ainsi que le milieu universitaire. Le secteur public y était également bien représenté. Des représentants du gouvernement et de la fonction publique, des leaders autochtones, ainsi que des porte-parole des musées, galeries d'art, fonds d'archives, bibliothèques, écoles et installations sportives de la communauté étaient chaque fois présents. Ils auront immanquablement un rôle important à jouer au sein de leur communauté et de leurs organisations dans la planification des célébrations.

La diversité des organisations et des individus qui ont participé aux conférences a enrichi la discussion et démontré qu'il y avait un élan de plus en plus marqué vers 2017. De nombreux délégués ont d'ailleurs indiqué que leurs organisations avaient commencé à mettre en place leurs propres plans pour souligner le 150e anniversaire et qu'elles fondaient beaucoup d'espoir sur les conférences pour accélérer leurs efforts et les mettre en contact avec des groupes qui partagent leur vision.

Les conférences 2017 DÉBUTE MAINTENANT sont terminées, mais le réseau, fort de ses 1 200 délégués, demeure. Nous allons concentrer nos énergies à cultiver ce réseau pour promouvoir de nouvelles initiatives pour 2017 et encourager les Canadiens à participer au dialogue, à organiser leurs propres activités et à mettre en place des partenariats et des événements locaux pour souligner le 150e anniversaire de la Confédération.

LANCER LA CONVERSATION

Les conférences 2017 DÉBUTE MAINTENANT visaient à mobiliser les Canadiens. L'imagination étant une faculté qui doit être entretenue, ces conversations étaient l'occasion pour les délégués d'exercer leur créativité et d'engager un dialogue qu'ils poursuivront, nous l'espérons, au sein de leur communauté et avec les organismes locaux.

Après les présentations des conférenciers locaux, les délégués ont été invités à prendre part à des tables rondes sur des questions qui leur tenaient à cœur.

Ils disposaient généralement de 45 minutes pour se présenter et discuter du thème assigné à leur table. Dans les 75 minutes restantes, ils pouvaient se déplacer pour prendre part à plusieurs discussions à d'autres tables et partager leur vision de différents sujets avec de nombreux délégués. Chaque séance était divisée en deux volets. Le premier portait sur le Canada dans son ensemble et le second, sur les événements ou initiatives à l'échelle locale pour souligner 2017.

Questions de portée nationale

1. Quels événements majeurs pouvons-nous créer pour souligner cet événement marquant et faire en sorte que 2017 soit mémorable pour tous les Canadiens?

2. Comment devrions-nous célébrer la fête du Canada en 2017?

3. Comment pouvons-nous partager ce moment avec le reste du monde?

4. Comment pouvons-nous nous assurer que 2017 inspire un sentiment de fierté chez les citoyens et qu'ils se mobilisent pour cet événement et se l'approprient?

5. Quels sont les thèmes et les idées qui devraient façonner les célébrations de 2017?

6. Comment CBC/Radio-Canada, VIA Rail Canada et les Fondations communautaires du Canada devraient-elles souligner cet anniversaire et mobiliser tous les Canadiens?

Questions de portée locale

1. Quelles sont les réalisations et les histoires que nous voulons raconter et commémorer en 2017?

2. Comment la ville, la région et la province peuvent-elles contribuer aux célébrations du Canada?

3. Quel rôle les différentes organisations locales peuvent-elles jouer dans la préparation des célébrations pour 2017?

4. Comment pouvons-nous nous assurer que les jeunes d'ici puissent jouer un rôle dans les célébrations de 2017 et les apprécier?

5. Quelles initiatives la ville, la région et la province peuvent-elles prendre pour assurer l'héritage de 2017?

6. De quelle façon la ville, la région et la province peuvent-elles marquer cet anniversaire?

EXEMPLES DE THÈMES ET D'IDÉES DE CÉLÉBRATIONS POUR 2017

METTRE LA JEUNESSE DE L'AVANT

Mon Canada en 150 | Vancouver
On pourrait engager de jeunes leaders pour prêter leur voix et faire part de leur vision de l'avenir du Canada. Partout au pays, des jeunes pourraient unir leurs efforts pour définir 150 priorités pour un Canada meilleur. Les idées récoltées pourraient servir à définir une stratégie générale de mobilisation jeunesse.

Sur les rails | Vancouver
Grâce à des rabais spéciaux offerts par VIA en 2017, les jeunes Canadiens pourraient profiter de l'occasion pour découvrir le Canada en train d'un océan à l'autre. Les médias sociaux pourraient servir de liens entre les voyageurs, pour qu'ils partagent leurs expériences et élargissent leurs réseaux.

C'est l'aviron qui nous mène | Calgary
Lancer un concours pancanadien jumelant des objectifs éducatifs et artistiques qui encouragerait les jeunes à décorer des canots et à en apprendre davantage sur le Canada de 1867. Les canots seraient intégrés à des installations d'art permanentes dans les communautés pour rappeler les origines de notre pays.

150 choses à faire | Calgary
On pourrait donner aux jeunes de toutes les régions une série de défis, comme trouver un immeuble historique, assortis de mots-clics. Ils pourraient documenter leur quête sur Instagram et réaliser un album photos virtuel témoignant de leur engagement civil.

Projet de journal pour 2017 | Saskatoon

Échange générationnel | Montréal
Les jeunes pourraient être jumelés à des gens du troisième âge de leur communauté avec lesquels ils établiraient des liens d'amitié et de partage. Les jeunes pourraient ainsi en apprendre davantage sur l'histoire de leur quartier et la vie riche de leurs aînés, tandis que les plus vieux profiteraient du regard neuf de la génération montante.

Le coin des étudiants | St. John's
Les élèves du secondaire pourraient produire des capsules vidéo pour expliquer ce que signifie être canadien. Ces vidéos seraient mises en ligne, et les gens pourraient commenter et voter pour leurs préférées. Les enseignants pourraient les utiliser comme outils d'enseignement pour découvrir les différentes communautés du pays.

PLACE AUX ARTS

Les arts et la culture sont un moyen d'expression privilégié de notre identité. Il s'agit d'un langage universel qui permet d'exprimer des idées souvent négligées dans la vie de tous les jours. De nombreux délégués voient en 2017 l'occasion d'investir dans des artistes canadiens, de présenter des œuvres nouvelles et reconnues, partout au pays et sur la scène internationale. Les artistes canadiens devraient être des ambassadeurs nationaux et exécuter des commandes pour célébrer cet anniversaire.

Recueil de chansons du Canada | Vancouver

Murales thématiques | Vancouver
Les grandes villes du pays pourraient commander de vastes murales pour orner des espaces urbains. L'adoption d'un thème commun, tel que l'histoire locale, servirait de fil conducteur entre les oeuvres. Les entreprises locales pourraient financer les œuvres et contribuer ainsi aux célébrations.

Le train des arts de 2017 | Vancouver
Le train des arts de 2017 réunirait des artistes de partout au pays. À chaque arrêt et à chaque gare, une nouvelle œuvre s'ajouterait à la collection. Les Canadiens seraient encouragés à visiter cette collection en devenir.

Campagne d'art public | Saskatoon
S'inspirant du succès de projets artistiques communautaires réalisés dans les années 1990, les villes pourraient adopter une mascotte locale, telle que la marmotte de Saskatoon. Des artistes pourraient concevoir des sculptures à l'effigie de ces mascottes, qui seraient exposées dans chacune des villes participantes.

Canada-stock | St. John's

En images | Toronto

RAPPROCHER DES GENS ET DES LIEUX

La technologie permet aux Canadiens de construire entre eux des réseaux comme jamais auparavant. Les possibilités des réseaux sociaux pour souligner 2017 n'ont pratiquement aucune limite. Malgré la fascination qu'exerce le virtuel, il demeure toutefois important que les Canadiens puissent parcourir le pays pour faire des rencontres en personne.

Portes ouvertes sur le Canada | Moncton
On choisirait une journée dans l'ensemble du pays pour que les lieux porteurs de sens, tels que des sites historiques, des bâtiments emblématiques, des espaces architecturaux novateurs, des lieux de culte, des parcs nationaux et des musées, ouvrent leurs portes gratuitement au public, comme cela se fait à l'échelle locale un peu partout au pays.

Journée du serment d'allégeance | Winnipeg

Nord x 150 | Saskatoon, St. John's et Vancouver
Le 1er janvier 2017, les Canadiens seraient invités à prendre la résolution de faire un geste, peu importe lequel, 150 fois avant la fête du Canada, pour eux-mêmes, leur communauté et leur pays. Il pourrait s'agir de faire du travail bénévole, d'apprendre une autre langue, de créer un projet d'art, de se présenter à leurs voisins ou de faire des dons à des œuvres de charité. Les résolutions des participants pourraient être présentées en ligne jusqu'au 1er juillet 2017 et faire partie des célébrations entourant la fête du Canada.

La chaîne transcanadienne | Calgary et Charlottetown
Les gens pourraient emprunter le sentier transcanadien pour créer une immense chaîne humaine reliant le pays d'un océan à l'autre. Grâce à une coordination en ligne, les participants utiliseraient des lampes de poche, des projecteurs, des bougies, des bâtons lumineux et des feux d'artifice pour illuminer la chaîne et la rendre visible de l'espace. Des photos prises par satellite ou par des astronautes canadiens pourraient immortaliser cette ceinture de lumière et la présenter au reste du monde comme un symbole du sentiment d'appartenance des Canadiens.

Trousse de la fête du Canada |St. John's

PROMOTION DU CANADA SUR LA SCÈNE INTERNATIONALE

L'innovation canadienne à la rescousse | Charlottetown

Témoignages d'amour de l'étranger | Toronto
Des Canadiens vivant à l'étranger pourraient prendre cinq minutes pour immortaliser sur vidéo leur vécu en tant qu'expatriés canadiens. Ces témoignages pourraient être colligés en ligne et mis en forme dans des montages qui seraient diffusés dans les semaines et les mois précédant le 1er juillet 2017. On pourrait encourager les Canadiens à réfléchir sur ce qui les lie et sur le sens d'être Canadien à l'ère de la mondialisation.

2017 à l'étranger | Vancouver et Calgary

En lice pour un record Guinness | Halifax et Toronto

Les communautés de partout au pays pourraient prendre part à des activités pour établir des records. Les activités en question pourraient s'articuler autour d'un thème canadien : le plus grand nombre de gens à entonner un hymne national, à boire du sirop d'érable ou à prononcer une phrase en inuktitut. Les communautés les plus ambitieuses pourraient poursuivre une tradition de longue date au Canada qui consiste à créer le « plus grand [compléter la phrase] ». Fort de tous ces records, le Canada pourrait mettre au défi d'autres pays pour qu'ils battent « le plus de records établis par un même pays au cours d'une année ».

RENOUVELER NOS COMMUNAUTÉS

Le comité d'accueil du 150e | Halifax
Les organismes communautaires pourraient être invités à reprendre une ancienne tradition pour accueillir les nouveaux arrivants au pays et dans leurs quartiers. Cette initiative pourrait prendre la forme d'un panier de produits locaux ou d'un livret de coupons échangeables chez des marchands de la région. Ce geste aiderait les nouveaux venus à mieux s'intégrer dans leur chez-soi et leur communauté.

Renouveler le patrimoine du centenaire | St. John's, Halifax et Calgary

Vert 2017 Green | Charlottetown
Chaque province pourrait créer un nouvel espace vert, qu'il s'agisse d'un parc ou d'un boisé, autour d'un thème commun qui les unirait. On pourrait encourager les citoyens à choisir les endroits les plus appropriés ainsi que leur vocation.

Festival de l'alimentation | Saskatoon
Des organismes, restaurants et leaders communautaires locaux pourraient unir leurs efforts pour mettre sur pied un événement annuel consacré à l'art culinaire. Ces initiatives seraient des occasions de partage sur plusieurs plans et serviraient de forums pour un nouvel engagement communautaire.

Le Canada en marche! Le Canada en forme! | Montréal
La santé pourrait être un thème central pour les célébrations de 2017. Les Canadiens et les jeunes en particulier pourraient être encouragés à accroître leur activité physique de manière créative et divertissante. On pourrait proposer une discipline sportive et un événement commun, tel qu'un tournoi de crosse, pour faire le pont entre toutes les initiatives mises de l'avant.

POUR LE PLAISIR DU JEU

Les conférences 2017 DÉBUTE MAINTENANT nous ont rappelé à quel point les Canadiens étaient créatifs et savaient trouver des idées audacieuses, divertissantes et parfois même totalement loufoques.

Le Bannada! | Calgary
On pourrait inviter les communautés à réinventer une recette traditionnelle comme la bannique en faisant appel à leur créativité. On pourrait ensuite créer un livre de recettes et d'adaptations culinaires en ligne.

Les mitaines rouges emblématiques | Montréal
Les mitaines rouges conçues pour Équipe Canada lors des Jeux olympiques de Vancouver pourraient être remises au goût du jour comme symbole national, et le produit de la vente de ces articles pourrait servir à financer des initiatives pour 2017.

Mobilisation éclair pancanadienne | Toronto
On pourrait organiser une mobilisation éclair savamment chorégraphiée dans différents lieux au pays. Les manifestations seraient filmées et montées en une seule vidéo, qui pourrait être accompagnée d'une trame sonore originale.

Nous vous attendions! | Vancouver
Des groupes communautaires pourraient aller accueillir les voyageurs dans des aéroports un jour donné. Les voyageurs seraient chaleureusement accueillis à leur sortie d'avion.

ARTISTE EN MOUVEMENT 2017

Après la première conférence qui a eu lieu à Vancouver, Sonnet L'Abbé, une des conférencières, a accepté de devenir l'Artiste en mouvement 2017. La poète de renom a pris le train de VIA vers l'est pour assister à chacune des conférences, avec le mandat d'écrire un poème original qui serait dévoilé à la dernière conférence, à Ottawa. Au cours des trois derniers mois, elle a parcouru le pays en communiquant sur Twitter et sur son blogue, tout en écrivant des poèmes et en faisant des entrevues avec les Canadiens qu'elle rencontre sur son parcours. Le programme Artiste en mouvement 2017 est un exemple des occasions que les organismes canadiens peuvent offrir aux artistes en émergence dans la montée vers le 150e anniversaire de la Confédération. Pour en savoir plus sur l'aventure et le projet, consulter le blogue www.canada150blog.com.

TROUSSE DE DISCUSSION

La trousse de discussion 2017 DÉBUTE MAINTENANT est un outil utile pour aider les communautés et les organisations à amorcer un dialogue sur les célébrations de 2017. La trousse donne une marche à suivre pour organiser des événements, ainsi qu'une liste de ressources pratiques, dont un répertoire complet de vidéos en ligne sur le sujet. Elle renferme également des conseils et des outils pour susciter un engouement pour 2017. Elle est offerte gratuitement en format PDF sur le site 2017débutemaintenant.ca.

FAIRE DE 2017 UNE ANNÉE MÉMORABLE

La conférence d'Ottawa a mis fin à la série de conférences CANADA 150 / 2017 DÉBUTE MAINTENANT, mais les retombées de ce projet sur la mobilisation publique de la Confédération devraient se faire sentir de plus en plus à l'approche du 150e anniversaire. Les conférences ont incité des groupes de partout au pays à réfléchir sur le sens à donner à cette date historique.

Il appartient désormais à chacun d'entre nous de poursuivre la démarche. Quels cadeaux nous offrirons-nous? Quelles expériences partagerons-nous? Que pouvons-nous accomplir ensemble non seulement pour souligner le 150e anniversaire, mais pour les 50 années qui mèneront au bicentenaire de 2067?

Ces questions sont non seulement un point de départ pour une discussion sur les célébrations nationales, mais elles sont aussi essentielles à une société démocratique saine et dynamique.

La série de conférences 2017 DÉBUTE MAINTENANT a démontré que le Canada est prêt et que 2017 commence effectivement maintenant! Ensemble, en rassemblant les Canadiens et en les invitant à se joindre à la conversation, nous pouvons faire de 2017 une année mémorable pour les générations à venir.

Helen – would you mind sharing your list of people that your team in considering as speakers for Montreal? We'd like to have a look and see if there is anyone we can use in other cities – but also, it would be nice to update partners with information on the outreach that is being done for MTL – just to ensure we are hitting all of the appropriate genres.

- Bios – just a reminder to please send us any bio's you have for secured speakers

2017 STARTS NOW / A 150 CANADA CONFERENCE SERIES

Conference Summary

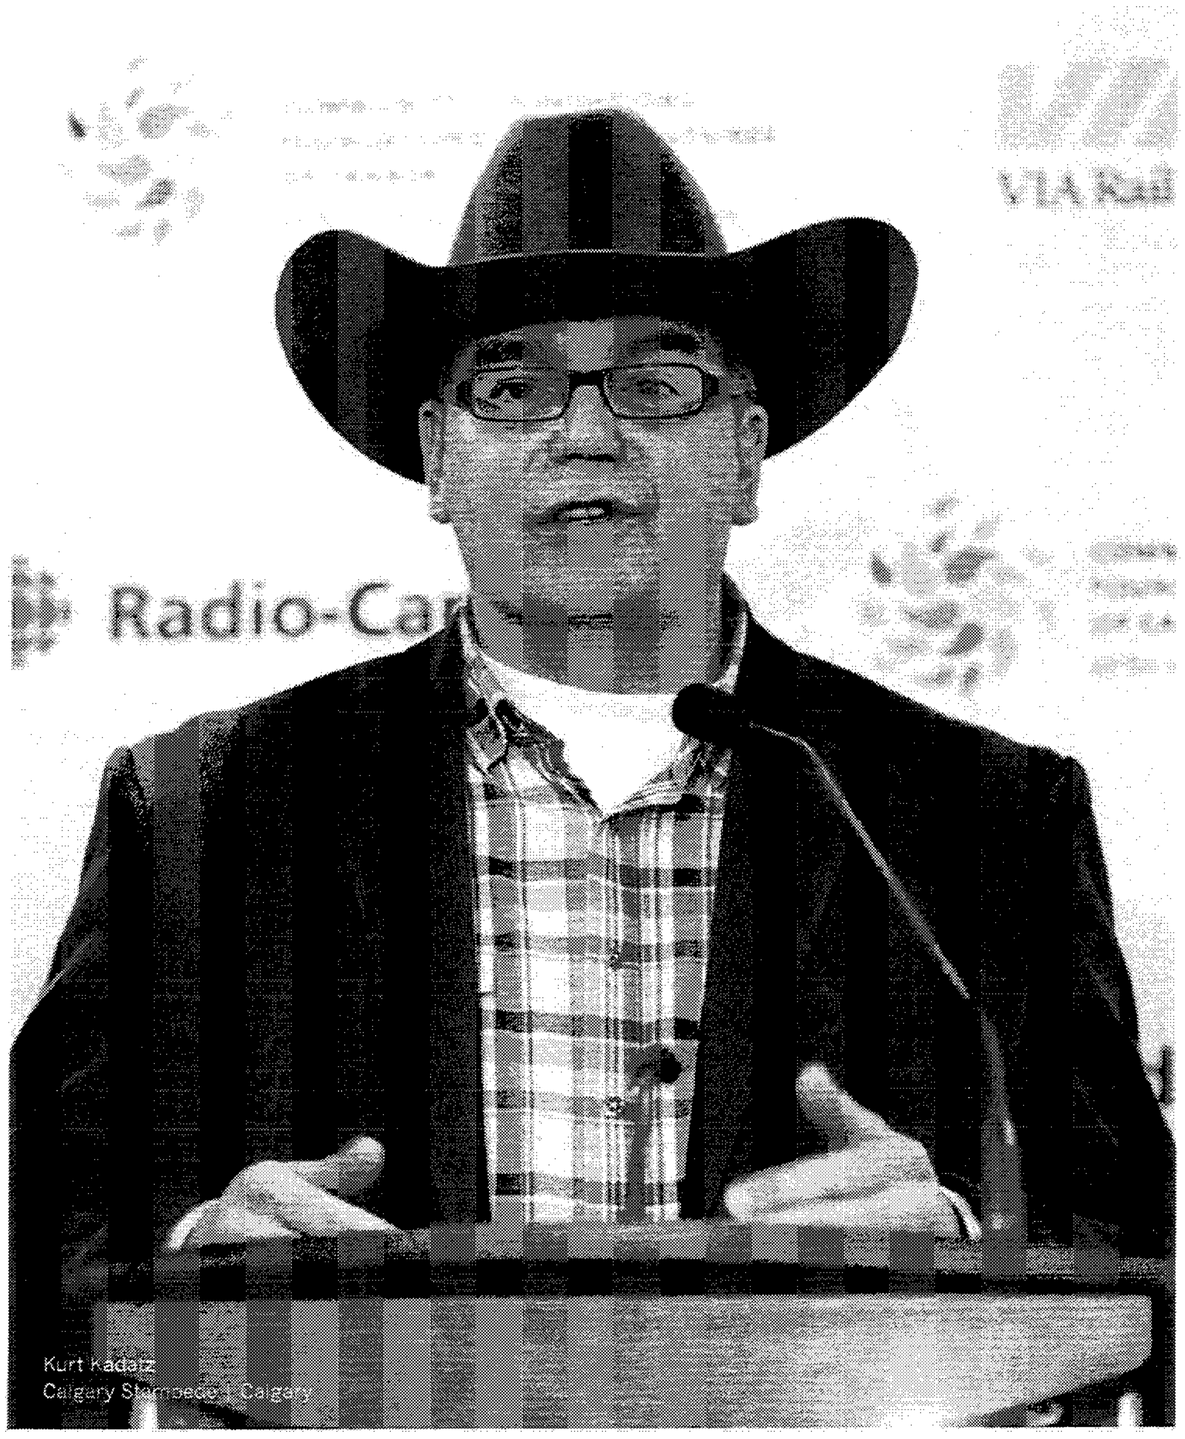
2017 STARTS DÉBUTE NOW! MAINTENANT!



Kurt Kadatz
Calgary Stampede | Calgary

2017 Starts Now!

This summary is intended to capture the enthusiasm and energy that accompanied a recent cross-Canada tour that connected 90 prominent Canadians with more than 1200 local delegates representing community organizations and other important groups.

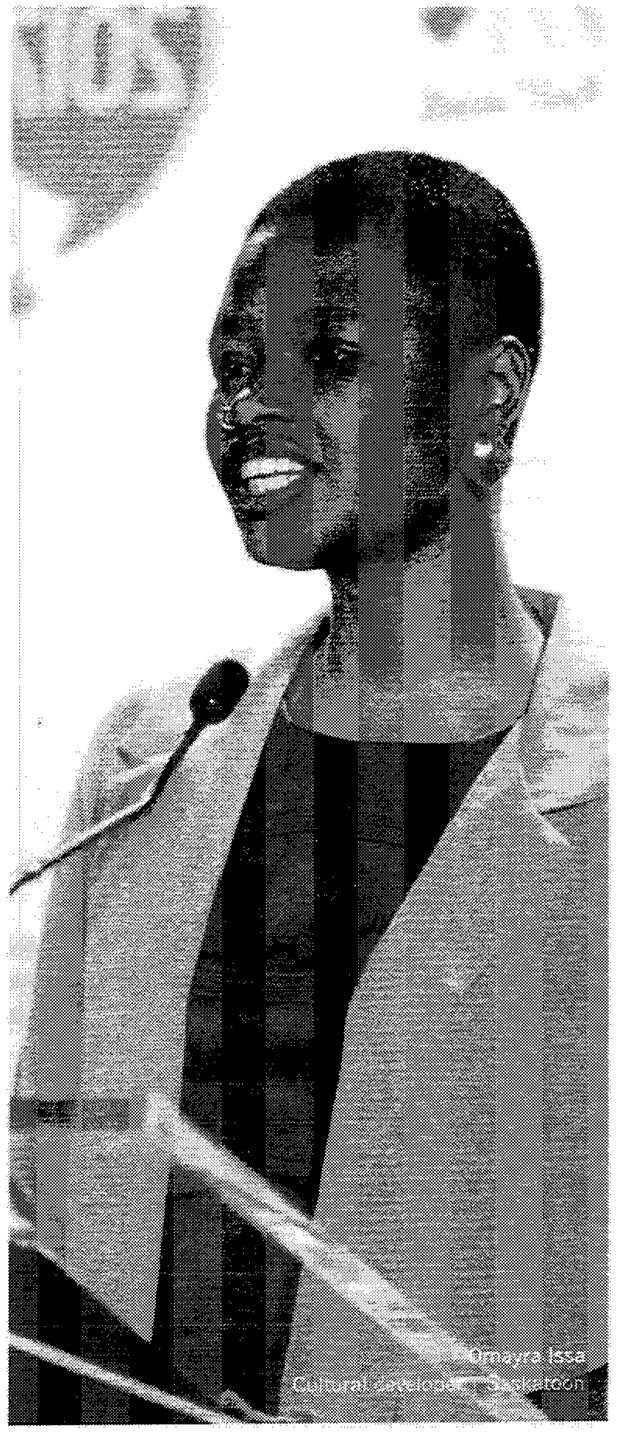
Together these delegates belong to networks connecting millions of Canadians — all of whom we hope will have a hand in helping to imagine, plan and participate as Canada marks the 150th anniversary of Confederation in 2017.

These twelve conferences by CBC/Radio-Canada and its partners at VIA Rail Canada and Community Foundations of Canada were designed to start this conversation, challenging each of us to think about how we can work together to celebrate, commemorate and connect Canada and Canadians.

The goal for the Canada 150 / 2017 Starts Now conference series was simple: to start a conversation with Canadians in all corners of the country, and to use these conversations as a catalyst for action. As in the years leading up to Canada's 1967 Centennial, Canadians are again beginning to think about the past, present and future of their country. Our next national milestone is just ahead. The 2017 Starts Now conference series builds on this Centennial legacy by helping to mobilize civil society in Canada to look ahead to 2017 and beyond.

National anniversaries are important occasions to take stock, to pause and to reflect. With only four years to go, now is the time for Canadians to begin thinking creatively about the challenges and opportunities ahead of our country.

In the pages that follow you will read an account of the people and ideas that brought this series to life. We hope it will help to inspire you to reach out to others to start a conversation and make plans with members or your community or organization...



Omayra Issa
Cultural Pavilion | Saskatoon

AN AUDACIOUS IDEA

There is something about national anniversaries that naturally inspire audacious ideas. This conference series is one of them. Between April 5 and June 27, 2013, 12 conferences took place across the country in every province and the North.

For everyone involved it was a remarkable endeavour — a project that proceeded quickly, connecting with thousands of Canadians along the way. It was inspired by the many grassroots events which built such interest in Canada's Centennial in the run-up to 1967.

Many of the earliest organizers that helped to shape Canada's 1967 Centennial celebrations were educators, by profession and at heart. They believed that the Centennial was special because it gave every Canadian the occasion to learn more about themselves, their neighbours and the country. Each of our partners and collaborators believe that this idea is still relevant today: How can we use 2017 to learn more about ourselves, our neighbours and our country?

This series was made possible by a special consortium of partners: CBC/Radio-Canada and its national partners VIA Rail and Community Foundations of Canada.

More than two dozen additional organizations quickly signed on as collaborators making this by far Canada's largest 2017 network. These collaborators helped to form our local planning teams and will continue to meet and exchange ideas as each organization develops its own plans for contributing to Canada's 150th.

PREPARING FOR THE SERIES

It's fitting that each of the twelve 2017 Starts Now conferences began with a conversation. Everyone connected with the series as well as local representatives from the host city piled in. At each event, a half dozen or more local speakers were recruited to provide context, inspiring ideas and occasionally provocative challenges. Together, their job was to paint a picture of the country and its future, and to share some specific ideas for marking Canada's 150th anniversary.

These talks, each just ten minutes in length, can now be viewed as part of an impressive online archive which is an important legacy of this project.

At each event, speakers helped to colour the conversation that would follow. With often more than 100 delegates on-hand, it was easy to turn from these short presentations to lively, roving, roundtable dialogues that encouraged all participants to think about 2017 in both local and national terms.

At the helm, providing guidance through each day's event were two co-hosts from CBC/Radio-Canada. This bilingual partnership underscored the national stature of the series, and with the help of simultaneous interpreters, created a compelling dialogue in both official languages that was streamed across the internet reaching several thousand viewers.

Also helping to guide the discussion was a helpful cast of local facilitators — often local university and college students who volunteered to be a part of the program. This team contributed a valuable, youthful perspective, and quickly put the delegates at ease — and to work.

THE SPEAKERS

As a group, the 2017 Starts Now speakers reflect the diversity and creativity that define Canada. In each city, this unprecedented collection of speakers set the stage for a substantive and inspired dialogue. Below we've listed only a few highlights from among our 120 speakers:

Vancouver: Environmentalist Tzeporah Berman described the need to protect our natural resources. She challenged Canadians to leave behind a greener country in better shape for future generations. Arctic Air star Adam Beach shared his experience as an Aboriginal Canadian who ultimately found both fame and a career as an actor, and discussed his recent efforts to help young aborginals to fulfill their dreams. OUR DELEGATES

Gareth Lewis
Nexen | Calgary

In each host city, invitations to recruit delegates to attend the event were sent through the networks of local collaborators. The response was heartening. Canadians are waking up to 2017 and are keen to become a part of the celebration.

Each conference had a very deliberate mix of delegates from civil society, representing arts and culture, youth groups, volunteer associations, newcomers, faith, and service clubs, as well as academe. Public sector organizations were also well-represented. Members of government, public servants, First Nations leaders, as well as staff from local museums, galleries, archives, libraries, schools and sports facilities each attended and will inevitably have a major role in helping to ready their communities and organizations to mark the anniversary.

Deliberate efforts were also made to reach out to Canadian businesses, which as a sector played an essential role in energizing Canada's Centennial celebrations. With assistance from the Canadian Chamber of Commerce, local businesses were invited to attend and share their ideas for 2017.

This mix of organizations and individuals contributed to the richness of each event and helped to demonstrate that there is growing movement towards 2017. Many delegates reported that their organizations were in the early stages of developing their own plans for the 150th anniversary and looked forward to this event to help accelerate their efforts, and connect them with other like-minded groups.

Now with the 2017 Starts Now conference series complete, a national network, 1200 delegates strong, is in place. The growth and cultivation of this network will be a major focus for future efforts to promote new 2017 initiatives, and encourage Canadians to connect with one another, host their own events and create local partnerships and events in anticipation of the 150th anniversary.

STARTING A CONVERSATION

The purpose of the 2017 Starts Now conferences was to get Canadians talking. Imagination is like a muscle that needs flexing, and these dialogues provided a chance for delegates to stretch their imagination and begin a conversation that we hope will continue in their communities and with their local organizations.

Following the presentations from local speakers, the delegates were invited to join any number of roundtables and discuss a question that interested them.

Typically delegates had 45 minutes to introduce themselves to one another and discuss the question which was assigned to their table. Over the course of the two hour session, they typically moved to several tables meeting many others, and sharing their views on several topics. Each session was divided in two sections. The first focussed on Canada as a whole. The second focussed on local events or initiatives to mark 2017.

Thinking Nationally Discussion Questions

1. What major events can we create to mark this milestone and make 2017 memorable for all Canadians?
2. How should we celebrate Canada Day 2017?
3. How can we take this celebration to the world?
4. How can we ensure that 2017 fosters a sense of pride, citizen stewardship and public engagement?
5. What are the themes and ideas that should shape 2017 celebrations?
6. How should CBC/Radio-Canada, VIA Rail Canada and Community Foundations of Canada mark this anniversary and involve all Canadians?

Thinking Locally Discussion Questions

1. What are the local accomplishments and histories we want to tell and commemorate in 2017?
2. What can the city, region and province give to Canada's celebrations?
3. What role can different local organizations play in preparing to celebrate 2017?
4. How do we ensure that local youth have an opportunity to lead, contribute to and enjoy 2017 celebrations?
5. What initiatives could the city, region and province undertake to create a lasting 2017 legacy?
6. How should the city, region and province mark this anniversary?

A SAMPLING OF THEMES AND IDEAS FOR 2017

Here are some of the common themes and most popular ideas that emerged from the conferences. Think of them as building blocks for future initiatives or further conversations that may inspire you or your organization.

EMPOWERING YOUTH

Conference delegates across the country were quick to underscore the importance of engaging young people in 2017 preparations. But more than volunteering to help existing organizations, young Canadians — especially young adults — should take the reins, develop their own organizations and goals, and make 2017 a generational moment.

My Canada in 150 | Vancouver
Youth leaders could be engaged to lend their voice and vision for Canada's future. Across the country, young people could work together to develop 150 priorities to help build a better Canada. These ideas could form the basis for a broader strategy of youth engagement.

Take to the rails | Vancouver
With special 2017 VIA discounts, young Canadians could take advantage of the opportunity to experience Canada and travel across the country. Social media could help them connect online, share their experiences and build their networks.

It started with a canoe | Calgary
A national contest would combine education and art by encouraging kids to paint canoes and learn about life in 1867 Canada. These canoes would serve as lasting art installations in communities and remind all Canadians of the country's origins.

Yves Desjardins-Siciliano
VIA Rail Canada | Winnipeg

150 things to do | Calgary

The 2017 Log Book project | Saskatoon
Elementary students across the country would make log books throughout 2017. They would be challenged to conduct random acts of kindness and document their good deeds using creative art, photos and stories.

Generational exchange | Montreal
Young people could partner with senior citizens in their communities. They would take time to foster a friendship and share information. Young people would learn about local history and from lives well lived, while seniors could enjoy perspectives of an upcoming generation.

Students' corner | St. John's
Highschool students could develop and produce video vignettes to express what it means to be Canadian. These videos would be posted online, where people could vote and comment on their favourites. Teachers could use the vignettes as educational tools to learn about communities across the country.

SHOWCASING THE ARTS

The role of arts and culture in giving voice to our national life is cherished by Canadians. The arts provide a vocabulary to cut across barriers and convey important ideas that often go unexpressed in daily life. Many delegates see 2017 as an opportunity to invest in Canadian artists, showcasing new and celebrated work across the country, and on international stages. Canadian artists should be ambassadors for the country, and the beneficiaries of new 2017 commissions to commemorate this anniversary.

The Great Canadian Songbook | Vancouver
A national competition could spark the creation of a collection of songs to mark and celebrate Canada's 150th anniversary. Emerging artists could collaborate with established musicians to develop original songs. This would promote new talent, twinned with nationally recognized names.

Murals with a message | Vancouver
Large murals could be commissioned in urban spaces in major cities across the country. A common theme, such as local history, could help to connect the series. These murals could be funded by local Business Improvement Areas as their contribution to 2017 celebrations.

2017 Art Train | Vancouver
This 2017 Art Train would bring together artists from across the country. At each stop and city, the train could add another piece of art to its collection. Canadians would be encouraged to board the train and view this fast growing and fast moving exhibit.

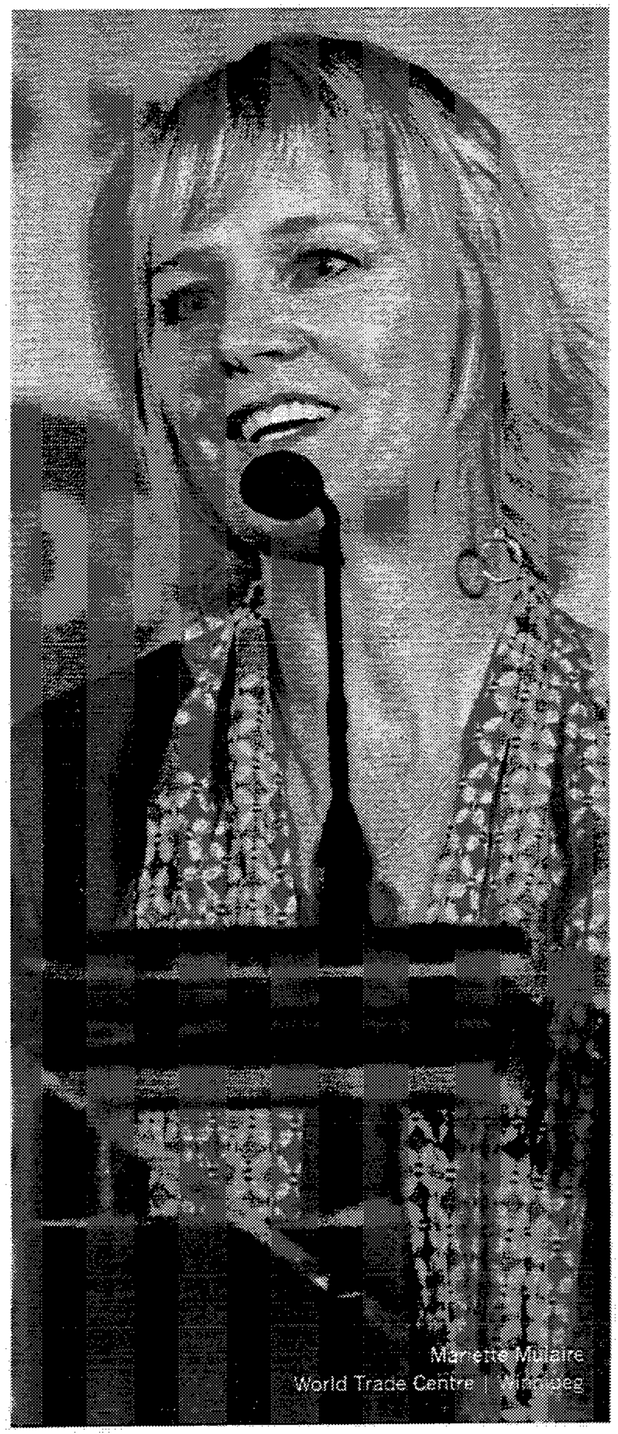
Public art campaign | Saskatoon
Building on the success of similar community art projects in the 1990s, cities could identify a local animal mascot, such as gophers in Saskatoon. Artists would design and decorate these sculptures in unique ways. These mascots would be displayed throughout each participating city.

Canada-stock | St. John's
A tour of popular Canadian musicians could travel across the country in the summer of 2017. Concerts would be free and include a combination of up-and-coming and legendary Canadian artists.

Moving pictures | Toronto
Canadians could be challenged to develop a video, using a resource-packed online toolkit. On July 1, 2017, a compilation of these videos could be displayed in outdoor public spaces across the country.

CONNECTING PEOPLE AND PLACES

Technology allows Canadians to connect and build networks like never before. The opportunities to leverage social media tools in 2017 are nearly endless. But despite this fascination with all things virtual, it's equally important that Canadians still have the chance to travel the country and meet one another, face to face.



Marlette Mullaire
World Trade Centre | Winnipeg

Open Doors Canada | Moncton
On the same day across the country, significant buildings such as historical sites, iconic landmarks, innovative architectural spaces, places of worship, national parks, museums and galleries, could agree to be open to the public for free, building on numerous local Doors Open events that already take place across the country.

National Oath Day | Winnipeg
In 2017, one hour could be designated for all Canadians to take a citizenship oath simultaneously. Canadians could be encouraged to write their own oath, schools could host oath-writing competitions, and newspapers could share inspiring oaths crafted by famous Canadians. This would enable all Canadians to acknowledge the history of newcomers, the experience of first peoples, and reaffirm their shared commitment to Canada. This would become an annual tradition and a legacy of the year.

North x 150 | Saskatoon, St. John's & Vancouver
Starting on January 1, 2017, Canadians could be encouraged to commit to doing something (anything!) 150 times before Canada Day to improve themselves, their community, and their country. This could include volunteer work, speaking in another language, creating art projects, introducing oneself to neighbours, or donating to charity. Canadians would be asked to submit their accomplishments, and a list of these feats would be promoted online in the run-up to July 1, 2017 and incorporated into Canada Day celebrations.

TransCanada Chain | Calgary and Charlottetown
People could use the TransCanada Trail to create a human chain that crosses the country. Organized online, flashlights, spotlights, candles, glow-sticks, and fireworks would be used to illuminate this chain from space. Satellite photos or Canadian astronauts could capture and report the endeavor and showcase Canada's sense of community to the world.

Canada Day Toolkit |St. John's
Celebration toolkits could be developed to help community groups, large and small, create memorable Canada Day celebrations. The toolkit would encourage groups to interpret and integrate a common theme into their celebrations, threading events together in a celebration of both diversity and shared values. This would ensure July 1, 2017 is a celebration befitting of our country.

PROMOTING CANADA ON A GLOBAL STAGE

Canadians are looking forward to 2017 celebrations that can showcase Canada internationally. This would help to promote our achievements and our diverse culture. It would also engage the nearly 4 million Canadians who live abroad.

The world needs more Canada | Charlottetown
An online campaign could be launched by a consortium of business and research partners to promote Canadian innovation to international markets. This could include highlighting our history of breakthroughs in research and technology, promoting internationally recognized field-leaders, and showcasing Canada's emerging innovation hubs.

True ex-patriot love | Toronto
Canadians living abroad could be encouraged to take five minutes to tell a story on video about what it means to be a Canadian living outside our borders. These could be posted together online and curated into video montages for distribution in the run-up to Canada Day 2017. Messages would encourage Canadians to think about what we share and what it means to be Canadian in a globally-connected era.

2017 abroad | Vancouver and Calgary
Canadians living in other countries could be equipped with tool kits to plan for 2017 celebrations wherever they find themselves. The toolkit could include an international networking site to help people find other Canadians and Canada-lovers nearby. This would connect Canadians to their home base and also give people in other countries the opportunity to learn more about Canada.

Take it to Guinness | Halifax and Toronto
Communities across Canada could be encouraged to take part in a record-breaking activity. Activities could be Canada-themed — the most people singing a national anthem, drinking maple syrup, or saying a phrase in Inuktituk. Ambitious communities could endeavor to create the 'world's largest [fill in the blank]' — already a time-honoured Canadian tradition. Together, Canada could then create a new record and encourage other countries to try and beat it: 'The Most Records Set by a Single Country in a Single Year'.

RENEWING OUR COMMUNITIES

The need to invest in our cultural, social and physical infrastructure was a focal point for many conversations. This is seen as a shared priority, where collective efforts can make a big impact. Participants see many opportunities to harness the energy of 2017 celebrations to create a lasting legacy.

The 150 Welcome Wagon | Halifax
Community organizations could be encouraged to adopt a fresh take on an old tradition by increasing efforts to welcome newcomers and new neighbours. This could be a basket of locally sourced goods or a coupon book for local merchants. These would better support people as they integrate into a new home and community.

Renewing the Centennial legacy | St. John's, Halifax & Calgary
Many Centennial buildings are in urgent need of renewal and repair. In many instances, these buildings could be re-imagined for new community uses and retrofitted. Local citizen groups should play a lead role in developing plans and raising funds to breathe new life into these aging buildings.

Vert 2017 Green | Charlottetown
Each province could designate a new green area, park or forest. These spaces could be named with a common theme to link them across the country. Citizens could be engaged to decide on the most appropriate location and use for the new green spaces.

Food festival | Saskatoon
Local organizations, restaurants and community leaders could work together to launch an annual community culinary event. These would bring people together to share stories, food and time, creating a new forum for community engagement.

Le Canada en marche! Le Canada en forme! | Montreal
Health could be a focal point for 2017 celebrations. Canadians – particularly young people – would be encouraged to increase their activity levels in creative and fun ways. A common sport and event, such as a lacrosse tournament, would tie these efforts together.

A SENSE OF PLAY

The 2017 Starts Now conferences reminded everyone that Canadians are a creative bunch with bold, edgy, playful and – at times – outright zany ideas.

Call it Bannada! | Calgary
Communities could be engaged to offer their creative approach to a traditional recipe like bannock. A collection of recipes and adaptations could be shared online.

Red mitten mascots | Montreal
The red Team Canada / Vancouver Olympics mittens could be revived and adapted as a national symbol, with proceeds from future sales helping to fund 2017 initiatives.

National flash mob | Toronto
A well-choreographed flash mob would be performed in segments across the country. It would be documented on film and edited together to form a single video. An original song would be developed for this project.

We've been waiting for you | Vancouver

THE 2017 ARTIST-IN-MOTION

Following the first conference in Vancouver, Sonnet L'Abbé, one of the speakers was approached by the conference partners and asked to become the series' 2017 Artist-in-Motion. A noted poet, L'Abbé agreed and boarded a VIA train eastward, ultimately travelling to each of the 2017 Starts Now conferences with a commission to draft an original poem to present during the final event in Ottawa. Over the past three months, she has travelled extensively throughout the country tweeting, blogging and writing poetry while interviewing the Canadians she has met along the way. The 2017 Artist-in-Motion program models the kinds of opportunities national organizations can provide to emerging artists in the run-up to Canada's 150th anniversary. More information about her travels and the project can be found at www.canada150blog.com.

CONVERSATION KIT

The 2017 Starts Now Conversation Kit is a helpful resource for any community or organization looking to begin a dialogue about Canada's 2017 celebrations. The kit provides a series of steps for organizing part and full-day events, as well as directions to useful resources including the full roster of 2017 Starts Now online talks. The kit is full of tips and tools to help build momentum for Canada's 150th anniversary. The kit is freely available in a PDF format. Visit: 2017StartsNow.ca.

MAKING 2017 A YEAR TO REMEMBER

With the completion of the Ottawa event, the Canada 150 / 2017 Starts Now conference series has officially concluded. But as Canada's 150th anniversary nears, the impact of this investment in public engagement will continue to be felt. These events have helped to plant seeds across the country by starting a conversation about the meaning of Canada's next major anniversary.

Now it is up to each of us to decide what happens next. What gifts will we give to one another? What experiences can we share? What can we accomplish together not only for our Sesquicentennial, but over the course of the next fifty-four years, leading to our Bicentennial in 2067?

These questions are not only the starting point for any conversation about a national celebration, they are fundamental to the health and vitality of a democractic society.

The Canada 150 / 2017 Starts Now series has demonstrated that Canada is ready and 2017 really does start now. Together, by connecting Canadians and inviting them to join the converation we can make 2017 a year to remember for generations to come.

Subject: Script - revised

Hi
Attached, please find the revised script. As you go through the new rundown, I'm sure you'll have more changes to make to the text.

Also, please identify the sections using the "item numbers", as listed in the Rundown - version 1 document distributed yesterday. As an example, there will be some empty spots, such as the GG introduction and exits, which are items number 3 and 9.

Give me a call if you wish to discuss further.

OTTAWA ACCUEILLE LA CONFÉRENCE FINALE DE LA SÉRIE CANADA 150/2017 DÉBUTE MAINTENANT LE 27 JUIN

Le 20 juin 2013, OTTAWA – Après 11 conférences organisées aux quatre coins du pays et destinées à lancer une discussion nationale au sujet du 150e anniversaire du Canada, la série de conférences CANADA 150/2017 DÉBUTE MAINTENANT prendra fin avec un événement récapitulatif au théâtre Barney-Danson du Musée canadien de la guerre, à Ottawa, le jeudi 27 juin, de 9 h 30 à 12 h (HE).

Des visionnaires et des leaders feront part de leurs grandes idées pour le 150e anniversaire de la Confédération. Les partenaires de la série de conférences — CBC/Radio-Canada, les Fondations communautaires du Canada et VIA Rail Canada — présenteront les principaux faits saillants de la série, notamment des observations et des contributions d'un certain nombre de voix représentant la société canadienne. Cet événement récapitulatif comprendra aussi des prestations d'artistes canadiens.

Les conférenciers et les artistes sont :
Le très honorable David Johnston – gouverneur général du Canada

Marc Bureau – maire de la Ville de Gatineau
Jim Watson – maire de la Ville d'Ottawa
Sonnet L'Abbé – poète et critique
Chorale De La Salle – avec le directeur artistique Robert Filion

Les partenaires de la série de conférences sont :
Hubert T. Lacroix – président-directeur général, CBC/Radio-Canada
Ian Bird – président-directeur général, Fondations communautaires du Canada
Yves Desjardins-Siciliano – chef, Affaires juridiques et corporatives, Secrétariat général, VIA Rail Canada

La conférence sera coanimée par Emmanuelle Latraverse, chef du bureau parlementaire de Radio-Canada à Ottawa et animatrice des Coulisses du pouvoir à la Télévision de Radio-Canada, et par Evan Solomon, journaliste et animateur des émissions Power & Politics à CBC News Network et The House à CBC Radio One.

Conçues pour informer et servir de source d'inspiration, les conférences CANADA 150/2017 DÉBUTE MAINTENANT ont suscité des discussions à l'échelle locale, régionale et nationale sur la signification de 2017, et sur la manière dont nous devrions célébrer le 150e anniversaire de la Confédération qui approche. Depuis avril dernier, ces conférences, présentées en partenariat avec d'autres organisations locales et nationales, ont réuni des citoyens et des leaders de communautés de toutes les régions du pays. Cet événement récapitulatif résumera tout ce qui a été appris et la manière dont nous pouvons exploiter la force des Canadiens pour concevoir et inspirer de nouvelles façons de rassembler les canadiens autour de notre 150e anniversaire.

Dans le cadre de la série de conférences CANADA 150/2017 DÉBUTE MAINTENANT, la trousse de discussion 2017 DÉBUTE MAINTENANT a été lancée afin d'inviter encore plus de Canadiens à prendre part à la conversation. Grâce à cette trousse, familles, amis, collègues et voisins peuvent amorcer leur propre conversation, dans leur communauté ou leur organisation, et ce, partout au pays. Elle comprend tout un éventail d'outils et de ressources pour nourrir la réflexion des citoyens sur la façon de célébrer ce jalon important.

Les Canadiens auront la possibilité de suivre la conférence finale de CANADA 150/2017 DÉBUTE MAINTENANT en direct sur la plateforme numérique interactive à www.2017debutemaintenant.ca. De plus, les Canadiens peuvent aussi participer aux conférences en direct en soumettant leurs commentaires sur Twitter avec le mot-clic #Canada150.

Pour obtenir de l'information supplémentaire sur l'événement, prendre connaissance des exposés des conférenciers précédents et obtenir leurs notices biographiques dans les deux langues officielles, visitez le www.2017debutemaintenant.ca.

Developed to inform and inspire, CANADA 150/2017 STARTS NOW has sparked local, regional and national conversations around what 2017 means, and how we should celebrate Canada's upcoming 150th anniversary of Confederation. Since last April, the series, presented in partnership with other local and national organizations, has brought together citizens and leaders from communities across every region of the country, and this concluding event will summarize what has been learned and how we can harness the power of Canadians to develop and inspire new ways to connect Canadians around our sesquicentennial anniversary.

As part of the CANADA 150/2017 STARTS NOW conferences, the 2017 Starts Now Conversation Kit was launched to engage even more Canadians in the conversation. The kit helps families, friends, colleagues and neighbours host their own local conversations in communities and organizations across the country. It provides many tools and resources to help people incubate and inspire ideas for how Canadians will celebrate this milestone.

Canadians have the opportunity to watch the CANADA 150/2017 STARTS NOW finale presentation via live stream on the interactive digital platform at www.2017startsnow.ca. Additionally, Canadians can participate in the conferences live by submitting comments to @cbclive and using #Canada150 on Twitter.

Qqques suggestions dans la pièce jointe. Je trouve le communiqué long et redondant... et essayé de couper un peu/éliminer certaines répétitions.

Merci.

2017 STARTS NOW COLLABORATORS' BREAKFAST / 2017 DÉBUTE MAINTENANT PETIT DÉJEUNER DES COLLABORATEURS

Good afternoon,

You have recently received an invitation for the 2017 Starts Now summary event and we hope you will be joining us in Ottawa on Thursday, June 27, at the Canadian War Museum. As a national collaborator for the conference series, we would also like to invite you and a member of your organization to join us for a conversation over breakfast, just prior to the summary event, on June 27, from 7:30 to 9 a.m.

Since our first meeting last November, some of you have joined the group and we have travelled an extraordinary distance — literally the length and breadth of the country with the 11 conferences. It's been a great and very inspiring adventure.

We know that the 2017 Starts Now Ottawa summary event will be a great conclusion to this amazing array of conferences, and the beginning of a new conversation around the ideas and actions we'll be taking forward to 2017. It would be great to take this opportunity to connect and reconnect with all of you.

VIA Rail is happy to offer collaborators train travel vouchers to Ottawa, to attend the final conference in a series of successful events across Canada.

Please RSVP to this account by Friday, June 21. We look forward to having you and one other representative of your organization join us.

Best wishes,

Bon après-midi,

Vous avez récemment reçu une invitation pour l'événement récapitulatif 2017 Débute maintenant, et nous espérons que vous vous joindrez à nous le jeudi 27 juin au Musée canadien de la guerre à Ottawa. En tant que collaborateur national de la série de conférences, nous voulons également vous inviter, vous et un membre de votre organisation, à un échange au cours d'un petit déjeuner, tout juste avant l'événement récapitulatif, du 27 juin, de 7 h 30 à 9 h.

Depuis notre première rencontre en novembre dernier, certains d'entre vous se sont joints au groupe et la tenue de 11 conférences partout au pays nous a permis de parcourir une distance extraordinaire. Ce fut une très belle et très inspirante aventure.

Nous savons que l'événement récapitulatif de 2017 Débute maintenant conclura de façon extraordinaire cette série de conférences et marquera le début d'une nouvelle conversation sur les idées et les actions que nous mettrons en place en route vers 2017. Ce serait formidable de profiter de cette occasion pour vous retrouver tous.

VIA Rail est heureuse d'offrir aux collaborateurs des billets de train pour Ottawa, afin d'assister à la dernière conférence dans le cadre d'événements réussis qui ont eu lieu aux quatre coins du pays.

Veuillez confirmer votre présence et celle d'un deuxième représentant de votre organisation au petit déjeuner d'ici le vendredi 21 juin en répondant à ce courriel. Au plaisir de vous voir.

FYI.
See attached plan for distribution of the 150th report in Ottawa.
Before doing this, I should check with Yves D-S at Via to ensure that he is ok with that plan. Let me know when we have a more or less final report.
Hubert will probably want to see the report before Thursday as well.

This is good.

I would propose that following the Ottawa conference, we send this to all MPs and senators with a cover letter from Hubert (or does it need to be Hubert and the other partner heads?).

The cover letter would adapt Hubert's note with a couple paragraphs to MPs - that this is for their information, to assist them as they meet with their constitutents and continue a dialogue etc...

Once I get the draft of Hubert's note, I can start adapting to Parliamentarians.

Hi all,

Attached please find the report, as well as the first of two parts ready for translation. The second half is still being edited but will be ready by noon, but the first part, attached, can be sent now.

As for the layout, the french side will feature photos of different speakers maximizing the number of photos we can use.

The English version will be fully typeset today and proofed this weekend. Obviously french follows next week, and it will go to press Wednesday morning in Ottawa for delivery that afternoon.

Thanks Carole. My only comment would be about the length. If she's going to read it out loud, it might have more resonance if it were a little tighter.

Hello,
Attached, please find a advanced draft of Sonnet L'Abbé's bilingual poem, She is the Artist-in-Motion of the 2017 Starts Now conference series. She has traveled the country on VIA and has blogged about her experience on the canada150blog.com.

In her poem, which is slated to be performed this Thursday, she summarizes her experience and defines what it means to her to be Canadian : through Identity, nature, history as well as the Aboriginal People' lands and recognition (pages 7 - 9).

John and I will be talking with her early this morning, let me know if you have any comments ASAP.

Guys: I am still working on performing/timing this piece to figure out where to chop and tighten. Do not freak at the length.

Carole: Given that we're doing a grammar check, not a translation, maybe I can do a phone call with your translator or the landline here is because poetry is often difficult to translate / sometimes I'm deliberately saying things in ways they aren't generally said. Or trying to, anyway.

Still chewing on a title.

Hi there John,

Just wanted to follow up on our conversation of yesterday regarding the distribution of the summary.

I spoke with James Selfe and he suggests we share the summary with the 900 people invited to the MTL conference.

Are you planning to share the summary with participants/invited people to other conferences across the country? We need to coordinate.

I'm planning for a short bilingual note with a link to the on line version of the summary.

Would appreciate an update before the end of day... MERCI.

Dear John, Carole,

It was great meeting you both last week. We were so pleased that you could attend our meeting of the City's 2017 Task Force and are looking forward to finding opportunities for our two organizations to work together.

As a starting point, we would like to offer to use our May 23rd launch event to promote the CBC conference taking place in Ottawa at the end of June. In order for us to do that, we would like to know a little bit more about the event (e.g., what is the format and who might be attending). I did not see an agenda on the website – is there one available yet?

In addition, we are wondering if there would be a speaking opportunity for the Mayor? As you would have seen at the meeting last week, he is very involved in this file and would do a great job of showcasing how a municipality is working with its partners to take advantage of the 2017 opportunity. It would also provide us an opportunity to get some visibility for the brand we will be launching at the May 23 event.

Let us know what you think. We would be happy to meet in person to discuss any opportunities that might exist.

Cheers,

Angela

Revoyons le tout ensemble demain matin, ok?!

Merci et bonne soirée.

Hello, your friendly stakeholder relationships rep at the door :)

Not sure if you're aware of the above. Helene just mentioned to me. Thought I'd share as this is the date of the final Canada 150 conference...

If you're still planning some sort of a "show" within the program, this could be a very colourful way to go - by inviting a few communities to perform - Ukraine, Chinese, Malaysian or Japanese (Japanese drummers), Indian, Irish, Scottish, etc...

Your agenda is probably packed, but thought I'd share, just in case...

Hello, Adele. It was a pleasure to speak with you yesterday. Thanks for taking the time. Here's the info I promised regarding the request to connect with a choir in Ottawa:

2017 STARTS NOW - A Canada 150 Conference Series
Summary Event, Ottawa, June 27
www.2017startsnow.ca

Following a hugely successful cross-country conference series, we are hosting a wrap-up summary event in the Barney Danson Theatre at the Canadian War Museum on the morning of June 27th.

The event's lineup will include 6 high profile TedTalk style speakers, Mayor Watson, CBC Radio Canada's Hubert LaCroix, video presentations and some inspiring entertainment, including the world premiere of Sonnet L'Abbe's new poem for Canada, and a presentation by Jowi Taylor. The guests will include a cross section of cultural and business leaders from across Canada.

We would love to include an inspirational performance of the choir from De La Salle, and are hoping to connect with the school to discuss further.

Please let me know if you need more information - happy to provide.

Attached is a copy of the original press release with more info about the conferences.

All the best!

Martine and Carole – hi to both of you again.

I promised to send along a few videos which I think 'tell a nice story' about what the Canada Games are all about, and the impact and power they have on our youth, communities and our nation. There are three links below – will take you about 15 minutes to look at all three.

Have a peek when you get a moment.

Hope your week is going great. I am still waiting to hear back from about She did say she would get back to me.

Thanks.

Want to make sure that if you need other 'sport' speakers on June 27th, who could deliver the message about sport, the Canada Games, Olympics and all of it, you let me know, okay. There are people we could reach out to – others too.

Sounds like you have your list, and time is short now, but just letting you know I would make the effort if needed.

Have a super weekend.

Hi
I hope you're doing well.

I had a really good chat with Lynda last week. Thanks so much for connecting us.

We're finalizing our program in the coming days and will send that along. My colleague Carole - copied on this email - will be in touch with more information. I understand from Lynda that she has a number of commitments on June 27. We'll work with you to make sure our program reflects her needs.

There is one detail I'm hoping you can share with Lynda in the meantime. We'll need her presentation to be 5-6 minutes max. (This is slightly shorter than the 8-10 minute presentation I spoke with Lynda about last week.)

We've got a really fun agenda planned and a lot of ground to cover in a short amount of time. I hope this timeline works okay for Lynda.

Don't hesitate to let me know if you have any questions or concerns.

Thanks so much!

Would you be able to help on this?

Please let me know what you think.

Bonjour,

It has been confirmed that the Governor General will be arriving at the CWM at 9:15am on Thursday, June 27, 2013 and will be departing at 9:45am. Can you please ensure to have his flag raised at 9am and lowered at 10am?

Stephenie: Can you please confirm that this is correct?

I have the 3' x 4.5' flag in my office. I will arrange to leave it at the security desk in the Museum so that the person raising the flag from the NCC can pick it up there and drop it off. Please confirm.

Many thanks,

Good afternoon,

Yes, you are correct; unfortunately our flags are not standard sizes. We have the 3' x 4.5' (which was left at the War Museum yesterday at the advance) and the next size up we have from that is approx. 4.5' x 7'. I imagine the smaller would fit better. If you can confirm that this one was used last year, then we will do the same this time. If not, I will have to send a larger flag next week, as they are all currently out at the moment at other venues.

Thanks,

Hi all,

I seem to recall that last year, the Governor General's flag was different dimensions than the other flags. I suspect it was the 3' X 4.5'.

Please be informed that the size of the flag required for the flagpole is 3'x6'.

I have copied my colleague who is responsible for the raising and lowering of this flag. She should be back in the office tomorrow.

We await confirmation of the times required for the raising and lowering of the flag.

Bonjour

As the flag pole is on NCC property, it has always been arranged to be flown by the NCC. Please see emails below.

Could you please confirm that you are able to take care of this for the June 27th event and let me know if the flag that Rideau Hall has provided me (36"x54") is the correct size?

I will send along the time the flag must be raised and the time it should be lowered as soon as it becomes available to us.

Let me know if you have any concerns.

Thank you,

Good morning to both of you,

I am in communication with for the land use of Lebreton Flats Park for the Change of command of October 29. Details to follow...

Concerning the use of the flag pole for the Governor General's flag, we have no issues. Can you provide us with the exact timing needed for the total duration that the flag must be up?

Any other request for the use of Lebroton Flat's should be forwarded to me for site use coordination and must also keep inform the museum.

Hope this helps!

Understood, but can the museum hold on to the flag until it is put up?

For the raising of the flag, based on the start of the ceremony, ensure it is put up no later than 0830hrs on 29 Oct 12.

Hello

Just to clarify, The Museum is not responsible for the flag poles on LeBreton Flats Park. They are maintained by the NCC, so the actual raising of the flag should be coordinated directly with the NCC.

All the best,

Hi Marc,

I will be on duty for the CDS Change of Command on and wanted to coordinate the raising of the Governor General's flag for the ceremony. In talking to it usually replaces the Canadian Flag in that row of flags to the East of the building. To ensure I provide the right size flag, could you confirm the dimensions of the Canadian flag. Once I receive this, I can forward a flag to the War Museum, and it can be raised on the morning of the event.

Let me know if you have any questions.

Thanks,

Yes, the timings are correct; although the departure could be a bit later than 09:45 (depending on when his speech is finished). At any rate, the flag may be lowered as soon as he has departed.

Bonjour Carole!

and one of our Winnipeg speakers would love to attend the Ottawa event. She will be in Ottawa this week for business.

I thought she might have been added to the invitation list, as per an early request, but she's not yet received anything. Could we add her to the invitation list? Should I simply notify Sheema?

Thanks et merci!

Here is the revised Ottawa master script which tracks against rundown.

We can focus tomorrow on the remarks for Hubert, Ian, and Yves.

Also not sure why according to the rundown Phillipe's video is appearing midway through the remarks from the principals rather then as one of the featured speakers.

Also below are comments that are remaindered from the first version. I'd like to find a way to redistribute the message across the host comments, or the principals.

What time are you planning to meet to discuss this tomorrow?

All best,

So wow! What a whirlwind. It just shows the energy and creativity that is already at work. You know, early on we decided to call this series 2017 Starts Now — and I think it's clear to everyone that the 2017 spirit is taking hold. Canada is waking up to 2017.

2. It really is more than a date on a calendar. Watching that video, I can see that 2017 is an attitude, it's a state of mind. 2017 should be a symbol for our potential as a country. It's about all that we have accomplished and all that we still have to do.

1. It's also a moment to take the measure of ourselves — to pause midway through the second century of Canadian Confederation and to ask ourselves about our goals and responsibilities. What business have we left unfinished? What aspirations have not yet been fulfilled?

2. It's interesting to know that many of the earliest organizers that helped to shape Canada's 1967 Centennial celebrations were educators, by profession and at heart. They believed that the Centennial was special because it gave every Canadian the occasion to learn more about themselves, their neighbours and the country.

1. It's an idea that is still relevant today: How can we use 2017 to learn more about ourselves, our neighbours and our country?

2. Phillipe said such moving things about the tremendous energy unleashed during Expo and the Centennial. And it reminded me of this ad which the appeared in the run-up to 1967.

1. It's special because it doesn't tell Canadians how to celebrate. It asks them "what are you planning for Centennial?"

2. That's been the spirit of the 2017 Starts Now conferences. We've asked Canadians: how are they planning to celebrate? What ideas do they have for making this Canada's next great year? And how will they get their neighbours and communities connected and fired up to make it happen?

1. We've prepared for you a booklet of some of their ideas. But really these ideas are 'open source' — they belong to all Canadians and should help to inspire all of us. It's a cheat sheet anyone can use to start thinking about how they can contribute to making 2017 an exciting and important year.

I realize that your office is closed on Monday the 24th and that this is a fairly long document, at 2,119 words. However, to help with the translation, I have also attached the English and French version of this document that was created earlier this month for the Montreal conference, which contains several same segments of text.

Thanks in advance.

I have been discussing this at great length with Carole and Corporate. While we agree that there should be some kind wrap up - it feels like an actual sit down meeting format would be a huge downer following the presentation and lunch. We would like to revisit the format and find a more entertaining way to get these people together. Let's talk more about it.

Hi folks,

I wanted to get a jump on this, so I've put together a 2000 word rough cut of the ottawa script. It clocks in nicely with all the pieces at 85 min — and should be easy to reorder things as necessary.

Consider this a sketch to give a sense of the tone and flow. Please — no line edits by email for the moment. We can schedule a call later in the week to discuss and make sure it's moving in the right direction and that all the elements are in the right place.

All best,

RUN TIME: 85 MINUTES WITH 15 MIN BREAK.

--[9:00]--

1: Good morning everyone! Hello and bonjour. My name is XX and I'm delighted to welcome you today, here to Canada's National War Museum.

2: And bonjour and hello! My name is xx. It's really a great pleasure to welcome you to the final event in our madcap race across the country — the last stop in our 2017 Starts Now series.

1: Incredibly this series has stopped in every province and the north in just 90 days. And today we're here in Ottawa. Our nation's capital and a city that we know will be at the very heart of our country's Sesquicentennial celebrations.

2: Sesquicentennial? (Deliberately flubs the pronunciation)

1: Right — Ses-qui-cen-tennial. It's true that saying it takes a bit of practice. We just call it Canada's One-Five-Oh — the next major anniversary in the life of our country.

2. Four years out we've started planning for a great year ahead. A year that is all about celebrating, commemorating and connecting Canada and Canadians.

1. Yes: those are our watchwords: Celebrating, Commemorating and Connecting. And today we want to share with you just a taste of what we've heard and learned from our conversations in every corner of the country.

2. 90 days. More than 100 speakers. 1200 delegates representing community organizations, local businesses, youth groups — Canadians who have already begun planning and imagining how to make 2017 a success.

1. Today we are going to bring you some of the highlights. We will hear from our lead partners at CBC/Radio-Canada, the Community Foundations of Canada and VIA Rail, as well as their worships, the mayors of Gatineau and Ottawa.

2. We also welcome six inspiring Canadians who will speak to us about their aspirations and vision for the country's future and its 150th. We will present a brief summary of the series, as well as you two very special presentations — first our inaugural 2017 Artist-in-Motion, Sonnet L'Abbe who has been travelling the length of this country onboard VIA Rail and talking with Canadians about the 150th.

1. And to conclude we will welcome Jowi Taylor, the creator of Canada's Six String Nation project, along with several special musical guests.

2. But we begin now, as we have begun each conference — by honouring this country's historic relationship with its indigenous peoples and gratefully receiving a blessing from a local elder.

--[9:05]--

1. Please welcome XX, a representative of the XX First Nation.

--[9:10]--

2. Thank you — It's important that that we acknowledge the participation and support of the many elders who attended local 2017 Starts Now events with the assistance of our colleagues at the National Association of Friendship Centres. Your generousity and involvement has been an important feature of this series.

[applause]

1. This project began last summer, and quite simply it just kept growing. Whatever success we've enjoyed has been largely because we have had an extraordinary group of partners and collaborators, totalling nearly two dozen national organizations.

2. To reflect on their participation with this series and to represent the many organizations which have brought these events to life, please welcome CBC/Radio-Canada President Hubert Lacroix, Community Foundations of Canada president Ian Bird and VIA Rail President Marc Laliberté.

1. Ottawa Mayor Jim Watson and Gatineau Mayor Marc Bureau are already hard at work preparing the national capital region to host a year-long program of activities and events in 2017.

2. To share with us an 'early draft' of their plans and vision, please welcome Mayors Jim Watson and Marc Bureau.

1. Our 2017 speakers have been a central feature of each our of local conferences. One month out, our planning team would huddle with local committee members and draw up long lists of potential speakers – and then the call would go out.

2. Artists, business leaders, historians, athletes, writers – more than 100 speakers representing so much talent, good will, and energy.

1. Today we're very pleased to welcome six speakers who will each take the stage for eight minutes to energize us with their ideas for Canada's 150th – and build our collection of 2017 talks – everyone of which is available in both English and French on our 2017startsnow.ca and 2017debutemaintenant.ca websites.

2. We are going to take a short 15 minute break. There is coffee and tea outside, and this is good chance to check in with your digital companions. But please be back promptly as we are livestreaming this event across the country and will begin again at 10:50 sharp.

1. To those of us watching online, we'll be back in just fifteen minutes.

--[10:50]--

2. Welcome back. Following each set of talks at our local events, we held a series of roundtable discussions. Over the course of two to three hours, our delegates would mix up and move around to different tables and join the conversations that interested them while tackling 12 questions.

1. This morning, we don't have time to host a local discussion with you, but we thought we would take the opportunity to share with you some of what we learned and heard.

2. To help us first get a flavour for these events and the ideas that that were shared, we have a short video presentation from our friends with the CBC LIVE team.

--[10:52]--

PLAY VIDEO

--[10:56]--

1. So wow! What a whirlwind. It just shows the energy and creativity that is already at work. You know, early on we decided to call this series 2017 Starts Now - and I think it's clear to everyone that the 2017 spirit is taking hold. Canada is waking up to 2017.

2. It really is more than a date on a calendar. Watching that video, I can see that 2017 is an attitude, it's a state of mind. 2017 should be a symbol for our potential as a country. It's about all that we have accomplished and all that we still have to do.

1. It's also a moment to take the measure of ourselves - to pause midway through the second century of Canadian Confederation and to ask ourselves about our goals and responsibilities. What business have we left unfinished? What aspirations have not yet been fulfilled.

2. It's interesting to know that many of the earliest organizers that helped to shape Canada's 1967 Centennial celebrations were educators, by profession and at heart. They believed that the Centennial was special because it gave every Canadian the occasion to learn more about themselves, their neighbours and the country.

1. It's an idea that is still relevant today: How can we use 2017 to learn more about ourselves, our neighbours and our country?

2. Phillipe said such moving things about the tremendous energy unleashed during Expo and the Centennial. And it reminded me of this ad which the appeared in the run-up to 1967.

1. It's special because it doesn't tell Canadians how to celebrate. It asks them "what are you planning for Centennial?"

2. That's been the spirit of the 2017 Starts Now conferences. We've asked Canadians: how are they planning to celebrate? What ideas do they have for making this Canada's next great year? And how will they get their neighbours and communities connected and fired up to make it happen?

1. We've prepared for you a booklet of some of their ideas. But really these ideas are 'open source' - they belong to all Canadians and should help to inspire all of us. It's a cheat sheet anyone can use to start thinking about how they can contribute to making 2017 an exciting and important year.

In Vancouver, they said...

2. In Calgary, they said...

1. In Saskatoon, they said...

2. In Winnipeg, they said...

1. In Toronto, they said...

2. In Montreal, they said...

1. In Charlottetown, they said...

2. In Moncton, they said...

1. In Halifax, they said...

2. In St. John's, they said...

1. And across the North, from sites in Yellowknife, Iqaluit and Whitehorse they said...

...And what this tells us is that...

... So here's to all of our delegates who brought so much creativity and heart to their discussions. Many are watching today on the livestream, so I think we should give them a big – can we make it a -- thunderous — applause.

[applause]

--[11:10]--

2. One of our very first speakers in Vancouver was the poet Sonnet L'Abbé. In fact when she appeared on our stage in Vancouver, she was just days away from defending her Ph.D in literature at UBC. Happily both talks worked out well. They made her a doctor, and we invited her to hop aboard VIA Rail to spend two months travelling the country by train and meeting with Canadians to talk about 2017, while attending 9 of our conferences.

1. You know, one of the greatest legacies of the 1967 was that many young artists and writers received their first commissions to produce work for the Centennial. Imagine being in your early twenties or thirties and being asked to create an artwork that represents the country back to itself. It was a tremendous and formative honour that left a mark on the careers of many of that generation's top talents. It's an idea we've tried to renew by naming Sonnet our 2017 Artist-in-Motion and asking her to create a poem that she is going to share with us now.

SONNET

--[11:22]--
2. Amazing work Sonnet. Thank you. And thank you for being such an important part of the 2017 Starts Now series.

[applause]

1. Eight years ago, Jowi Taylor decided that Canada needed new icons that could change the way we understand and engage with history. He took up the challenge and the result is a work of art and a modern heirloom that has been celebrated and cherished by tens of thousands of Canadians.

2. If you are looking for a project that exemplifies the 2017 spirit, then we are very happy to introduce you to what Jowi calls the Six String Nation. Please welcome Jowi Taylor...

1. Incredible! It's like 2017 has already begun...

2. Which is exactly our point. 2017 has begun, and in communities across the country a conversation has been ignited; it's underway.

1. XX, it's been such a pleasure to join you on stage today and to be a part of this morning's adventure.

2. Likewise XX. It's been a lot of fun. 2017 gives us the excuse to do things we wouldn't normally do – to celebrate, commemorate and connect our country in new ways – and I'm glad I could be here today. To conclude our event, as we leave the platform, again please welcome CBC/Radio-Canada President Hubert Lacroix.

Hey - had a meeting today with representative from above-mentioned. They are starting to plan their activities to celebrate 2017. They wanted to have more information about our conference initiative - anticipated outcomes - any opportunity to participate ect....

I mentioned the Ottawa conference to him - the organisation is based out of Ottawa.

I mentioned this to Carole also. Might be good to have the sports community represented at the Ottawa event.

He mentioned that if there was interest they might be able to get a high profile athlete out to the event. No commitment on their part or mine.

I would like to keep them in the loop one way or the other - if there is interest to have them participate as a speaker - let me know - thanks

HI Bill – I hope your session with the Ottawa U students went well and they were not too feisty!

On behalf of Ian and myself, just a short note to thank you for taking the time to meet with us yesterday; we both appreciated the CBC overview and agreed that there could be some impactful synergies as we reach out to engage and inspire Canadians leading up to 2017.

For your ease of access, I have attached an electronic copy of both documents that we left behind:

- The "Exploring Partnership" document, and the
- Suggested evolution of a "CBC/CFC 2017 Legacy campaign"

We are off to an excellent start with the "Canada 150/2017 Starts Now" conversations; we couldn't be happier with the partnership. Thank you once again and we will follow up with John early next week.

Till soon,

CBC/RADIO-CANADA, COMMUNITY FOUNDATIONS OF CANADA AND VIA RAIL CANADA ISSUE AN OFFICIAL SUMMARY OF HIGHLIGHTS OF THE CANADA 150/2017 STARTS NOW CONFERENCE SERIES TODAY IN OTTAWA

June 27, 2013, OTTAWA – The Canada 150/2017 Starts Now conference series concluded today at the Canadian War Museum in Ottawa with the presentation of an official summary document of key findings and ideas from the three-month-long, 12-city event. The conference series, presented in partnership with CBC/Radio-Canada, Community Foundations of Canada, VIA Rail Canada and other local and national organizations, brought together leaders and citizens from every corner of the country, in both official languages, to start a national conversation about Canada's 150th anniversary. The summary report captures the energy and dialogue that was heard across the country, and can be found online at www.2017startsnow.ca.

"Ninety days ago we set out to bring people together, to connect regions and to foster a spirit of celebration around Canada's 150th anniversary," said Hubert T. Lacroix, president and CEO, CBC/Radio-Canada. "We've heard from nearly one hundred passionate speakers, connected with more than 1200 Canadians across the country and inspired thousands more through our webcasts and social media. I'm proud of CBC/Radio-Canada's role in bringing this spirit to life."

"The ideas and stories Canadians shared with us are a great kickstart for Canada's 191 community foundations as we mobilize our network to build smart and caring communities leading up to 2017," said Ian Bird, president and CEO, Community Foundations of Canada. "We look forward to working with partners from coast to coast on making this moment count."

"Beginning in Vancouver in April, this conference series has expressed the diversity of this country through the creativity and originality of the ideas expressed in events from coast to coast," said Yves Desjardins-Siciliano, Chief, Corporate and Legal Affairs Officer, Corporate Secretary, VIA Rail Canada. "As Canada approaches its 150th anniversary, we know this enthusiasm will grow and Canadians will come together to celebrate this important milestone in our nation's history."

Highlights included in the report:

- A challenge to leave behind a cleaner environment for future generations - Vancouver.
- Canadians should each try to acquire a second, third, or fourth language as an access path to living in one of the world's great multicultural countries - Calgary.
- Canadians should come together and write one new song to celebrate our 150th anniversary of Confederation- Toronto.
- We should do more to ensure that young Canadians have a chance to visit and contribute to less-fortunate parts of the world - Winnipeg.
- 2017 is a time to invigorate our cultural identity and deepen our awareness of history -Montreal.
- A proposal for a travelling show celebrating Canadian culture in 2017 called KA'NATA - Halifax.

This investment in public engagement has left a legacy: these conferences have helped to plant seeds across the country by starting a conversation about the meaning of Canada's next major anniversary. Now it is up to each of us to decide what happens next. What experiences can we share? What can we accomplish together for our sesquicentennial?

As part of conferences, the 2017 Starts Now Conversation Kit was launched to engage even more Canadians in the conversation. The kit helps families, friends, colleagues and neighbours host their own local conversations in communities and organizations across the country. It provides many tools and resources to help incubate ideas about how Canadians will celebrate this milestone.

Hi Renee,

Attached is the revised release you need to use. It's been reviewed and approved by Hubert's office. It's also the version I've sent to translation.

Can I please ask that you incorporate Ian Bird's quote and we should then have a final version. If you don't mind sending the final text to all copied... that would be great. (You'll also have to add the URL at the top!)

Jacinthe and I will review the translation - I will tonight; Jacinthe to look at the FR tomorrow morning.

Will you handle FR distribution as well or should I send to someone else? Not clear to me...

Many thanks.

Mot de bienvenue à la Conférence Sommaire Canada 150/2017 débute maintenant – Ottawa, Ontario – le 27 juin 2013

Au nom de tous les Radio-canadiens et de nos partenaires, je tiens à vous remercier d'être avec nous aujourd'hui, ainsi que les milliers de Canadiens qui ont partagé avec nous, en personne et sur le web, le grand rêve collectif que représente cette série de conférences. Votre participation témoigne de votre engagement envers votre communauté, et de votre intérêt à prendre en main l'avenir de notre grand pays.

I think David Chilton said it best in Winnipeg :*"There is no better place to be than Canada and no better time to be here than right now."*So thank you all for being here.

En plus de souligner la participation de Son Excellence le très honorable David Johnston, gouverneur général du Canada, etdes conférenciers ici aujourd'hui, je tiens à remercier le Musée de la guerre de s'être joint à nous à titre de partenaire et de nous accueillir dans cette magnifique salle. Difficile d'imaginer un lieu plus ancré dans l'histoire du Canada que celui où nous nous trouvons ce matin. Les liens que nous tissons entre notre passé, notre présent et notre avenir sont au cœur de notre identité collective.

As Canada's public broadcaster CBC/Radio-Canada is tremendously proud of the role we play in telling these stories and in connecting regions, peoples, and cultures.

This has always been our mandate: to connect Canadians.

Canada's last major anniversary, the 1967 Centennial was an important year for CBC/Radio-Canada. We worked closely with community organizations and with government to capture the spirit of that year, broadcasting thousands of hours of dedicated, innovative, community-based programming.

As we look ahead to 2017, we are readying ourselves to again play this important role. This series has been only the first step.

Together with our partners, we set out to engagecommunities across the country about the 150th anniversary of Confederation in 2017. And you responded! We've heard from 90 visionary speakers, connected with more than 1,200 Canadians and inspired thousands more through our webcasts and social media. It's remarkable, and I want to thank the organizing committee, our staff and volunteers from coast-to-coast who made it happen.

Tout au long de ces conférences, nous avons entendu beaucoup d'idées audacieuses – parfois loufoques – de la création d'un billet de 150 dollars jusqu'au besoin d'avoir une chanson nationale.Mais pour moi, l'une des images les plus puissantes est venue de Deborah Apps, présidente-directrice générale de Sentier transcanadien quand elle a pris la parole à Charlottetown. Pour le 1er juillet 2017, elle rêve de photographier, de l'espace, des Canadiensd'un océan à l'autre, qui se tiennent debout côte à côte tout en tenant des lampes de poche tournées vers le ciel.

I think you'll agree that ideas like these can spark movements.

Discours – Canada 150 – version 4 – 24/06/2013 – 15h30

Rest assured that over the last 90 days we've taken careful notes.In fact we prepared for you a booklet highlighting some of what we've heard. We hope this summary will be a resource that anyone can use to start thinking about how they can contribute to making 2017 an exciting and important year.

But rather than reading it now, we've prepared a short video to give you a taste of the energy and ideas radiating from these conferencesover the past ninety days, featuring clips from our 11 localevents.

The purpose of this series has been to start a conversation and to share the 2017 spirit with Canadians. In the four years ahead we look forward to working with each of you to bring this spirit to life.

Again thank you for joining us this morning. Visionnons ensemble la vidéo suivante.

Hi all,

Attached please find the report, as well as the first of two parts ready for translation. The second half is still being edited but will be ready by noon, but the first part, attached, can be sent now.

As for the layout, the french side will feature photos of different speakers maximizing the number of photos we can use.

The English version will be fully typeset today and proofed this weekend. Obviously french follows next week, and it will go to press Wednesday morning in Ottawa for delivery that afternoon.

All best,

Bonjour Bill,

vient de me dire que les PDG ont discuté de l'événement d'Ottawa : le format et les conférenciers invités.

Nous sommes à un mois de cette conférence et déjà des appels ont été lancés auprès des personnes identifiées (voir le pdf ci-joint).

Est-ce que nous avons le feu vert des trois PDG tant pour le déroulement que pour les conférenciers? Lorsqu'un conférencier n'est pas disponible, devons-nous demander aux PDG d'approuver la prochaine personne que nous allons approcher, ou leurs directeurs des comm? Quel est le processus souhaité? L'implication des partenaires?

Merci de m'en informer le plus tôt possible.

Hi Katie,

Yes, will follow your plan. The GG will also meet Peter Charbonneau, a CBC/Radio-Canada Board member.

Ali : can you add a reserved seat besides the GG? The front row could start with Mr. Wallace, the GG and then Peter Charbonneau?

Carole

2013/6/26

Thanks so much Carole.

A few last questions:

When the GG arrives – he will be greeted by Jean-Marc Blais correct?

And then Jean-marc will take him to the VIP room to meet with Yves Desjardins-Siciliano, Ian Bird, and Hubert T. Lacroix? Then everyone goes to green room to "get ready"?

And will the GG be sitting near anyone in the front row?

And finally, could you please save a seat for Mr. Stephen Wallace, the secretary to the GG?

Thanks!

Carole,

I am thinking since he will end his remarks and leave right away, he might be on his way out before the departure announcement is event made.....

I am wondering if he should just depart after his remarks, and the MC's can just say "it was great to have the GG start of the conversation today" (or whatever they have planned).

On top of Pascale comments, please correct the following:
In the section Echange générationel, the word partage must be cut as follows «par-tage» and the word tetis needs to be changed for « tandis»
In the list of guest speakers at the end, the title of Ghislain Picard should read Chef (not chief).

Other changes have been captured by Pascale.

2017 Starts Now Summary Event
(SCRIPT VERSION 10)
Ottawa – June 27, 2013
Barney Danson Theatre, Canadian War Museum

EL : Emmanuelle Latraverse
ES: Evan Solomon

ITEM 1 – WALK IN LOOK

ITEM 2 – VOICE OVER INTRODUCTION OF HOST

ITEM 3

ES : Ladies and Gentlemen;
Would you please rise for the arrival of His Excellency the Right Honourable David Johnston, Governor General of Canada.

EL : Mesdames et Messieurs;
Veuillez-vous lever, s'il vous plaît, pour l'arrivée de Son Excellence le très honorable David Johnston, gouverneur général du Canada.

ITEM 4

[Governor General enters theatre and sits in the front row]

ITEM 5

ES: Good morning everyone! Hello and bonjour. I am delighted to welcome you here today on Canada's official multiculturalism day. My name is Evan Solomon and I'm delighted to welcome you today, here at the Canadian War Museum.

EL: Bonjour! Hello! Je m'appelle Emmanuelle Latraverse. Soyez les bienvenus à l'événement récapitulatif de notre tournée nationale, le dernier arrêt de la série Canada 150 / 2017 Débute maintenant.

ES: We decided early on to call this series 2017 Starts Now — and I think it's clear to everyone that the 2017 spirit is taking hold. Canada is waking up to 2017.

EL : En fait, c'est beaucoup plus qu'une simple date de calendrier. Tous ceux qui ont participé au projet croient que 2017 devrait être un symbole du potentiel de notre pays – tout ce qui a été accompli à ce jour et tout ce qu'il reste à faire.

ES: It's also a moment to take the measure of ourselves — to pause midway through the second century of Canadian Confederation and ask ourselves about our goals and responsibilities. What business have we left unfinished? What aspirations have not yet been fulfilled?

EL : Fait intéressant Evan : les premiers organisateurs ayant contribué aux célébrations du Centenaire du Canada en 1967 étaient tous des éducateurs, des enseignants de profession ou de cœur. Ils croyaient que le Centenaire était un événement unique parce qu'il donnait la chance aux Canadiens d'en apprendre davantage sur eux-même, sur leur concitoyens et sur leur pays.

ES: In many ways that's what this conference series has been about: connecting with Canadians. Creating partnerships with civil society. Learning more about our country and beginning to think about its next great year.

EL : Nous avons fait le tour du pays en arrêtant dans chaque province et dans le Nord en moins de 90 jours. Et aujourd'hui, nous sommes ici à Ottawa – la capitale nationale – qui sera sans contredit au cœur du 150e anniversaire de notre pays.

ES: Four years out, we've started planning for a great year... But we begin today, as we have begun each conference — by honouring this country's historic relationship with its Aboriginal peoples and gratefully receiving a blessing from a local elder.

EL: Pour commencer la conférence, j'invite Thomas Louttit à présenter la bénédiction traditionnelle d'ouverture. Une performance spéciale des Ojibway Cree Singers suivra.

ES : Thank you. It's so important that that we acknowledge the participation and support of the many Elders who attended local 2017 Starts Now events with the assistance of our colleagues at the National Association of Friendship Centres. Their generosity and involvement has been an important feature of this series. Please welcome Mr. Louttit.

ITEM 7

EL: Merci. Aujourd'hui, nous vous présenterons des faits saillants de la série de conférence 2017 Débute maintenant. Les trois partenaires à la tête du projet – CBC/Radio-Canada, les Fondations communautaires du Canada et VIA Rail Canada – prendront la parole. Les maires de Gatineau et d'Ottawa nous parleront également de leur vision de 2017.

Es: We also welcome a group of Canadians who will speak about their aspirations and vision for the country's future and its 150th.

EL : Et nous vous présenterons en primeur le poème de Sonnet L'Abbé créé exclusivement pour la série de conférences 2017 Débute maintenant.

ES: To reflect on the significance of this major anniversary, we're very honoured to have His Excellency the Right Honourable David Johnston speak to us today.

EL: Son Excellence a fait du 150e anniversaire du Canada l'une de ses priorités à titre de gouverneur général.

ES: I would like to invite His Excellency the Right Honourable David Johnston to the podium.

EL : Accueillons Son Excellence le très honorable David Johnston.

ITEM 9

EL: Votre Excellence, merci d'être venu nous parler ce matin. Votre message a captivé notre auditoire et nous sommes heureux de vous avoir accueilli.
[Governor General exits SR]

ES: The success of the project has enjoyed so far has been largely because we've had an extraordinary group of partners and collaborators, totalling nearly two-dozen national organizations. Many are represented here today.

EL: Afin de partager leurs réflexions sur cette série de conférences, et pour représenter les nombreux organismes qui ont mis la main à la pâte pour donner vie à ces événements, accueillons:

- le président-directeur général de CBC/Radio-Canada, Hubert T. Lacroix
- le chef des Affaires juridiques et corporatives du Secrétariat général de VIA Rail Canada, Yves Desjardins- Siciliano
- et le président-directeur général des Fondations communautaires du Canada, Ian Bird.
- Mais, d'abord accueillons le directeur général du Musée canadien des civilisations, Jean-Marc Blais

IAN BIRD:

Nous avons fait beaucoup de chemin pendant les trois derniers mois ! Presque toutes les semaines, une nouvelle rencontre, dans une nouvelle province. J'ai eu la chance de travailler avec nos partenaires de CBC/Radio-Canada, Via Rail, et avec les dizaines d'organismes nationaux qui ont contribué à ces rencontres. J'ai aussi eu la chance de rencontrer beaucoup de Canadiens et de Canadiennes pendant ce voyage.

What an incredible journey we've been on these past three months. A different event, held in a different province, almost every week of the past 90 days. It's been a privilege to work with our partners at CBC Radio Canada, Via Rail, and dozens of national collaborating organizations to make these national conversations possible. And it's been a privilege to hear first-hand from the Canadians who joined us every step of the way.

The good news is that the 90-day sprint is over. But today the marathon begins. 2017 really does start now.

Today we turn our attention, not only to the next four years, but to what lies beyond 2017. What do we envision for our country and for our communities? How can we use this as a moment, not only for reflection, but for long-term planning - and collective action.

And as I've turned my attention from the stories we've heard to the opportunities ahead, I've thought about a lesson I learned from my kids.

CANOE STORY HERE

And I know that when we get into the canoe, others will join us. A recent survey told us that 88% of Canadians think it's important for communities the use this milestone as an opportunity to act on local priorities and/or do something special.

Community foundations, and the partners we've met through this process, are ready to start the next leg of this journey. Over the summer we'll be digging into the hundreds of amazing ideas Canadians have shared over the past three months. We'll be picking some of our favourites, and we know other collaborating partners will be doing the same. Then we'll be ready to jump in the canoe!

Our work together has just begun. Remember 2017 starts now! It's time to get off the dock and join us. I can tell you from experience that life on the water is great!

Notre aventure vient de commencer. N'oubliez pas : 2017 débute maintenant ! Ne restez pas sur le quai. Embarquez avec nous. Vous ferez un voyage extraordinaire !

Merci beaucoup.

ITEM 16

ES: Thank you. Our 2017 speakers have been a central feature of our local conferences. Artists, business leaders, historians, athletes, writers — representing so much talent, good will, and energy.

EL: Nous sommes très heureux d'inviter nos conférenciers à prendre la parole ce matin. À tour de rôle, ils nous inspireront avec leurs idées et leur vision du 150^{e} du Canada.

ES: Bruce Croxon is here with us, fresh from another fiery round of Dragon's Den.

EL: Lynda Thalie viendra nous parler de sa vie d'artiste Algéro-canadienne.

ES: Jowi Taylor, founder of Six String Nation, will present his iconic Voyageur guitar — an emblematic project for Canada's 150th anniversary.

EL: Et l'auteure-compositrice-interprèteCindy Doire partagera avec nous ses pensées et son talent.

ES: But first, we're honoured to welcome to the stage one of Canada's most loved Paralympic champions to talk about the power of sport and community.

EL: Accueillons chaleureusement Chantal Petitclerc.

ITEM 22

EL: Quelle superbe chanson! Et quelle belle brochette de présentations inspirantes! Merci beaucoup Cindy – et tous nos conférenciers – d'avoir partagé avec nous vos idées pour 2017. Une bonne main d'applaudissement pour tous nos conférenciers!

ES: Two individuals who will be at the very centre of Canada's 150th anniversary are Ottawa and Gatineau Mayors, Jim Watson and Marc Bureau. To introduce their worships, please welcome Barb McInnes, president and CEO of the Community Foundation of Ottawa.

ITEM 23

BARB MCINNES:
Good morning. It's a pleasure to welcome Canada 150/2017 Starts Now to Ottawa. Bonjour à tous, c'est un plaisir d'accueillir Canada 150/2017 Débute maintenant à Ottawa.

The Community Foundation of Ottawa and our Board of Governors, many of whom are with me here today, have watched with great interest as you've criss-crossed the country and we're so pleased to be part of today's closing event.

We've seen how at every stop, from Vancouver to St. John's to Yellowknife, local speakers have shared their own stories and perspectives – each one encouraging us to consider what 2017 could mean to our communities and our country.

I'd like to quickly add one more story to your collection. And it just happens to be about my father, Alastair Gamble. Not only did he establish the community foundation here in Ottawa, which just celebrated its 25th anniversary, he also founded our national network, Community Foundations of Canada.

When he started CFC in 1992, there were 28 community foundations across Canada. Today there are 191.

My Dad was a man who was all about connection – connecting people and organizations, connecting needs and opportunities, connecting communities to one another. I know he would be very proud of community foundations today and the role they've played in helping to facilitate these important conversations.

And I know that he would tell us to set our sights on 'what's next' – what's the work ahead? He'd tell us to dream big – and to be bold in our vision about what we can achieve together.

Our community foundation is doing just that as we consider how to take up the Governor General's call to action. How can we build a 'smart and caring Ottawa region' leading up to 2017? How can we use this moment as a catalyst for reflection and action?

La région de la capitale nationale, Ottawa-Gatineau, jouera un rôle d'avant-plan lors des célébrations du 150e anniversaire du pays. Nos deux prochains allocuteurs sont débordant d'idées à ce sujet et vous entendrez sous peu celles de Marc Bureau, Maire de la Ville de Gatineau. À ce moment toutefois, j'aimerais inviter mon bon ami, le Maire Jim Watson au podium. Monsieur Watson nous expliquera comment la ville d'Ottawa se prépare déjà pour le grand jour.

ITEM 24

[Mayor Jim Watson dellvers remarks]

ITEM 25

[Mayor Marc Bureau delivers remarks]

ITEM 26

ES: Thank you very much Barbara, Mayor Watson and Mayor Bureau. It's exciting to hear how much is already underway.

EL: Absolument Evan. L'un des legs les plus importants de 1967, c'est que plusieurs artistes ont reçu leurs toutes premières commandes d'œuvres pour marquer le Centenaire du Canada. Imaginez un instant. Vous êtes au début de la vingtaine ou de la trentaine et on vous demande de créer une œuvre qui représente votre pays...

ES: It was a tremendous and formative honour that left a mark on the careers of many of that generation's top talents. It's an idea we've tried to renew by naming one of our very first speakers in Vancouver our 2017 Artist-in-Motion, Sonnet L'Abbé.

EL: Au cours des trois derniers mois, elle a parcouru le pays à bord de VIA Rail, et a assisté à la plupart des conférences. Nous lui avons demandé de composer un poème qui résume son expérience et ses réflexions. Mesdames et Messieurs... Sonnet L'Abbé.

ITEM 27
SONNET :

In four years, we will celebrate the 150th birthday of our nation.

150 years of Canada,

or — should I say —

since Confederation.

Quelle opportunité.

Quel moment de potentiel

de réfléchir

sur la Constitution

de notre Canada conceptuel.

J'ai voyagé à travers ce beau pays pendant huit semaines

talking to people about what Canada's big birthday could possibly mean for them.

And asking, can 2017

be more than the usual Canada Day scene?

so that kids can rock the day.

Faut que quelqu'un écrive une chanson qu'on peut tous apprendre et chanter.

Réduisons le prix des voyages

pour qu'on puisse découvrir notre pays,

Produisons davantage de minutes de patrimoine

So that we can know our own history.

Produisons des minutes de patrimoine

So that we can know our own history...

Now, the speakers at the conferences pushed at the concept of "we":

Oui, connaître l'histoire, c'est ben beau, mais l'histoire selon qui?

But one history kept cropping up in each corner of the nation, when people asked me: when we celebrate our birthday, or rather,

150 years since Confederation,

N'y aurait-il pas des gens

qui y pensent plutôt

as years of colonization?

Not everyone in our community can buy into a national unity

If we insist it became fact with the British North America Act.

How are we gonna deal with that?

Moi, j'étais renversée d'entendre folks from shore to shore to shore speak about First Nations

as the core our collective history.

From "something decisive must be done about the aboriginal situation," to "restore the honour of our country through reconciliation"

it is In the hearts

maintenant

of the people of this nation to reconcile the love they bear for their provinces and territories

with their full awareness of all the unofficial and nheaard stories that are our Canada.

We already know

Canadians are proud of our diversity.

Our inclusive, welcoming spirit gave birth to policy that in turn gave birth to me.

Et elle. Et elle. Et lui.

What I learned from Canadians is that this can't be our grandma's big Centennial.

This isn't 1967 anymore.

We're Gen Xers and millenials:

We're much more media savvy:

We stream the news. We tweet the scores.

We make tags like #sorandom compete with #IdleNoMore.

Pour nous, il n'existe pas d'identité canadienne fixe, notre culture et son expression exigent

le mash-up et remix.

In the 21st century we refuse to choose une histoire officielle, chaque région a ses ambitions and its own histories to tell how could we choose just one myth quand nous nous trouvons dans une ère où les fondations de la citoyenneté subissent des tremblements de terre.

(et non seulement sous les manifestations de cet hiver)

We've all had to think and what it means to be a citizen and what it means to be Canadian,

so while we will fill stadiums to rock out to Bieber or Fires Arcadian

we hunger for a vision of our nation

that embraces

both our drive to networked innovation and our ecological, raw, mammalian vulnerability.

Le mosaïque ne fonctionne plus pour décrire nos âmes non-linéaires :

Pour moi, le Canada est de la terre.

Un plat de Pétri tectonique et nous, des microbes qui bougent, qui se divisent et se recombinent dans son atmosphère réglementée.

And you and I are interacting cells in that Canadian culture.

My conscience like the river between Ottawa and Hull, sirs et madames, mes pensées coulent, comme un fleuve of consciousness of two colonizing tongues, une conscience qui passe between the rungs

de l'échelle du pouvoir :

pour moi, l'identité n'a jamais été question seulement de blanc ou noir.

Mes gènes se transforment, life makes genetic changes to my idea of a homeland and my attitude toward strangers;

elle n'est pas statique, la culture

d'une culture, ni statiques les membranes autour

de nos commuautés imaginés

our imagined communities of us and them, d'immigrant et d'indigène, d'autochtones et de pure laine.

What holds us together is this arc of sky we're moving in, la tranche de continent

called Canada

que l'on habite et sème et mine?

Ce n'est pas sang ni langue qui nous font "Canadian,"

it's that we share our air with these forests, on boit ces glaciers, and and through an ecology of official and unofficial stories breathe each other in.

So - que pensez vous - in 2017 can we celebrate a longer memory of what this land has seen?

Behind the maple-leaf-flag saris and inukshuks and poutine, could there be, has there ever been,

an autochthonous (which just means originating here, from this land)

an autochthonous Canadian dream?

ES: Amazing work, Sonnet. Thank you.

EL: Tout au long de la série de conférences, nous avons demandé aux Canadiens comment ils voulaient célébrer les 150 ans de la Confédération. Et comment ils souhaitent lancer la conversation avec leurs concitoyens et leurs communautés pour préparer cet anniversaire.

ES: The 2017 starts now conference series has inspired the creation of an official conversation kit that will make it possible for Canadians in every part of the country to continue the discussions and planning for Canada's 150th birthday year. It is posted on the 2017 Starts Now website and is available for everyone.

EL: La trousse de discussion est disponible sur le site web 2017debutemaintenant.ca. Nous tenons à remercier les conférenciers, collaborateurs et participants à chacune des conférences. Ce sont leurs idées et leur créativité qui sont à la base de nos discussions.

ES: Thanks, also, the audience who have been watching the live stream on the internet, and thanks to all of you for coming today. Emmanuelle, it's been such a pleasure to join you on stage today and to be a part of this morning's adventure.

EL: Réciproquement Evan! Et cette toute dernière conférence de la série Canda 150 / 2017 Débute maintenant a été des plus inspirantes. Mais ce n'est pas fini, nous avons une dernière surprise pour vous...

ES: Before we end the live webcast, we'd like to welcome to the stage a very special choir from l'école secondaire De La Salle.

EL : Sous la direction artistique de Robert Filion, accueillons la Chorale De La Salle.

ES et EL: Merci, thank you! Let's Dream Big for 2017!
Happy Canada Day! Bonne fête du Canada!

Il y a des gens qui prennent la parole au début qui ne sont pas identifiés
Est-ce un oubli? Me semble que tout le monde - les présentateurs - devraient l'être.

Finalement, il faudrait revoir les titres de tout le monde dans les deux langues (impossible avec un S-3I).

Mais globalement, c'est très bien et ca donne un bon aperçu de l'exercice - bravo pour le bilinguismel!!

Mayor Watson mentioned that he will participate in our conference on June 27.

We commissioned these giant 150 numbers for our 2010 NAC event. They're now housed at the museum of science and tech. Any interest in having them at the war museum wrap up? Just a thought.

Carole,
Je trouve qu'il manque un incitatif compte tenu que c'est la rencontre récapitulative. Je suggère donc d'ajouter une phrase après le paragraphe sur les animateurs comme:

Soyez témoins des grandes idées recueillies partout au Canada ou Venez entendre un résumé des idées recueillies partout au Canada et prendre part à votre tour à la conversation.

J'enlèverais le mot "spéciales" lorsqu'on parle des performances artistiques.

Hi
I hope you're doing well.

I wanted to let you know that we're good to store the drums onsite at the museum on Wednesday.

I'm connecting you by way of this email with the event team.

We're looking for the names and contact information for the drummers. We're also looking for Elder Thomas Louttit's contact information if possible.

For our script, I'm also hoping to get a bit of information so our hosts can appropriately introduce Elder Louttit and the drummers. Would you be able to send me some bullets or details?

Thanks in advance!

Hello all,

For clarity, I would like to outline my thoughts, understanding of the production and execution of the PPT/Keynote presentations. If we follow the rundown, there will need to be slides created to correspond with what is happening on the stage. This is not my area of expertise. I am not a PPT/Keynote producer. I can talk to it, but I can't create very well.

What I have done (file enclosed) is created a chart/storyboard of what I see being needed for the show. Once this is created, it will need to be translated and then we will need someone to run it. I can hire someone to do this, but if someone in the team is good at that, maybe this can fall to them.

Finally, if we are accepting already created presentations from other presenters, are we giving them a template to create them on so that they will be integrated with ours? There is nothing messier than seeing a string of presentations that are all on different backgrounds. Just my two cents.

I would love to have clarity on this so that I can manage this efficiently.

Thanks

My understanding is that our Ottawa speakers will not be using powerpoint — the only exception being Jowi's deck which is quite sophisticated and runs through keynote. I've run his presentation successfully from my macbook on several occasions. Otherwise, I understand that Chantal Petitclerc may use some fullscreen photos which are easy to embed. Likewise for any text or photos that may accompany Sonnet's poem.

I've spoken with Jowi and am confirming that will assist in running Jowi's presentation through keynote.

The video that may accompany Sonnet will be a video roll-in that I will prepare and deliver.

Please find the latest version of our show rundown. This should give you a sense of the flow. I am currently waiting to hear from Bruce about sourcing of white drapes/screen surround for the stage. This we would want to up light with either conventional fixtures or scrollers. Do you have anything like that in house?

Thanks again.

We are just in the process of drafting a full three day production schedule which we should have to you by tomorrow afternoon latest.

One question for you....what are your regular time crew days? 8, 9 or 10 hours? do they include meal break time? please advise and we'll factor that in our first draft.

Wednesday will be a later start....10 or 11am....but we'll wrap at 8:30 after a 7:30 - 8:30 rehearsal of Jowi Taylor.

thanks,

An 8:30pm end time is fine, but in an earlier email from it mentions an 8:30 rehearsal. Just want to confirm.

I still need a full schedule though. I currently have my techs in at 10am on the Wednesday until 7pm. At what time do you plan on starting the day?

I can adjust the end time but would much rather adjust all times at once so there's no confusion.

Same questions for Tuesday the 25th.

Thanks

What I do need pretty much immediately are the setup times. All I have at this point is an end time for Wednesday the 26th and rough start time. When do you need access to the theater and techs on Tuesday the 25th? At what time do you want to start the day on the 26th?

I was wondering if you could help me with something. Bruce, our technical director, is in Yellowknife at the moment and has limited access to the internet. I know that you and he have had a number of conversations. Unfortunately I was and nothing was captured on paper. Would you be able to send me any information? I am enclosing a list of questions that I sent to Bruce yesterday. I am not entirely sure what is coming from the museum and what TelAv is supplying. Once I understand that, I will be able to provide you with a load in schedule.

- Has a quote been put together for us from the Museum?
- We would also like to add to white drapery as both a screen surround and a backdrop. Do you have anything besides blacks in house?
- We would like to up light these draperies with Scrollers. Do you have anything like that in stock, or just conventional lighting.
- I thought I heard you say that the museum does not have a ramp that can accommodate us and that we were going to see if TelAv could supply. Please confirm. If it becomes too cost prohibitive to create a new ramp, if we have the stage left entrance as a ramp on the upstage side, do you have a ramp that could work there?
- The projector , as we discussed is indeed front projection. My concern was that we didn't see it powered up and I don't know what the lumens are. Can you confirm how bright the projector is?
- For Simultaneous interpretation, what is the cost of using your system? Can we still supply our own operators?
- For the 2nd camera, we thought we would put one in a wideshot lock off up near the lighting booth. The other could be handheld on the cameraperson's lap. We discussed this with CBC live yesterday. Could this work?
- And finally, has Bruce provided you with a wish list? Here is what I know we will need from a technical perspective:
    - plexi podium with two mics
    - two hand held wireless
    - a few interchangeable lavs
    - audio playback
    - video playback (to be supplied by CBC)

- Multimedia switching (we will be supplying two laptops, but need to be able to switch between main and back up)
- streaming capability (Bruce is coordinating). A quick question around this. Are there any internet issues in the building? Do we need to augment anything for our needs?
- we need a few different distinct lighting looks. Nothing too complicated, but we are aiming to make the presentations less "meeting" like and more theatrical. I am not a lighting designer, but I am able to verbalize this for you Also, we mentioned break away gobos Do you have any? If not, what kinds of fixtures do you have?
- COM for the keys (LX, Audio and Video), Stage Manager, Stage Right and possibly Stage Left.
- We are going to hang a screen below the booth for teleprompt. Where will the operator live?
- Where are we putting Simultaneous Interpretation? In the hall?
- We will need some mics for the choir. As I understand it, Bruce wants to hang them above the stage
- We will also need a mic and a DI for a guitar and singer. Do you have these?

That is it for now, I think. Have a read through and let me know your thoughts.

Thanks

On more thing. The collaborators' breakfast may need a bit of tech as well. I will have more information today, but I anticipate there will need to be a bit of audio in there. A mic on a stick and some speakers. I am jumping on a call in a few minutes and will hopefully come out of that with information.

Hi

Please find my answers and comments below:

s.19(1)

- Has a quote been put together for us from the Museum?

will help you with all things concerning budget as that is much more her domain.

- We would also like to add to white drapery as both a screen surround and a backdrop. Do you have anything besides blacks in house?

Black is all we have. Please keep in mind that we do not have a catwalk or fly system as the Barney Danson is not a traditional theatre space. Therefore, to install anything above the stage, we have to first remove the stage to get the lift in place. This will certainly add a few hours to the set up and strike.

* Please let me know ASAP if this is a go as I will need to adjust the technician's call times.

- We would like to up light these draperies with Scrollers. Do you have anything like that in stock, or just conventional lighting.

There are some Scrollers above the stage as overhead lighting but they would have to be readjusted to hit the back curtains. I would recommend LED fixtures as uplighting as they have a richer colour and can also be controlled by the tech if a variety of colours are needed.

- I thought I heard you say that the museum does not have a ramp that can accommodate us and that we were going to see if TelAv could supply. Please confirm. If it becomes too cost prohibitive to create a new ramp, if we have the stage left entrance as a ramp on the upstage side, do you have a ramp that could work there?

I took some measurements with our tech and our ramp will fit Stage Left. Please refer to the floor plan I sent yesterday to see how it will fit. It does block off that exit, but it's probably better than the front of the stage seeing as it will have a railing. My impression is that most or all of the entrances/exit were occurring Stage Right.

- The projector , as we discussed is indeed front projection. My concern was that we didn't see it powered up and I don't know what the lumens are. Can you confirm how bright the projector is?

The HD projector is 8000 lumins. Please see the attached spec sheet. (NOTE: the man pictured in the spec sheet is not included)

- For Simultaneous interpretation, what is the cost of using your system? Can we still supply our own operators?

I was under the impression Tel-Av was supplying the SI booth and equipment.

- For the 2nd camera, we thought we would put one in a wideshot lock off up near the lighting booth. The other could be handheld on the cameraperson's lap. We discussed this with CBC live yesterday. Could this work?

We could put the wideshot in the booth, but I can't have a camera in the top exits without an operator due to the fact that they are emergency exits. Having an unmanned camera in the back row of the bleachers could be an option as well.

- And finally, has Bruce provided you with a wish list? Here is what I know we will need from a technical perspective:
  - plexi podium with two mics Done
  - two hand held wireless Done
  - a few interchangeable lavs We'll have 4
  - audio playback CD player or iPod connector if need be
  - video playback (to be supplied by CBC)
  - Multimedia switching (we will be supplying two laptops, but need to be able to switch between main and back up) This is a Tel-Av thing
  - streaming capability (Bruce is coordinating). A quick question around this. Are there any internet issues in the building? Do we need to augment anything for our needs? I'm having two hardwired Internet lines installed. I am told they have an upload speed of 7M/sec (Bruce said he needed 5M/sec)
  - we need a few different distinct lighting looks. Nothing too complicated, but we are aiming to make the presentations less "meeting" like and more theatrical. I am not a lighting designer, but I am able to verbalize this for you Also, we mentioned break away gobos Do you have any? If not, what kinds of fixtures do you have? We have gobo and the LEDs I mentioned would be great for helping with a variety of looks.
  - COM for the keys (LX, Audio and Video), Stage Manager, Stage Right and possibly Stage Left. Done. I also believe the camera ops will need Clear-Com, but on a secondary channel.
  - We are going to hang a screen below the booth for teleprompt. Where will the operator live? That was not discussed. Where does he have to be?
  - Where are we putting Simultaneous Interpretation? In the hall? If they are going to be on-site, Tel-Av said they had a smaller booth which we could put at the top of the stairs leading to the tech booth.
  - We will need some mics for the choir. As I understand it, Bruce wants to hang them above the stage If we're removing the stage to install white drapes, etc. it would have to be done then. Is Bruce supplying these mics? I have a pair of AKG C414s on standby for the choir.
  - We will also need a mic and a DI for a guitar and singer. Do you have these? That won't be a problem.

Thanks Also just spoke with TelAv...they can provide the white drape on Pipes so we don't necessarily have to hang it. But, he is also sending me some samples of spandex, so I am not quite sure what we will do with that. If we don't need to take the stage out, this can save us a lot of time. We will just need to look at the positioning of the choir mics.

Stand by.

Just a heads up – we do not have the means to hang mics over the stage. If you want to do this, you will have to provide the mics and appropriate hardware.

Also, because there is no fly system or catwalk, we may have to remove some of the stage to gain access with the lift to attach the necessary hardware.

I was going to put them on the Proscenium Arch over the stage. I looked at it on Monday, and if there's a Man lift, it shouldn't take that long at all to hang. They would only be for the Television audience, not put into the P/A.
I will supply the 416's + long cables

Just want to make sure they'll able to do that.

Recap of follow up for today + tomorrow

Cc : CAROLE BRETON <carole.breton@cbc.ca>, Sarah Carney <sarah.carney@cbc.ca>

Hi Sheema,
As I've discussed with Carole, here are the top line-items for your follow up activity today and tomorrow:

1) For this afternoon, please re-send the Ottawa evite to all those on our list who have not yet responded, excluding the VIPs for CFC, VIA and CBC/Radio-Canada. (Note: please include the Chamber of Commerce contacts listed on the VIP tab.) The evite is to be the same as the last one used, but with the following as the subject: REMINDER / RAPPEL : INVITATION

Once the reminder has gone out, please keep moving ahead with the following:

2) Continue with your research and possible outreach to youth organizations in Ottawa. Carole is checking with a sports group in the area. Please continue to flag with Carole and me regarding any other suggested organizations and planned outreach.

3) Outreach to further academic contacts in Ottawa. Again, before making calls, please provide an overview to Carole and me listing who you intend to contact.

Naturally, we'll continue to track very closely the number of RSVPs we receive and will adjust our approach as required.

Thanks

Hello again.

After speaking with one of our techs, I have a few more questions for you:

- Is CBC bringing any lighting at all? (I'm pretty sure this is a no)
- Do you need us to color correct our default lighting (to emulate daylight, etc) for your cameras? This will require more set up time.

Since it's CBC dealing with Tel-AV, it would be great if I could get a fairly detailed list of what is coming from both them and CBC to ensure we have the necessary power available to everyone.

Thanks!

No - we need to do this tomorrow please Toni. Friday is not an option.

Hi All,

Montreal is not able to provide the resources for tomorrow (Thursday). They are checking if Friday is doable and will know in a couple of hours. Is Mr. de Gaspé Beaubien available to do this on Friday - if I could line up the crew. I'm sorry but this is fairly last minute and all resources are assigned for tomorrow.

Thanks

Hi

Is it only 1 person that we are shooting tomorrow or more than one?
If more than 1-would we shoot individually? I ask for equipment purposes.

ONLY ONE PERSON IS BEING RECORDED.

Then my last question is shoot location--send me those details once you know.

HELENE WILL PROVIDE ONCE SHE KNOWS.

I'm working on lining up videographer + promo producer to direct + other items on your email from last night.

GREAT - THANKS TONI! I WOULD LIKE TO SPEAK TO THE DIRECTOR ONCE HE/SHE IS BOOKED.

Bruce did you look at my list of technical questions that I need to get back to asap? I have included them again below.

First of all, I hope you had a safe journey to the great white north. Here are a few answers that came out of today and some questions for clarity...

- We will only be using 2 cameras for this event. We will place one in the back – locked off, and one in the audience in one of the bleacher seats. Only one of the camera persons from CBC Live will be coming – for now.
- I need clarification on where we will place Simultaneous interpretation so that I can get sign off on our end here. I also understand that the venue supplies this service. Are we using them or TelAv? If Tel Av, I need to get sign off on this as well.
- what is your take on the projector? We didn't see it up and running
- Who is hiring the teleprompter and operator? Is that coming from TelAv? This person needs to be bilingual
- Who is renting the key board?
- We need to get a ramp quoted for the handicapped speaker – who can do this for us?
- We will need a mic and stand for the guitarist. They will probably need a pick up for the guitar
- Can you please confirm that you will be bring the playback machine and back up for our videos for stores?

I think that is it for now. Thanks

- Here are my answers. Sorry folks but I'm up in Yellowknife preparing for this weeks event, and without a Cell phone (Rogers doesn't work up here), so I'm forced to log in every 15 minutes just to check for messages...
- We will only be using 2 cameras for this event. We will place one in the back – locked off, and one in the audience in one of the bleacher seats. Only one of the camera persons from CBC Live will be coming – for now.

What row will this camera be in? My guess is that it will block seats. That's why I suggested putting in those little aisle closets at the back. We also still need to book that Camera person (Pilar, who's available now that we know CBC Ottawa can't supply anyone)?

- I need clarification on where we will place Simultaneous interpretation so that I can get sign off on our end here. I also understand that the venue supplies this service. Are we using them or TelAv? If Tel Av, I need to get sign off on this as well.

Normally TelAv has been providing this service. and myself looked at putting them in the Hallway behind the Projection booth?

- what is your take on the projector? We didn't see it up and running

I seriously don't think we have many options here. If they can supply the better projector in the house, that's what we can use. There is no room for Rear Screen Projection (as we just don't have the required space), and 2 large TV's just won't cut it either...

- Who is hiring the teleprompter and operator? Is that coming from TelAv? This person needs to be bilingual

We're still trying from our end. As you are in Toronto, why not give a call and see what they can supply?

- Who is renting the key board?

???

- We need to get a ramp quoted for the handicapped speaker – who can do this for us?

- We will need a mic and stand for the guitarist. They will probably need a pick up for the guitar

TelAv will supply the extra Audio goods (no problems here...) s.19(1)

- Can you please confirm that you will be bring the playback machine and back up for our videos for stores?

I'll work on getting this from Technical Stores

I'll be checking in every 15 - 30 minutes....so please email me with any other questions

Thanks for the response. You will have to excuse me, but I don't know some of the people that you are referring to. So, for clarity, here are more detailed questions that might bring some clarity for me.

- who is your contact at TelAv who is supplying the quotes? May I get this
- We would also like to add to the list of goods, white drapery as both a screen surround and a backdrop.
- Scrollers to uplight the draperies
- I thought I heard Jarrett say that they don't have a ramp that can accommodate us and that we were going to see if TelAv could supply. Please confirm
- The projector , as we discussed is indeed front projection. My concern was that we didn't see it powered up and I don't know what the lumens are. If the projector is not bright enough, we will need to bring one in from TelAv
- For Simultaneous interpretation, does it make sense to use TelAv if the venue can supply the equipment. This could save us dough.
- I am also not sure what the deal with the venue is in regards to charge backs – CAROLE...do you know the answer to this?
- For the 2nd camera, I didn't see the "aisles" that you are referring to. We thought we would put one in a wideshot lock off up near the lighting booth. The other could be handheld on the cameraperson's lap. We discussed this with CBC live yesterday.
- Who is this additional camera person that you are looking for? Is this the person that will be switching the tricaster?
- Hiring a teleprompt operator out of Toronto may not be the best solution. CAROLE...do you know a bilingual operator?
- ALI...are you looking into the rental of the keyboard. I wasn't privy to that conversation.
- And finally, before we get everything from TelAv, can you please put together a wish list that I can share with He is looking at what it is that we need.

Thanks

Bonjour

Comment vas-tu? Ça fait bien longtemps....

Je travaille actuellement au Service des communications de Radio-Canada sur un projet de conférences en prévision du 150e anniversaire du Canada en 2017. J'ai d'ailleurs eu l'occasion d'en parler à ce printemps pour l'inviter à participer à la rencontre prévue à Montréal. À mon grand regret, il n'était pas disponible mais m'avait suggéré des conférenciers potentiels.

Mes collègues de CBC/Radio-Canada à Ottawa me demande maintenant d'inviter à la conférence récapitulative qui aura lieu le 27 juin prochain, à Ottawa. Je me tourne vers toi en espérant que tu pourras m'aider ou me diriger vers la personne à contacter ou encore m'indiquer quelle est la meilleure façon de procéder?

Tu trouveras ci-dessous tous les détails ainsi que l'invitation envoyée plus tôt cette semaine à une liste d'invités. Je te remercie à l'avance de l'aide que tu pourras m'apporter. Alors voici:

CBC/Radio-Canada, Via Rail Canada et les Fondations communautaires canadiennes, en collaboration avec d'autres organisations importantes de partout au pays, organisent, d'avril à juin 2013, une série de conférences intitulée "Canada 150 / 2017 débute maintenant". Cette initiative lance une conversation à l'échelle du pays, en prévision du 150e anniversaire du Canada (qui coïncide également avec le 375e de Montréal).

Les conférences visent à informer les Canadiens, à les inspirer et à servir d'incubateur à des projets locaux, régionaux ou nationaux, pour marquer ce jalon important. Elles ont lieu dans les deux langues officielles et rassemblent des citoyens et des influenceurs de communautés de toutes les régions du pays, qui représentent toutes les facettes de notre société.

Un événement récapitulatif des 11 conférences qui auront été tenues dans 11 villes différentes du Canada, aura lieu le 27 juin prochain, au Musée de la guerre, à Ottawa.

Dans le but de faciliter l'émergence d'idées lors de cette rencontre et d'engager des discussions animées, nous aimerions pouvoir compter sur l'appui de conférenciers, pour exposer dans une présentation de style TED (8 à 10 minutes), des idées, initiatives ou souhaits pour célébrer de belle façon cet anniversaire.

Chaque conférence est filmée et diffusée en direct sur le site www.2017débute maintenant.ca (tu peux d'ailleurs y voir les allocutions tous les conférenciers (entre 6 et 10 par conférence) ayant participé au projet à ce jour). Les conférences sont aussi publiées sur le site Internet de Radio-Canada et dans les deux langues.

Nous serions ravis que se joigne à nos conférenciers, le 27 juin prochain, à Ottawa. Le très Honorable David Johnston, Gouverneur Général du Canada ainsi que Hubert Lacroix, Président-directeur général de Radio-Canada seront également présents.

Je suis bien consciente que les délais sont serrés et que son agenda est sûrement très chargé mais ce serait vraiment génial de l'avoir pour la portion "conférenciers", laquelle sera suivie d'une session de travail en tables rondes pour les participants et agrémenter de quelques performances artistiques.

Je te laisse mes coordonnées à Radio-Canada: helene.forest-allard@radio-canada.ca , tél.: (514) 597-6548. Tu as déjà je crois celles à la maison (au cas:

Merci à l'avance. Ce serait vraiment apprécié que tu me confirmes réception de mon courriel. N'hésite surtout pas à communiquer avec moi si tu as des questions.

Au plaisir de te parler sous peu.

Bonjour
Thank you for the message left on my voice mail earlier today.
I have transmitted the information to my colleagues in Ottawa and the proposed option from Mr. de Gaspé Beaubien.

I am out of the office tomorrow but will try to get back to you as soon as I hear back from CBC/Radio-Canada, in Ottawa.

However, do you think that Mr. de Gaspé Beaubien would be more comfortable if we could change the time of his presentation on June 27 to11:00 am? I believe this would be feasible.

Thank you again Tiffany for your collaboration.

Can I please ask that you incorporate Ian Bird's quote and we should then have a final version. If you don't mind sending the final text to all copied... that would be great. (You'll also have to add the URL at the top!)

Jacinthe and I will review the translation - I will tonight; Jacinthe to look at the FR tomorrow morning.

Will you handle FR distribution as well or should I send to someone else? Not clear to me...

Many thanks.

Hi Bill,

We have received a request from from Postmedia to speak with you via phone today regarding the Canada 150/2017 Starts Now finale presentation.

Are you available at some point today for a phone interview? Please let me know what timing works best. Also, please let me know your preference as to if you would prefer to contact the reporter, or if you would rather her contact you.

Please see her inquiry below:

Are you able to provide me with the best ideas that came out of the conferences?
Also, what types of people have participated in the conferences? (i.e. Regular citizens? Youth? Organisations?)
I'd like to get an idea of how the conferences worked, who showed up, what was discussed, what ideas came from which areas of the country.
Finally, what are the next steps after this final conference tomorrow? And is there someone I can I speak to about what is going to happen between now and 2017?

Many thanks,

Renee

Hey Shaun,

I have now told our two partners that we are forwarding the report to Parliamentarians. We should send them the final letter so they know what has been sent and when.

Also, we have a video that we will use at the event Thursday. I'll forward it to you under separate cover. Is it worth sharing that with anyone?

Paragraphe sur les coanimateurs

Carole Breton <carole.breton@cbc.ca>
À : Martine Menard <martine.menard@cbc.ca>

24 juin 2013 16:58

Bonjour Martine,

Je viens de parler à et lui dire comment modifier le rapport à partir de tes commentaires.

Tu mentionnes que le paragraphe sur les coanimateurs, le bilinguisme, etc, est trop détaillé. Il est d'avis que ça ajoute au document.

Selon moi, on devrait le laisser. C'est beaucoup de détails, mais d'un autre côté, ça peut inspirer un organisateur d'événement à penser àa cette approche. Et ça nous donne de la visibilité.

D'accord pour qu'on le laisse?

Hi

The revised text is fine by me. You can finalize the Conference Summary in English based on our conversation last night. Let me know when I can expect it, I have a colleague standing by to do the French revision.

I have a question for the team: the Conference Summary invites people to subsribe to the e-newsletter (very last page of the summary). Should this be deleted?

I need three hours to lay out the french, so assuming that I can start within an hour of receiving it you can get it fairly shortly. However, it MUST go to print at 9am tomorrow. I was anticipating doing it late afternoon, evening — meaning you will need to sign-off before 9am tomorrow. I'm afraid there will not be time for anything but the most minor corrections.

Hi All,

Helene - sorry we were cut off when you asked your question.

The item is currently approx 5:20.

I screened all the material with David Oile yesterday. We agreed that it worked better to keep his full comments, rather than trim to get it down to the originally planned time of 4:00. All of the other presenters will be at least 6:00 and we felt he was compelling, charming and worked at the longer length.

Hi John and Carole,

Here is the background video for Sonnet. I think it works very nicely....it will make her performance more immersive for the viewer and gives an impression of her coast to coast to coast experience on this journey.

Let me know your approval. Should I be sharing this with anyone else for approval?

I put a shift in last night to finish the sonnet tweet BG. It was extensive.
Here is the Approval copy. Runs 6:10. I didn't think 10 extra second would matter.

Thanks, I very much appreciate this effort, but I am not sure this is going to work for a couple of reasons:

- first, I think the balance of French vs English is a real concern
- second, I was hoping that we might go with something a little more abstract, artistic – this feels more like a straight up powerpoint/travelogue than an artistic visual accompaniment

Let's go with it as is and see what it looks like tomorrow. Unless you think there's time to change it??

As I said when I called you. This is what she suggested we do.

Your point taken....as a backup, how about Robert and I just cut a bg montage of the photos? That way the tweets won't compete too much and the issue of equal french / english in the texts will not be an issue. Please confirm that you like this alt suggest asap and Robert and I can tackle this.

All of these videos must be approved and complete by 3pm today to meet our production deadlines and so we can share files in good time.

I honestly think that we might want to think about using the Canadian flag behind her...?
If you want to do a photo montage, and if you have time, then that might work also.

I'm sorry that I can't be more specific/decisive on this. But my intuition is that we may just be creating a distraction.

It needs to be really dramatic.

Because of how we are technically set up, I wouldn't recommend introducing text from her poem. We have no way to control the timing of her spoken word to the video.

If we were in a control room situation with a chyron operator, we could do live fly-ins of the text over a background by following Sonnet speaking live....but we are not equipped to do that.

I'll have the following to experiment with Sonnet tomorrow:

- the tweets with photos bg montage
- the photos only bg montage
- the slow-mo Canadian flag

s.19(1)

What I can tell you to help today is that the video needs to last 3 minutes only (4 maximum). It needs to be bilingual with priority to the French (i.e. more French than English). s.21(1)(b)

The content of the French video is more pertinent.

We wanted Mr. de Gaspé Beaubien to talk about 3 topics:
- brief mention about the Expo 67 and what it has made to Canada (30-40 sec.)
- His vision of Canada today
- His thoughts about how we should celebrate the 150th anniversary.

I hope this helps. I will call you tomorrow morning.

Have a great day.

Martine wanted to have another look at it, to avoid redundant messages between Hubert's speech and the script.

I know we wanted everything for today, but can we tweak the script if the cohosts want to make changes?

If it's not a possibility, they will read off the paper, which they're comfortable with.

Will it be easy to provide footage to media? Or will it be best that they just film and record what they need?

Hi
So is this the final French that will be revised by everyone or are you getting the translation done?
If it's the version that needs to be revised, please share with the team who was copied on the French text I've provided earlier.

The ramp on the side of the stage

Bonjour Chantal,

The ramp that we've put in place right now is very large. We would like the opportunity to use a smaller ramp, but it would be steeper.
Are you comfortable with that?
My colleague can send you photos tomorrow if you wish to have a look at them.
Feel free to use what is the most comfortable for you.

Merci,

Bonjour Carole,

We can try the steeper ramp. Worse thing that can happen is we will need a volonteer to help me up the ramp. Standart good ramp is a ratio of 1:5 witch means that for every foot of hight, for exemple, it needs to be 5 foot long. But that's just a common mesure.

Do what is best for the event and we will make it work.

Do you agree with this approach? Do you have another suggestion?

I can draft something and run it by you. I'd need your CEO's electronic signatures, if we move forward with this idea. They would have to be sent before next Friday.

Hi Carole,

I don't think we need to create an email database for our speakers. We reached out to them through so many different existing channels and I don't think we need to email them on a continual basis for this project.

I sent personal notes of thanks to the hosts and to the local planning teams in cities where I was the project lead. This may be a nice thing to do for your speakers, hosts and planning team today before the long weekend.

We can work on a larger more formal thank you on Tuesday with John's input.

Sincerely,

Carole,
As discussed yesterday, here are the letters sent to various stakeholders after the Montreal event. To summarize:
- A thank you letter has been signed by Louis Lalande and sent to the guest speakers;
- A thank you letter also signed by Louis Lalande has been sent to all delegates;
- A thank you message has been co-signed by James and myself to those who worked directly on the Montreal conference (sent by e-mail)
- I took the opportunity of transmitting the thank you letter from Louis Lalande to each guest speaker to personally thank their Communication Manager with who I dealt in the course of the project.

I hope this will help.

Hi,
Since we are posting the full conference (where the Ottawa photo currently appears), we do require the translation of Sonnet's intro as well as the chosts's presentation before the choir performance.

Peter said the translation team left before the conference was over. Please confirm this information and the actual impact on the archived conference.

We have to find a solution to provide full translation of the final conference.

Thank you,

Hi,

Can we confirm that they left before the conclusion of the conference? I want to follow up with the company and our contract. We won't be paying for additional translation for these pieces as it is very expensive to book time for translators and a studio recording. They were booked until 12 noon so please let me know the end time of yesterday's event and I will follow up.

Hi Sarah,

Here are some photos from today, I chose 10 but can send others right away if you need them. They are sized for web (wasn't sure if you needed them cropped to a specific dimention).

Note - there is one photo of the elder. I wasn't sure if we weren't supposed to take picture when he was talking, or altogether... so I snapped one. Please do not circulate this photograph unless otherwise approved by Sarah.

I'll probably email a few more along and dropbox the rest.

I am including Sarah Lue - just in case there were plans to post on the facebook.

It was really nice working with everyone today. I hope you had a lovely afternoon.

Joanne.

Thank you so much Joanne. These images are beautiful. It is against protocol to take pictures of elders when they are saying a prayer; however, I think your image of the drum circle is fine.

Thank you for taking these photos. It was a fun day and i hope you enjoyed it too.

Hi Carole and Pascale,
Attached is the French version of the Roles & Responsibilities document for tomorrow's conference. As indicated in an email from yesterday, please print 10 copies of this document and bring them to the War Museum when meeting with the rest of the group later today so they can be inserted into the info kits for those who'll be working the event.

For your reference, I've also attached a copy of the original English document so that you can do a comparison before printing copies. (Please note that extra copies of the English document are not required as I believe they have already been printed by

Hi Pascale,

We can make the below changes to the english roles and responsibilities document, but I want to flag that we have already printed all copies and they are currently with Sarah as part of the briefing packages.

If you would like us to make changes, we will need someone in Ottawa to re-print 25 copies and distribute them to the onsite team at the 3 p.m. briefing.

Please let us know how you would like us to move forward.

Thanks,

I'm going to adjust the French version - some changes required in the translation.

P.S. For the ENG version, please delete Angus McKinnon's name as he won't be on site to handle the media. (p. 8)

Other important thing: on p. 6, we should put Talent and VIP Wranglers (Kelly S., Hélène F-A, and Pascale.)

Just below, VIP Handlers should be Media Handlers - important clarification please. Will adjust the FR accordingly.

MERCI.

Hi

Copying John and Anne-Marie, as this is something they may want to have input on.

To answer a few questions, I have copied the text from Carole's previous email below:

Hello,
The Mayors will both arrive at around 10:30 am.
(your schedule indicates 10am)
One of the volunteers will be outside the room waiting for them (at the reception table, main entrance), and escort them to backstage area.

Hubert is not attending breakfast, he will arrive at 9 (no later than 9:15).

We had talked about havgint he 3 CEO's (VIA, CBC/Radio-Canada and CFC) in the VIP room, waiting for Hi Excellency to arrive. I'd like to add Peter Charbonneau, our board member, who will sit in the fron row, beside the GG (so they can briefly meet).
So the people who are greeting the GG are the 3 CEOs, James Whitman, and Peter Charbonneau.

Will Mr. Blais also be in the VIP room? Starting at what time? We'll add that info on the rundown of events.

Carole

So, everything else looks good to me but the others copied here may feel differently!

Hope this helps.

Thanks,
Ali

Hi John,

Please see the media inquiry below for Canada 150 from Postmedia - I can certainly provide some of the info below to the reporter, however, we may need to defer a few of the questions to a spokesperson. Ideally, if we can have someone speak to the reporter tomorrow to provide a better sense of the conference, that would be helpful.

Please let me know your thoughts,

Thanks,

Hi Renee.

Thank you for the information. I have a few questions just to help give me a better sense of what the conference is all about:

Are you able to provide me with the best ideas that came out of the conferences?
Also, what types of people have participated in the conferences? (i.e. Regular citizens? Youth? Organisations?)
I'd like to get an idea of how the conferences worked, who showed up, what was discussed, what ideas came from which areas of the country.
Finally, what are the next steps after this final conference tomorrow? And is there someone I can I speak to about what is going to happen between now and 2017?

Thank you,

Hi Carole,

Some of the questions the reporter posted below, I'm not sure if we will release in advance of the event (the questions specifically about some of our key findings and next steps), but please advise. I can provide any of the other information in advance, however, I wanted to ensure I wouldn't be quoted as a spokesperson for some of her more detailed questions.

Bonjour,
A few tweaks based on David's email.

- movement has to be changed to mouvement (with the u)
- Lynda and Cindy are also interprète (singer). Is there room to add that? auteure-compositrice-interprète
- Connot L'Abbé, David can the accent missing in Vancouver, it seems to be fine elsewhere, double-check
- Title of conference series to be all caps like it is in French and like we've used in previous documents. Pascale mentioned that it should be bold at times, perhaps we can keep all caps no bold in both English and French for consistency
- Also, it is sometimes the full title CANADA 150/ 2017 STARTS NOW. Perhaps the first reference should be the long title and then we keep to 2017 STARTS NOW
- Conversation kit: replace ".Visit" by "at" (last sentence)
- named in the document and in the speakers list. Should be
- Programs show should be written in italics (Late Night, Dragons's Den, Arctic Air)
- Yes, the Business Families Foundation is in English only.

- Page 3 spread, first line under the header, change "inspire" to "inspires", ("There is something about national anniversaries that naturally inspires…")
- Page 3 spread, 2nd column, 3rd paragraph down, remove "a" so the line reads "…who volunteered to be part of the program." (reads a bit better than "to be a part of…")

- Page 3 spread, 3rd column, 2nd paragraph, lower case the two "d"s and the "h" in Société d'histoire de Toronto
- Page 4 spread, Montreal section, omit the "the" before "Moment Factory", so the line reads "Eric Fournier from Moment Factory..."
- Same column, Charlottetown section, suggest adding a th after 125, but your call on this one
- Page 5 spread, change "Beech" to "Beach" in photo caption
- Page 5 spread, 2nd column, 2nd paragraph, suggest inserting a comma after "Typically", and three lines down from this, inserting a hyphen for "two-hour session"
- Page 6 spread, 2nd column, Art Train section, suggest inserting hyphens for "fast-growing" and "fast-moving"
- Page 7 spread, 1st column, Trans Canada Chain section, suggest inserting ", making it visible" so the line reads "...would be used to illuminate this chain, making it visible from space." (otherwise, it suggests we are illuminating the trail from space)
- Page 8 spread, near bottom of 1st column, section about Sonnet, insert a comma after "one of the speakers", so it reads "...Sonnet L'Abbé, one of the speakers, was approached by..."
- The remaining edits are to be made to the OUR SPEAKERS section found on the last page:
  (Most changes involving accented characters.)
- Vancouver section: change "L'Abbe" to "L'Abbé"; change "Gaetan" to "Gaëtan"
- Toronto section, after Christian Bode, correct with accented characters and capping as follows: Société d'histoire de Toronto; move the "h" in the last name of "Che Khotari" to "Che Kothari"
- Saskatoon section: change "Genevieve Garon" to "Geneviève Garon"
- Winnipeg section, change "Aimee Craft" to "Aimée Craft"; change "Remeo Dallaire" to "Reméo Dallaire", and for the host, change "Genevieve" to "Geneviève"
- Montreal section: change "Culture Montreal" to "Culture Montréal"; for Pierre Lavoie, the full name of his organization is "Le Grand défi Pierre Lavoie" (note the accent on the "e" and lower case "d" in "défi"); change "Genome Quebec" to "Génome Québec"
- Halifax section: change "Nouvelle-Ecosse" to "Nouvelle-Écosse"
- Change the header for the "Yellowknife & The North" to "Yellowknife" (since we didn't connect with other locations); suggest spelling out NWTel to "NorthwesTel"; and change "Leo-Paul" to "Léo-Paul"
- Ottawa section: for Philippe de Gaspé Beaubien, did we want to include an organization? The 2017 site lists "Business Families Foundation"

That's it. All should be clear and straightforward, but if you have any questions and need to reach me urgently, call me on my personal cell at 416-451-8490. As per my note to you earlier today, I'm leaving the review of the latest French document to Carole and Pascale.

Now you can pay attention to the images — though not the quality. I've exported these files low res. Note that I haven't used as many photos as I'd have liked because too many of them are of poor quality, low lighting or from the wrong angle.

In the french version, ignore page breaks and end of line hyphenation. I'm working on that now.

2 very short items in blue still need translation, which I'm hoping David can provide, or I'll piece together from other docs.

Otherwise we're in good shape.

Hi
The word mouvement is in the new text provided in David's email. It would be when we refer to Sonnet as Artiste en mouvement in the Conference Summary

For Lynda and Cindy, Singer/songwriter is translated in French it has to be auteure-compositrice-interprète.

Carole

2013/6/26

GREAT. ALL CHANGES MADE IN GREEN.

ONLY TWO QUESTIONS.

- movement has to be changed to mouvement (with the u)

WHERE IS THIS?

- Lynda and Cindy are also interprète (singer). Is there room to add that? auteure-compositrice-interprète

WHY IN THE ENGLISH VERSION? IT LISTS BOTH AS SINGER-SONGWRITERS?

- Sonnet L'Abbé. David saw the accent missing in Vancouver, it seems to be fine elsewhere, double-check.
- Title of conference series to be all caps like it is in French and like we've used in previous documents. Pascale mentioned that it should be bold at times, perhaps we can keep all caps no bold in both English and French for consistency
- Also, it is sometimes the full title CANADA 150/ 2017 STARTS NOW. Perhaps the first reference should be the long title and then we keep to 2017 STARTS NOW
- Conversation kit: replace ".Visit" by "at" (last sentence) (I NEED IT THIS WAY TO NOT BREAK THE URL OVER THE LINE

Re-bonjour
As the bios that you provided in English and French were not identical, I took on me to adapt the French to the English (as English seemed to be the most updated version).
Would you please have a quick look at the revised version and provide your approval.
I am really sorry to put pressure on you, but I would need it before end of day, today. I really want to have it posted on the Internet on time for the Conference on Thursday.
I would also urgently need a photo of Mr. de Gaspé Beaubien.

Thank you so much

As it will be bilingual, I wanted to know who will review the French to make sure there are no mistakes.
Who will coordinate the translation? could translate it.

Hi
Please share the confirmed speakers with her (Bruce Croxon, Jowi Taylor, Mayor of Ottawa Jim Watson, Sonnet L'Abbé, Chantal Petitclerc, Lynda Thalie). you can also mention that the 3 CEO's will be speaking and attending the conference as well as the cohosts. To me, they also contribute to the profile of the event.

À : EVAN SOLOMON <evan.solomon@cbc.ca>

Hi Evan,

As per our phone conversation, we're happy to have you as a cohost for the summary conference at the War Museum in Ottawa, June 27, from 9 am to 1 pm. (the plan is to wrap-up earlier). More info on the series at www.2017startsnow.ca.

We'd like to have you there at 8:30 for a brief soundcheck. Emmanuelle Latraverse will be your counterpart. We're thrilled.

The event: Canada 150/2017 Starts Now is a series of 12 conferences held across the country. It started on April 5th in Vancouver and will wrap-up in Ottawa on June 27.

The Ottawa summary event will be different than previous conferences: we'll have speakers as well as a summary presentation of the conferences that were held across the country. Sonnet L'Abbé will unveil a national poem created as part of the conferences.

Confirmed speakers are: Mayor Jim Watson, Bruce Croxon, Jowi Taylor, Chantal Petitclerc, Lynda Thalie.

We'll prepare the script and the event roll-out. My objective is to have everything finalized by Monday, June 24, so you have a few days to look at it.

Feel free to contact me if you have any questions. I can also drop by if you want to chat.

Bonjour

Nous aimerions aller de l'avant et confirmer la participation de Lynda Thalie à la conférence du 27 juin, à Ottawa. Elle sera l'une des six conférenciers invités. Son allocution sera de 5 minutes (avec soutien technique, power point et vidéo si elle le souhaite).

feront le suivi. Elles s'expriment dans la langue de Shakepeare, j'espère que ça te va. S'il y a quoi que ce soit, n'hésite pas à communiquer directement avec moi.

Au plaisir de te voir en Outaouais et de pouvoir jaser de vive voix!

Hello

Sorry for the delay, It's been a very positive and busy week for Lynda Thalie as she has launched her new album NOMADIA and press conference.
She will be on RDI (Radio-Canada TV) this sunday morning for an interview broadcasted across Canada at 10h00 am.

for Ottawa for the conference. Carole Breton from Radio-Canada hinted a possible LIVE performance.
I suggested this song called (DANCE YOUR PAIN AWAY) in french, english and arabic. This song is a huge HIT on commercial radio's in Quebec and the TOP Itunes francophone sales charts.
It is a song of hope and keeping your head up always with pride. Like I mentionned to Carole, It is a possibility for Lynda to perform of course Here's the video link of Lynda's new clip on this HIT song Dance your pain away.(6000 hits in 48 hours).

Good morning

Lynda really wants to participate and get to meet all these wonderful guests June 27th. I know this is a small participation, but I have to reserve the whole day in her agenda.

This way, I put it in her agenda for good and spread the word. :)

Hi
Thank you very much for your quick response!

The targeted audience for the conference is approximately 200 leaders from government, non-profit, business, culture and community organizations. This is an invitation-only event and there is no fee for tickets.

This event is being hosted by CBC/Radio-Canada, in partnership with VIA Rail and Community Foundations of Canada.

This will be the final of 12 conferences that have taken place across the country in preparation for Canada's 150th anniversary in 2017.

I'm happy to chat by phone if that's easier.

Thanks again for your help!

Who is the targeted clientele and is their tickets or entrance fee? Is this in relation with CBC, Radio-Canada?
What is the financial proposal for Lynda Thalie?

Thanks in advance for all the information.

Hi
has asked me to follow-up with you on the Thursday, June 27 conference in Ottawa. We're happy to hear that is available!

The conference will be held at the War Museum from 9 am - 12:30 pm, followed by a light lunch.

The other confirmed speakers are Jowi Taylor, Bruce Croxon, Chantal Petitclerc, Lynda Thalie, Jim Watson (Mayor of Ottawa). I can provide you with more information on each of them if need be. Two more speakers will be confirmed shortly.

Since the Ottawa event will be the last conference of the series, we also have other elements planned such as an unveiling of a national poem by Sonnet L'Abbé and a summary presentation of the conferences that were held across the country since April 5, 2013.

Feel free to contact me if you have other questions.

Have a great day,

Hello Evan,

Leslie Wasserman told me that you had accepted to be the cohost of the Ottawa conference of Canada 150 / 2017 Starts Now. That's great!

I wanted to make sure it was still on your radar. Also, we will probably plan a rehearsal the day before. I'll keep you posted.

I've extended an invitation to Emmanuelle Latraverse to cohost with you. I'll be following up on that shortly.

Feel free to contact me if you have any questions. I'm on the third floor, happy to go see you in the newsroom!

Bonjour

Merci d'avoir pris le temps de prendre l'appel. La série de conférences d'appelle Canada 150/2017 débute maintenant. Elles se déroulent partout au pays et la toute dernière aura lieu à Ottawa le jeudi 27 juin au Musée de la guerre de 9 h à midi. www.2017debutemaintenant.ca.

Jowi Taylor est à la tête du projet Six String Nation http://www.sixstringnation.com/. Il a fabriqué une guitare avec du bois ayant une signification historique et en provenance de partout au pays. Nous voulons donner vie à cette guitare et c'est pour cette raison que nous invitons Catherine Durand à prendre la parole (de 3 à 5 minutes) et à jouer une chanson, de son répertoire, ou, ce qui serait bien, ça serait une chanson ayant une symbolique pour elle et le pays : la célébration, l'anniversaire de 2017, etc. Elle pourrait nous faire des propositions et on la choisira ensemble.

Ce sont des collègues de Toronto qui s'occupent des contrats, perdiem, etc. est copiée sur ce courriel. Le suivi se fera en anglais. Ça vous va? Sinon, je peux traduire.

En espérant que ça fonctionne.

Merci et bonne fin de journée, s.19(1)

Thanks

I'd like her to speak 3 to 5 minutes and sing a song of her repertoir, but ideally, a song that resonates with her on celebrations, identity, Canada, something along those lines. If she wants, she can propose a few options and we can choose with her. I think that a shorter song (3 minutes?) would be best, if they ask.

How did chose the song?

I hope your designers can work with this and have a "plain language" approach, so that visually the message is clear.

Hello John,

s.19(1)

The other option, as brought up by Hélène to me yesterday, would be to ask the choir director to propose a song that would be a perfect fit with our event. It would be content that they can rehearse and are familiar with.

We will already have a French singer playing Jowi's guitar (we're waiting to hear back from so the choir could be on it's own singing a bilingual song at the end of the event (inspirational and upbeat).

Carole

2013/5/28 JOHN WIMBS <john.wimbs@cbc.ca>

Thanks, Carole. The song isn't a total home run in terms of its messaging, but we can make it work if we take care in positioning it properly, and also, I think, in working out a way for Lynda to address the audience somehow... we can work that out. If this is okay with Bill et al I would like to push forward. I've already begun the outreach on getting a choir and I have a good lead at De La Salle.

I will move forward on this right away so as not to lose any time -- but please let me know we're ok.

I am copying Anne Wiltshire here from CBC Ottawa who is going to be able to help... Anne, I'll send you more details shortly.

I've also copied Andrea and David -- Will explain later. Thanks all.

(École secondaire publique De La Salle is a French public junior high and high school in downtown Ottawa, Ontario under the CÉPEO. It is recognized mainly for its artistic excellence program: the Centre d'Excellence Artistique. Wikipedia)

2013/5/27 Carole Breton <carole.breton@cbc.ca>

Hello,
Please see Lynda Thalie's video below as well as her producer's explanation. The song is trilingual (English, French and Arabic).
Entitled Dance your pain away, it is a song about resilience and hope. One of the videos has the lyrics.
Technically speaking, Patrick Cameron says he can provide the playback and the choir could sing to it (easily, not much of rehearsal).
Thoughts?
Carole
From Patrick Cameron: "En 18e position des top 40 palmarès francophone des radios au Québec. J'ai la trame sonore (Playback). La chorale chante par dessus avec Lynda et le tour est joué. Pas besoin de répétition ou de technique sonore compliqué et ca va sonner super. Écoute la et remarques les HEYYYY au début et dans les refrains pour la chorale.

C'est la 1er fois de l'histoire des radios commercial au Canada qu'une chanson d'une immigrante reçu maghrébine à un succès radio avec des paroles en français, arabes et anglais. "

Voici en grande primeur le lien pour visionner son nouveau clip. (Annoncer plus tard aujourd'hui).

A SAMPLING OF THEMES AND IDEAS FOR 2017

Here are some of the common themes and most popular ideas that emerged from the conferences. Think of them as building blocks for future initiatives or further conversations that may inspire you or your organization.

EMPOWERING YOUTH

Conference delegates across the country were quick to underscore the importance of engaging young people in 2017 preparations. But more than volunteering to help existing organizations, young Canadians — especially young adults — should take the reins, develop their own organizations and goals, and make 2017 a generational moment.

My Canada in 150 | Vancouver
Youth leaders could be engaged to lend their voice and vision for Canada's future. Across the country, young people could work together to develop 150 priorities to help build a better Canada. These ideas could form the basis for a broader strategy of youth engagement.

Take to the rails | Vancouver
With special 2017 VIA discounts, young Canadians could take advantage of the opportunity to experience Canada and travel across the country. Social media could help them connect online, share their experiences and build their networks.

It started with a canoe | Calgary
A national contest would combine education and art by encouraging kids to paint canoes and learn about life in 1867 Canada. These canoes would serve as lasting art installations in communities and remind all Canadians of the country's origins.

150 things to do | Calgary

The 2017 Log Book project | Saskatoon
Elementary students across the country would make log books throughout 2017. They would be challenged to conduct random acts of kindness and document their good deeds using creative art, photos and stories.

Generational exchange | Montreal
Young people could partner with senior citizens in their communities. They would take time to foster a friendship and share information. Young people would learn about local history and from lives well lived, while seniors could enjoy perspective of an upcoming generation.

Students' corner | St. John's
Highschool students could develop and produce video vignettes to express what it means to be Canadian. These videos would be posted online, where people could vote and comment on their favourites. Teachers could use the vignettes as educational tools to learn about communities across the country.

SHOWCASING THE ARTS

The role of arts and culture in giving voice to our national life is cherished by Canadians. The arts provide a vocabulary to cut across barriers and convey important ideas that often go unexpressed in daily life. Many delegates see 2017 as an opportunity to invest in Canadian artists, showcasing new and celebrated work across the country, and on international stages. Canadian artists should be ambassadors for the country, and the beneficiaries of new 2017 commissions to commemorate this anniversary.

The Great Canadian Songbook | Vancouver
A national competition could spark the creation of a collection of songs to mark and celebrate Canada's 150th anniversary. Emerging artists could collaborate with established musicians to develop original songs. This would promote new talent, twinned with nationally recognized names.

Murals with a message | Vancouver
Large murals could be commissioned in urban spaces in major cities across the country. A common theme, such as local history, could help to connect the series. These murals could be funded by local business improvement areas as their contribution to 2017 celebrations.

2017 Art Train | Vancouver
This 2017 Art Train would bring together artists from across the country. At each stop and city, the train could add another piece of art to its collection. Canadians would be encouraged to board the train and view this fast growing and fast moving exhibit.

Public art campaign | Saskatoon
Building on the success of similar community art projects in the 1990s, cities could identify a local animal mascot, such as gophers in Saskatoon. Artists would design and decorate these sculptures in unique ways. These mascots would be displayed throughout each participating city.

Canada-stock | St. John's
A tour of popular Canadian musicians could travel across the country in the summer of 2017. Concerts would be free and include a combination of up-and-coming and legendary Canadian artists.

Moving pictures | Toronto
Canadians could be challenged to develop a video, using a resource-packed online toolkit. On July 1, 2017, a compilation of these videos could be displayed in outdoor public spaces across the country.

CONNECTING PEOPLE AND PLACES

Technology allows Canadians to connect and build networks like never before. The opportunities to leverage social media tools in 2017 are nearly endless. But despite this fascination with all things virtual, it's equally important that Canadians still have the chance to travel the country and meet one another, face to face.

Open Doors Canada | Moncton
On the same day across the country, significant buildings such as historical sites, iconic landmarks, innovative architectural spaces, places of worship, national parks, museums and galleries, could agree to be open to the public for free, building on numerous local Doors Open events that already take place across the country.

National Oath Day | Winnipeg
In 2017, one hour could be designated for all Canadians to take a citizenship oath simultaneously. Canadians could be encouraged to write their own oath, schools could host oath-writing competitions, and newspapers could share inspiring oaths crafted by famous Canadians. This would enable all Canadians to acknowledge the history of newcomers, the experience of first peoples, and reaffirm their shared commitment to Canada. This would become an annual tradition and a legacy of the year.

North x 150 | Saskatoon, St. John's & Vancouver
Starting on January 1, 2017, Canadians could be encouraged to commit to doing something (anything!) 150 times before Canada Day to improve themselves, their community, and their country. This could include volunteer work, speaking in another language, creating art projects, introducing oneself to neighbours, or donating to charity. Canadians would be asked to submit their accomplishments, and a list of these feats would be promoted online in the run-up July 1, 2017 and incorporated into Canada Day celebrations.

TransCanada Chain | Calgary and Charlottetown
People could use the TransCanada Trail to create a human chain that crosses the country. Organized online, flashlights, spotlights, candles, glow-sticks, and fireworks would be used to illuminate this chain from space. Satellite photos or Canadian astronauts could capture and report the endeavor and showcase Canada's sense of community to the world.

Canada Day Toolkit |St. John's
Celebration toolkits could be developed to help community groups, large and small, create memorable Canada Day celebrations. The toolkit would encourage groups to interpret and integrate a common theme into their celebrations, threading events together in a celebration of both diversity and shared values. This would ensure July 1, 2017 is a celebration befitting of our country.

PROMOTING CANADA ON A GLOBAL STAGE

Canadians are looking forward to 2017 celebrations that can showcase Canada internationally. This would help to promote our achievements and our diverse culture. It would also engage the nearly 4 million Canadians who live abroad.

The world needs more Canada | Charlottetown

An online campaign could be launched by a consortium of business and research partners to promote Canadian innovation to international markets. This could include promoting our history of breakthroughs in research and technology, promote internationally recognized field-leaders, and showcase Canada's emerging innovation hubs.

True ex-patriot love | Toronto
Canadians living abroad could be encouraged to take five minutes to tell a story on video about what it means to be a Canadian living outside our borders. These could be posted together online, and curated into video montages for distribution in the run-up to Canada Day 2017. Messages would encourage Canadians to think about what we share and what it means to be Canadian in a globally-connected era.

2017 abroad | Vancouver and Calgary
Canadians living in other countries could be equipped with tool kits to plan for 2017 celebrations wherever they find themselves. The toolkit could include an international networking site to help people find other Canadians and Canada-lovers nearby. This would connect Canadians to their home base and also give people in other countries the opportunity to learn more about Canada.

Take it to Guinness | Halifax and Toronto
Communities across Canada could be encouraged to take part in a record-breaking activity. Activities could be Canada-themed — the most people singing a national anthem, drinking maple syrup, or saying a phrase Inuktituk. Ambitious communities could endeavor to create the 'world's largest [fill in the blank]' — already a time-honoured Canadian tradition. Together, Canada could then create a new record and encourage other countries to try and beat it: 'The Most Records Set by a Single Country in a Single Year'.

RENEWING OUR COMMUNITIES

The need to invest in our cultural, social and physical infrastructure was a focal point for many conversations. This is seen as a shared priority, where collective efforts can make a big impact. Participants see many opportunities to harness the energy of 2017 celebrations to create a lasting legacy.

The 150 Welcome Wagon | Halifax
Community organizations could be encouraged to adopt a fresh take on an old tradition, by increasing efforts to welcome newcomers and new neighbours. This could be a basket of locally sourced goods or a coupon book for local merchants. These would better support people as they integrate into a new home and community.

Renewing the Centennial legacy | St. John's, Halifax & Calgary
Many Centennial buildings are in urgent need of renewal and repair. In many instances, these buildings could be re-imagined for new community uses and retrofitted. Local citizen groups should play a lead role in developing plans and raising funds to breathe new life into these aging buildings.

Vert 2017 Green | Charlottetown
Each province could designate a new green area, park or forest. These spaces could be named with a common theme to link them across the country. Citizens could be engaged to decide on the most appropriate location and use for the new green spaces.

Food festival | Saskatoon
Local organizations, restaurants and community leaders could work together to launch an annual community culinary event. These would bring people together to share stories, food and time, creating a new forum for community engagement.

Le Canada en marche! Le Canada en forme! | Montreal
Health could be a focal point for 2017 celebrations. Canadians – particularly young people – would be encouraged to increase their activity levels in creative and fun ways. A common sport and event, such as a lacrosse tournament, would tie these efforts together.

A SENSE OF PLAY

The 2017 Starts Now Conferences reminded everyone that that Canadians are a creative bunch with bold, edgy, playful and – at times – outright zany ideas.

Call it Bannada! | Calgary
Communities could be engaged to offer their creative approach to a traditional recipe like bannock. A collection of recipes and adaptations could be shared online.

Red mitten mascots | Montreal
The red Team Canada / Vancouver Olympics mittens could be revived and adapted as a national symbol, with proceeds from future sales helping to fund 2017 initiatives.

National flash mob | Toronto
A well-choreographed flash mob would be performed in segments across the country. It would be documented on film and edited together to form a single video. An original song would be developed for this project.

We've been waiting for you | Vancouver

THE 2017 ARTIST-IN-MOTION

Following the first conference in Vancouver, Sonnet L'Abbé, one of the speakers was approached by the conference partners and asked to become the series' 2017 Artist-in-Motion. A noted poet, L'Abbé agreed and boarded a VIA train eastward, ultimately travelling to each of the 2017 Starts Now conferences with a commission to draft an original poem to present during the final event in Ottawa. Over the past three months, she has travelled extensively throughout the country tweeting, blogging and writing poetry while interviewing the Canadians she has met along the way. The 2017 Artist-in-Motion program models the kinds of opportunities national organizations can provide to emerging artists in the run-up to Canada's 150th anniversary. More information about her travels and the project can be found at www.canada150blog.com.

CONVERSATION KIT

The 2017 Starts Now Conversation Kit is a helpful resource for any community or organization looking to begin a dialogue about Canada's 2017 celebrations. The kit provides a series of steps for organizing part and full-day events, as well as directions to useful resources including the full roster of 2017 Starts Now online talks. The kit is full of tips and tools to help build momentum for Canada's 150th anniversary. The kit is freely available in a PDF format. Visit: 2017StartsNow.ca.

MAKING 2017 A YEAR TO REMEMBER

With the completion of the Ottawa event, the Canada 150 / 2017 Starts Now conference series has officially concluded. But as Canada's 150th anniversary nears, the impact of this investment in public engagement will continue to be felt. These events have helped to plant seeds across the country by starting a conversation about the meaning of Canada's next major anniversary.

Now it is up to each of us to decide what happens next. What gifts will we give to one another? What experiences can we share? What can we accomplish together not only for our Sesquicentennial, but over the course of the next fifty-four years, leading to our Bicentennial in 2067?

These questions are not only the starting point for any conversation about a national celebration, they are fundamental to the health and vitality of a democractic society.

The Canada 150 / 2017 Starts Now series has demonstrated that Canada is ready and 2017 really does start now. Together, by connecting Canadians and inviting them to join the converation we can make 2017 a year to remember for generations to come.

Developed to inform and inspire, CANADA 150/2017 STARTS NOW has sparked local, regional and national conversations around what 2017 means, and how we should celebrate Canada's upcoming 150th anniversary of Confederation. Since last April, the series, presented in partnership with other local and national organizations, has brought together citizens and leaders from communities across every region of the country, and this concluding event will summarize what has been learned and how we can harness the power of Canadians to develop and inspire new ways to connect Canadians around our sesquicentennial anniversary.

As part of the CANADA 150/2017 STARTS NOW conferences, the 2017 Starts Now Conversation Kit was launched to engage even more Canadians in the conversation. The kit helps families, friends, colleagues and neighbours host their own local conversations in communities and organizations across the country. It provides many tools and resources to help people incubate and inspire ideas for how Canadians will celebrate this milestone.

Canadians have the opportunity to watch the CANADA 150/2017 STARTS NOW finale presentation via live stream on the interactive digital platform at www.2017startsnow.ca. Additionally, Canadians can participate in the conferences live by submitting comments to @cbclive and using #Canada150 on Twitter.

Fwd: 2017 advice?

Hi Andrew,

In terms of the content, you never know where the next jewel will come from. The line up is a little more institutional than the other conferences: GG, Hubert, ViaRail and Community Foundations, mayors of Ottawa and Gatineau plus local and national worthies. The speakers should be good.

We are always sensitive to numbers - particularly of people coming from Toronto. No exception here. But people from Halifax are almost always welcome. Makes it less Ottawa-centric. Let me know if you decide to come and I'll put you on a list.

Lynda - joue-t-elle de la guitare?

Carole Breton <carole.breton@cbc.ca> 27 mai 2013 08:16
À :

Bonjour

J'ai fait des recherches mais je n'ai rien trouvé...donc je te pose la question : Lynda joue-t-elle de la guitare?

D'autre part, nous ferons appel à une chorale. Y a-t-il une chanson que Lynda chanterait avec une chorale? Sinon, a capella?Je sais que nous n'aurons pas beaucoup de temps pour répéter et nous n'aurons pas de musiciens (sauf le chanteur country et guitariste Lynda et lui n'ont probablement pas le même répertoire...)

J'attends de tes nouvelles,

Hello,
Yes, by confirming Bruce from business we should be looking for speakers in other fields on the top 6.
My understanfing is that he was already confirmed and we could not pull him out of the line-up. So he should have been on our top six speakers, but I've learned that only on Friday.

Once the three of us agree on speakers, I take the list to Bill who gives the final green light. We have a few speakers we can still reach out to to cover other topics beyond business.

I hope this clarifies the process.

Hi Leslie,
No problem on the language. We were just about to reach out to a business women. The Ottawa conference will be different and the partners want to have the final approval on speakers.
The team comes up with the names and Bill approves them, or run them by the partners if need be.

So, Bruce was not on the list submitted to Bill. I am now confirming that it's all good.

Don't get me wrong, it's a great coup for us and I really appreciate your help! We'll simply ensure to get the balance as we select the next speakers. Hope you understand.

Thanks for your help in securing stars for the conferences. These are succesful events. Everyone wants the series to finish on a high note in Ottawa as well.

Hi Sarah,
Thank you for these comments.
There are a couple of things that are important for the Ottawa conference, linguistic balance, all of the speakers listed are anglophones, and length of the event.

I know will do theor best to secure speakers. If we decide to cancel some of the ones that have expressed interest, we won't wait until the last minute.

You are the planning lead for Ottawa, so you set the tone and the direction for securing speakers. All of these artists and speakers will need a firm answer by next week or

These are all issues that you can address on our daily check-in calls with Leslie, Carolyn, and It may be a good idea to walk the team through your plan so that they have a good understanding on who you are trying to attract and so that you can also deal with any outstanding issues.

Lets's use the planning call on Monday to walk through your plan with the team, including the speaker pitch document.

Hi
I'll let Sarah and John reply to your last email as I'm not sure when the ask was made, etc.
I have asked Bill if he's ok with that choice. We'll take it from there.

I really hope that everything will work out. But on this Friday night
. The Ottawa conference will require more work than others, and the approval process will be longer as all the partners want to have a say in it.

Hope you find a way to enjoy your week-end.

Hello
Turns out, Bruce Croxon is confirmed for Ottawa. I'm running that information through Bill to have his final approval.

Please hold off reaching out to at the moment.

We need to ensure that we keep a good balance for the Ottawa conference, between diversity, backgrounds, male and female, English and French. We also need to have one Aboriginal speaker.

Thank you,
Carole

Good job Ouf. I wanted to avoid duplication of invitation. It seems as though we still need to clarify a thing or 2 on the Ottawa speakers' list.

Bonjour vous deux,
Below, please fing the list that is circulating at the moment to the conference group. Were Bruce and Yves confirmed for Ottawa?

Someone should call VIA to let them know that Yves won't be speaking. is on my local team. She saw the deck (without Yves' name) and said nothing. I'd be happy to close that loop with her.

As for Bruce, I can add him on the potential speakers for now or we can cancel his participation.

Hi Bill,
Attached, please find the updated word document listing the speakers we're reaching out to (first table) and the ones that are proposed as back-up (second table - waiting for your green light).

At the moment, we need you ok for:

Also, there will be some entertainment. At this time we want to have a youth choir and we'd like to invite Jowi Taylor (who spoke in PEI) to talk about his Six String Nation project (a guitar made of various historial pieces of wood) and we're looking for a singer, it could potentially be Lynda Thalie. Do you want to be in the loop for the entertainment part as well?

Summary video: John, Leslie and I will meet on Monday to talk about the content of the summary video. The content and creative approach will be developped early next week.

Hello,
As a follow up to this morning's discussion with Bill, here's the latest.

We have the green light to confirm the speakers listed in the top section of the attached document (which has evolved from the May 15 PDF deck). When one of them "drops", I will then contact Bill for the next speaker to be approached.

You'll see the table of your recommendations also in the attached document.

To replace Bill wants someone from Expo 67 and a Business woman.

Bill has first-hand information from the partners. If he feels the next suggested speaker has to be ok'd by them, he vill follow up with the CEO's.

Ottawa conference - requirements

Carole Breton <carole.breton@cbc.ca> 21 mai 2013 13:27
À : ALICIA MENZIES <alicia.menzies@cbc.ca>

Hi All,

For the time being, these are some of the requirements for the June 27 event:
- Event is to run from 10 am to 1 pm (TBC)
- theatre-style seating (235 seats) - NO roundtables
- wheelchair accessibility: one of the speakers will be in a wheelchair
- format for light lunch: since the theatre-style has no tables, what format do they recommend? Where can the lunch be served? Where will people eat?

After lunch:
1- 2:30 pm: a boardroom for 40 people: we'll have a work session with the official collaborators of the conference series

FYI: John wants to bring-in a technical crew.

Feel free to share your thoughts and questions with me.

Hi Carole,

Following our call yesterday, I have been receiving some names of people to invite to Ottawa, but they are being sent as business cards in forwarded emails.

It will take me a long time to transfer them into one document... can I send them as forwards?

As of now it looks like upwards of 50 people.

Thanks for letting me know,

Hello,
In my preliminary discussion with we were planning on using the existing template. Please check with her how long it will take to have a new template.

I find the save the date quite wordy. The design can help convey the message, but I'm not sure the general audience requires this much information.

Cohosts - Ottawa

Hi Sarah,

I expect local CBC and Radio-Canada to disagree with the approach of having cohosts from outside Ottawa. I already had some disagreements about that.

I think Michel Picard would make a great team. Julie is on national radio, Michel is a local star. Both well-respected.

Who can make the final decision on that?

Hi
One comment I've received from a local CBC colleague is to answer the question "what's in it for me?" for the local delegates, since there's no roundtable.

In that sense, she recommended to mention that there was a networking opportunity.

Looking forward to seeing your revised version.

Afraid I still need to tweak. It needs a line of context and reference to partners, and more delicate language conceming intent.

Hello,
A colleague from Radio-Canada recommended that we contact La chorale des deux rives for the Ottawa conference. They sing in both English and French and have singers from Ottawa and Gatineau.

What do we want them to sing?

Some of their recent concerts include
•Fêtes du 1er juillet (fête nationale) avec Diane Dufresne
•Concert pour les athlètes olympiques canadiens
•Inauguration des illuminations de Noël (parlement d'Ottawa)
•Investiture du Gouvemeur Général en 2010, parlement d'Ottawa
•Journée du Souvenir, 11 novembre 2010 et 2011, musée de la guerre
Ottawa
•Inauguration du Palais des Congrès d'Ottawa
•Fête de la musique à Versailles en 2010 et 2011

Lists - Ottawa conference June 27

Hi Pam,

I've asked Sarah Carney what they're looking for as far as guests for the conferences in general. Here is her answer:
"We are looking at across industry stakeholders and leaders in science/tech, business, arts and culture, Aboriginal, Francophone, education and VIPs (partners such as VIA etc.)."

Hope that helps. Do you know when I can expect the local CBC lists? I know it's a busy week, just want to have a sense of the timeframe you're working with.

Hi Sarah,
Just spoek with In order to be able to send a save the date next Monday, she needs the lists by end of day today.

I'm about to send a reminder to local partners.
CBC was asking: who are we focusing on? (I said we want all the groups, but it seems to create a lot of work for them).

Also, Martine Ménard and I have prelminary discussions with Canada Games and they will spread the word for us.

Can I contact VIA for their list? Should we connect before I send the reminder?

I know you're busy, but wanted to have a sense of the timeline you're working with for evites/save the date creation and lists.

I'm told it takes Veritas 3 working days to pull lists together.
Are there specific target audiences you want us to look for? (Local CBC is asking for some guidance).

I'd like to chat with you, or the person in charge of that component, today.

Hi Ali,
Thanks for this. I would put their names only, no titles required.

The extra seats are for the Elder and the drummers, which were not listed on the news release.

Should anyone else sit in the front row besides Bill? Jacques and Anne-Marie perhaps?

Got it, thanks Carole. I'll remove the titles.

To confirm - is it 1 elder and 4 drummers?
SARAH - do you have their names?

Please keep in mind if these numbers are accurate, we have 16 speakers (Philippe is not attending, correct?) + 1 elder + 4 drummers, for a total of 21 people, which is the entire first row.

Therefore, there would not be room for any additional people in the front row, but I am happy to reserve seats in the second row if you would like!

Hi Renee,
My understanding was that she was forwarding the advisory to local media only, since you have the lists of national media.
Can you send the advisory to the national list? Perhaps Monday morning...

My misunderstanding, I thought she was sending to all french media, that's why we pulled contacts for her, however, I understand that she only needed the contact info for media follow up. Not to worry, we will send to remaining national French contacts on Monday.

Thanks,

Thanks,

She said she did not have time to extract her media contacts, so it was easier for her to forward to local media.

How many national French media contacts do you have? I don't know if the follow-ups are needed at that level since the only thing they can do is watch online. Do you think they will want more than that if they're not in Ottawa?

I had told her to follow-up with local media only since what we want is coverage and attendance onsite.

Hi all,

Attached please find the report, as well as the first of two parts ready for translation. The second half is still being edited but will be ready by noon, but the first part, attached, can be sent now.

As for the layout, the french side will feature photos of different speakers maximizing the number of photos we can use.

The English version will be fully typeset today and proofed this weekend. Obviously french follows next week, and it will go to press Wednesday morning in Ottawa for delivery that afternoon.

All best, P.

See attached plan for distribution of the 150th report in Ottawa.
Before doing this, I should check with Yves D-S at Via to ensure that he is ok with that plan. Let me know when we have a more or less final report.
Hubert will probably want to see the report before Thursday as well.

This is good.

I would propose that following the Ottawa conference, we send this to all MPs and senators with a cover letter from Hubert (or does it need to be Hubert and the other partner heads?).

The cover letter would adapt Hubert's note with a couple paragraphs to MPs - that this is for their information, to assist them as they meet with their constituents and continue a dialogue etc...

Once I get the draft of Hubert's note, I can start adapting to Parliamentarians.

Hi Sarah,
Please find attached the summary report. This is still draft and does not include the changes we received through Carole last week.

We thought it might be helpful to provide some bullets to help the publicity team position this document:
-The purpose of the 2017 Starts Now conference series was to start a national conversation about Canada's 150th anniversary
-The conference series brought together leaders from civil society and engaged citizens from every corner of the country
-They took part in lively conversations about 2017 and Canada's future
-This summary report captures the energy and dialogue that was heard across the country

Please let us know if you have any questions or require any more information.

Thanks so much!

Hi Carole,

The only youth group I contacted thus far was Katimavik, who are currently not active and cannot send any youths on their behalf. I was told that you had a youth sports association in mind that you were going to contact. If there is anyone you would like me to reach out to, let me know. I need approval from the project manager before I go ahead and make any calls.

Academic has gone up and I have left messages for a few professors in the social science departments at Carleton and Ottawa U. If you have anyone in mind please let me know. I will continue calls on Monday to academic institutions.

I will send you an updated list by 4 p.m. today.

Barbara McInnes: introducing both mayors

Hello,

Now that the Mayor of Gatineau is confirmed, can we have Barbara McInnes introduce both mayors? That way, they will take the stage one after the other, without the MC having to talk in between.

Hi Anne-Marie,

Attached, you'll find my suggestions at the very end. I did not add much. Both cities are working together for 2017, sharing the logo, exposure, etc. On May 23, they launched the 2017 countouwn (1500 days to July 1, 2017). So I've positioned it as the nation's capital region initiative. Hope this helps.

Hi,

By way of this message, I'm providing the revised speaking notes to Barb and confirming that she's pleased to introduce both Ottawa-Gatineau mayors at the event on Thurs. A good question she had, Anne-Marie, is whether or not you'd like her to introduce M. Bureau in French. She's also happy to do some of the rest of the speech in French (even just a line or two), if you'd like.

Please let us know.

We were going to have a cash bar to give people the option if they wanted alcohol, but it will cost us $224 to set it up (if sales are under $1500, which they will be).

Is this something you feel is important to have? $224 is pretty minor in the big scheme of things but I wanted to get your thoughts

Bonsoir,
On a décidé de présenter les gens en blocs et ensuite ils montent sur scène l'un après l'autre sans que les coanimateurs interviennent à chaque fois.

Leurs noms et titres seront sur l'écran derrière eux. Mais j'espère n'avoir oublié personne!

Voici le déroulement qui peut te permettre de mieux suivre l'événement. En anglais et en français.

Merci pour le coup de main à toutes les deux.

Bonjour,
In Ottawa, the speakers will be backstage and then go sit in the audience afterwards. We will need reserved seats for each of them. Unless there's another idea you were thinking about.

Ali, can you prepare reserved signs? s.19(1)
are the elder and the musicians attending the whole conference?
If so, this would mean
3: The GG, Peter Charbonneau, Bill Chambers
5: for elder and musicians
12: speakers, performers (Cindy, Sonnet)
*Chantal Petitclerc will be able to stay in front of the bleachers in her wheelchair
Total of 20 seats

Does that make sense?

Bonjour, Hello, (le texte français est plus bas)
I wanted to give up an update on the conference you'll cohost.

We have a very good line-up of speakers and performers. The script will be finalized Monday and I'll send it over to you then. I can also come and meet you briefly to give an overview of the event.

We have teleprompters for the event, I would need you final revisions to the text by end of day Tuesday so we can prepare everyhting for the Thursday conference.

Will you have time to come for a rehearsal at the War Museum on Wednesday afternoon? Or early on Thursday? Let me know what works best.

Attached, please find the media advisory which was distributed yesterday afternoon.

Thanks again for being part of this summary event!

Bonjour,
Voici une mise à jour sur la conférence de jeudi prochain que tu coanimeras.

Nous avons une belle brochette de conférenciers et d'artistes qui prendront part à l'événement. Tu verras les noms dans l'avis aux médias ci-joint qui a été émis hier après-midi.

Le script sera finalisé lundi et je vais vous l'envoyer à ce moment-là. Je peux aller vous rencontrer brièvement pour vous parler de la conférence.

Nous aurons des télésouffleurs à la conférence. Il me faudrait vos révisions au script mardi, au plus tard, afin de pouvoir préparer le tout pour la conférence.

Serez-vous disponibles pour une générale le mercredi après-midi? Sinon, tôt le jeudi matin? Dites-moi ce qui vous convient le mieux.

Merci encore d'avoir accepté de participer à l'événement final de la série.

Bon vendredi,

Hi Carole!

Just wanted to follow up on our discussion regarding onsite support in Ottawa.

I have discussed with Judy and she is aligned that based on our counsel we will not be sending a staff member to be onsite in Ottawa. We have reviewed the onsite staff and their roles and responsibilities and feel that all areas will be covered off with staff from internal CBC Ottawa, CFC and NCC and assure you that you will have a fulsome team ready to support and execute a phenomenal event.

That being said - will continue to support the CBC 2017 Starts Now conference in Ottawa by developing/producing the onsite team briefing packages, researching and formatting the invite lists and assisting with the delivery of branded signage.

Please don't hesitate to contact me should you have any questions or concerns. And as mentioned, should anything change and you feel you need support onsite, let us know and we will be happy to help where needed.

Thanks!

Hi,

For Ottawa: I think if the staff have the
- rundown,
- photos and title of speakers,
- staff assignement,
- list of cell phones
- and FAQ's, it should suffice, shouldn't it?

is that what you usually prepare in the packages?

Hi Carole,

For all 2017 Starts Now events, we typically provide the following documents:

- Roles and Responsibilities document (detailed staffing assignment, provided by Veritas)

- Press Release (provided by CBC Publicity)

- FAQ/Key Message document (provided by CBC)

I recommend we provide all of the above documents to the onsite team in Ottawa so that they have a full understanding of the series and can answer any questions that may arise at the summary event. As discussed, Veritas will prepare all briefing packages for the onsite team in Ottawa.

The following documents will need translation:

- Event Flow (sent for translation today by
- REVISED sections of the Roles and Responsibilities document (will send English version for review tomorrow morning, will send for translation once final)
- REVISED FAQ/Key Message document (being revised by Carole, please send to for translation)

The other documents have either previously been translated or do not need translation.

I hope this helps, please let me know if you have any questions.

I hope you are doing well.

I have a couple questions about the event in Ottawa:

According to the last schedule, Yves will be speaking for 3 mins and then it says "Intro video of Philippe de Gaspe Beaubien".

Will Yves be introducing that video?

Also just wondering if it is a video of PdeGB Senior, or Junior?

Thanks!

Well, I just noticed that the whole letter doesn't include capitals.

In English there are customarily capitals for all titles, including things like: Mayor, Director, Co-founder, etc.

I believe the custom in French is to capitalize only the first word and the rest is lower case.

Would you like me to send you your letter in track-changes with capitals?

Is there time to make the changes to the English version before it is sent?
If caps have to be added, we can always ensure the news release posted on the website is ok.

Bonjour vous deux,
Nous organisons une conférence qui sera webdiffusée en direct du théâtre Barney-Danson la semaine prochaine (le jeudi 27 juin).

Nous avons tenu notre APA dans cet endroit il y a deux ans. Y a-t-il des aspects techniques à prendre en considération (besoins spécifiques) pour s'assurer de la qualité de la webdiffusion? Nous aurons accès à l'espace dès le 25 juin et nous pourrons faire des tests.

Merci,
Carole

Hello,
Quick question for you: the speakers who wish to use lav mics will be miked back-stage. Once their presentations is done, I thought they were going to sit in the audience. what happens with the mics?

Perhaps someone will be stanting off the stage to take the mics off of them?

Carole,

Let's ask if they can use Hand held stick mics first.....if they insist on using a lav, then we'll provide them.

Those using lavs can be miced before show then the mic taken from them after they speak and before they are seated. Ok?

On you national list, you must have some French media. Can you extract that info and forward to Marie-Hélène so she can do follow=up calls to those as well?

À : Carole Breton <carole.breton@cbc.ca>

The event flow is the numbered spreadsheet that captures all elements, which was produced by indicated that an agenda (usually a separate Word document) wouldn't be required since the event is much more compressed than past conferences and won't involve round table discussions, breaks, closing remarks etc. – and since the event flow essentially captures all elements of the presentation. The thinking is also that this reduces the load of things required for translation given the limited time we have to do the other documents (ex. briefing document with FAQ, roles & responsibilities). s.19(1)

We can discuss later. I'm going to grab my lunch but will be back at my desk shortly.

Hi all,
We're confirmed to have our Elder and drummers at the museum for sound check/rehearsal at 4:30pm on June 26.

Our drummers would like to store their drums at the venue over night. Can you confirm if that's okay?

Thanks so much!

Hi
I'm going to connect you with our contact at the National Association of Friendship Centres. Kelly Patrick is amazing - she can connect us with the names and contact information for everyone.

The Elder's name is Thomas Louttit.

In terms of timing, the Elder and the Drummers each need 3-5 minutes.

(Carole - are we hosting the Elder in the beginning and the drummers at the end?)

Thanks so much!

French media lists

Hi Renee,

Local Radio-Canada is quite busy this week. Is there a way for you to come up with a list of local Gatineau and Ottawa media? There are a few companies that provide such service, not sure if you usually use them.

I'm waiting to hear back from them.

I'm waiting to hear back from both English and French to have their local media lists.

My feeling is that you should go ahead and have both lists created for today's announcement. Is this possible?

English will be taken care of by our team, so not to worry - however, we were hoping to gain some local insight to the best contacts from the local comms team. We can make an attempt at French contacts as well.

I've cc'd Corey here as he will be working on the media outreach with me.

A formal invite is fine if you like. I'm assuming it would come from Hubert? (The attached draft could be attached as an fyi but it's way too long for an invite to the PM or Minister)

(neither will be able to attend the Conference since the Conservative Policy Convention opens in Calgary on the 27th)

Hello John and Bill,

We're a week away from the Ottawa conference. Since we have not heard back from can we move forward without her?

Veritas could diplomatically get back to her EA to close the loop?

The advisory - your comments

Hi John,
As it stands, the advisory will not attrack media. It has to be revisited and reworked. The focus has to shift away from the format of what has been done before. The news is not the gathering of speakers, it is the summary event.

What are your thoughts?

Hello John,
Sure, the follow-ups will be key.
I'd like the title to be rejigged at least. To show the broader vision/national summary approach to this which adds to local presenters.
I'll think of something.

Rehearsal : Jowi taylor and Cindy Doire

Hi

is developping a rehearsal schedule and would like to have Jowi and Cindy on Wednesday evening. Jowi arrives at 4:20 pm, could be at the War Museum by 5 (depending on traffic)...but how about Cindy? You've mentioned that she will arrive in Ottawa at 7 pm? Is there a way to have her in town earlier?

We want to do the sound check on Wednesday evening.

Merci,

Carole

Thanks so much for organizing this!

Cindy arrives by train at 7pm... That's the earliest I could get her in due to her schedule.

Let me know if an 8:30pm rehearsal might be possible.

Thanks again!

An 8:30pm end time is fine, but in an earlier email from it mentions an 8:30 rehearsal. Just want to confirm.

I still need a full schedule though. I currently have my techs in at 10am on the Wednesday until 7pm. At what time do you plan on starting the day?

I can adjust the end time but would much rather adjust all times at once so there's no confusion.

Same questions for Tuesday the 25th.

Thanks

We are just in the process of drafting a full three day production schedule which we should have to you by tomorrow afternoon latest.

One question for you....what are your regular time crew days? 8, 9 or 10 hours? do they include meal break time? please advise and we'll factor that in our first draft.

Wednesday will be a later start....10 or 11am....but we'll wrap at 8:30 after a 7:30 - 8:30 rehearsal of Jowi Taylor.

thanks,

That'd be great, thanks

There really isn't a regular day for the technicians, other than a four hour minimum but I doubt that will be a problem.

I do have to send them on breaks so be prepared to be techless for 30 or 60mins for lunch and dinner.

Once I have your schedule I can better determine when those breaks will be.

Hi Carole,

Thanks for this info. I would prefer to rehearse this the night before and not leave this til last moment. Is there any way the guitarist can arrive earlier?

I would suggest the following re-jig to the end of the day:

17:30 - 18:30 - choir rehearsal

18:30 - 19:00 - Sonnet L'Abbe rehearsal

19:00 - 20:00 - Jowi Taylor and guitarist rehearsal

Let's see if we can make this work?

Hi John -- Following a call I had with Carole and others at noon today, here's our proposed approach for follow-up calls regarding the Ottawa conference:

General approach:

- Overall, we're targeting contacts who are most likely to attend, including VIPs and key areas of interest (ex. francophone) along with categories that have shown a greater interest in attending past conferences (ex. academic, arts & culture).
- If time permits, we will then move on to other areas.
- Calling has already begun and will wrap up on the afternoon of Tuesday, June 25.
- I will do a status check each day at 4pm to assess our progress and shift our focus, if required.
- We are targeting a total of 250 RSVPs, taking into account the usual % drop for those who will actually attend.

Breakdown of follow-up by category

VIPs (Partners + Chamber of Commerce)

- Carole will do follow up for CBC/Radio-Canada and Heritage Canada contacts
- Anne-Marie will be tasked with doing follow up with CFC contacts
- will be tasked with doing follow up for VIA contacts
- Sarah Carney will reach out to Chamber of Commerce contacts upon her return early next week (TBC)

Other tabs/categories

- Francophone - Sylvie MacLean has started outreach, Hélène may be able to provide added support on Tuesday.
- Arts & Cutlure - Hana Tobolka
- Academic Institutions - Sheema
- Local and regional government; Non-Profit Community Groups; Business and Private Sector; Aboriginal; Science and Technology - Carole has enlisted 3 colleagues in Corporate to begin calling contacts on these lists, in the order listed here, and as time permits. We may ask Hélène to assist with local government on Tuesday, still if required.
- In addition, Sheema will reach out to Katimavik (not currently on our list) to see if they are interested in having approx. 10 youth members from that organization attending to increase youth representation at the Ottawa event.

Let me know if you have any comments/questions. As indicated, calling has already begun in some areas and we'll be following up with Jennifer and Anne Marie regarding our desired approach for CFC and VIA contacts.

Thanks

D

Hi Carole – thank you for sharing this with me. I noticed that you have Mayor Watson listed as introducing Maire Bureau. Is that correct?

Also, you indicated that you will be greeting the Mayor at this event? Do you have a cell #? (I will be on-site as well, but it's always good for his office to have contact info for the organizers).

Martine was always on the list and had never e-mailed Canada150. I have marked her as attending now.

Marco Dubé was already marked as attending.

Yesterday at noon we were at 69 RSVPs. I could tell you that as of right now we are at 75+ ...meaning that I have to go through 24 e-mails in the Canada150 account pertaining to the North and Ottawa which means our number is most likely over 80.

I will send you an update by noon today.

Ottawa online video excerpts

Hello,
I was thinking about the video excerpts for the 2017 website. For the previous conferences, it was pretty straight forward as speakers were on stage for their presentation and that was it.

With the new format (CEO's presenting other key content of the summary event, etc.) how do you envision what goes on the web?

Usually, each speaker has a photo and bio. Should the summary be posted on a separate page (video and e-booklet) perhaps listed under "Conference" below Ottawa?

Marie-Ève, our CBC/Radio-Canada colleague in charge of the web, will be back tomorrow. Perhaps we can chat with her.

However, we would need to produce the video from his office of Place Ville-Marie, in Montreal.

We need to plan how we will do it. It also means that I can not be in Toronto on Thursday. Can I be of any help or support the production of the Ottawa video from here in Montréal?

Have all a good evening.

Merci Helene,

I have made a request to book a video crew and director from Radio-Canada in Montreal. I'll connect with you midday tomorrow to update.

If you could kindly ask Mr de Gaspe Beaubien's team if they prefer the greenscreen approach or a straight video shoot using his office as the background tomorrow morning and get back to me with their answer. Once we know that, we can make final plans for the shoot.

I've also asked if we might be able to provide a portable teleprompt or autocue for the shoot and will let you know tomorrow.

Thanks Helene for the update...I'll be in touch tomorrow.

follow-up

À : Carole Breton <carole.breton@cbc.ca>

Hi Carole,
It's nice to see the Ottawa event taking such a unique shape.

I wanted to follow up with you about a couple of things -

1. The script - do you want and I to revise the script based on the new event flow? We're happy to leave it with you - but we're here to support you if you need it. :)

2. Summary report and themes - would it be possible to have that call / conversation directly after our 9:30am check in?

3. Speaker briefings - I've chatted with Chantal and Lynda about their presentations. If you like, I can let you know what their thoughts are around their presentation topics. Let me know what works - I can email you some bullets or chat with you by phone.

Thanks so much!

Hi again,
I forgot to add one thing to my email below...

and I are planning to be in Ottawa to help out with the event. Our colleague Dana will also be on hand to help wherever needed.

Please feel free to make use of us wherever needed, okay?

Thanks so much,

Hi

Yes, you can review the draft script based on today's rundown presentation. We'll be able to work with it. I have some comments on the first draft, will share tomorrow.

I have a meeting from 10 am to 11 am. The proposed time for the summary meeting is 11 am. More to come tomorrow.

At what time can I call you tomorrow so we can chat about the speakers?

I'll be here at 8 am.

I meet with today, our main technician at the War museum regarding the wheelchair ramp.

We did some measurements and will be able to gain access to the stage from the side (stage left), but that exit will be pretty much blocked. From yesterday's meeting however, it seemed most of the entrances and exits happen on the opposite side (stage right).

It will be shown on the floor plan when I send that out.

As for a place for him/her to sit after he/she speaks, it would have to be in front of the bleachers. Off to the side would be bit too far I think, though there is still line of sight to the stage.

This looks great to me - is just missing from the CBC Live crew.

Will we have names of the volunteers on-site who would be managing the reg tables? As we discussed yesterday we may need 3 at each table now - for a total of 6 people.
1 handing out headsets at each table, and 2 signing guests in.

Also, members of the publicity team will be coming to Ottawa to handle media relations (dependant on the response we get) so I don't know if Jess would be assigned to that. She and I may just be overall floaters?

What do you guys think?

The logo was developped for the 2010 conference on Canada's 150th anniversary. We do refer to it in other 2017 Starts Now material, including the Conversation Kit, so it's ok to use it as is (it is "John approved").

Hi

We have rooms on hold for yourself, on June 26th (most of our team is flying in that day and flying out on the 27th after the event).

Please let me know all of you will not need rooms, or if any of you will be flying in earlier than the 26th.

Thanks!
Ali

Hi Ali!
We will not require those rooms - we've already booked our own accommodation. Thanks very much for thinking of us. :)

Could you please take one of those rooms and book it for our speaker Cindy Doire?

Let me know if that's possible.

Thanks so much for your help with this!!

Hi Angus,

I hope this email finds you well. My name's and I'll be in Ottawa with my producing partner, for the culmination conference. We're working on a for the 150th anniversary and are now working with as a result of the talk in Toronto where we first met him. Great things already happening!

Is there a place online to register? Also, I was wondering who might be on the list of speakers/presenters for the Ottawa conference?

Many thanks for your help,

Hello,

I'd like to see if we can offer to the speakers the possibility to use Power Points and videos. There are 2 cases where I think it'd make sense, add to the show
- Jowi Taylor's presentation
- The Mayor of Ottawa (2017 promo video)

Thoughts?

Carole

Technically it isn't a problem, although I would suggest that if they want PPT that it should be delivered as a keynote presentation. That way we have time to link all of our presentations together to keep it seamless.

Francophone male speaker

À : Bill Chambers <bill.chambers@cbc.ca>, JOHN WIMBS <john.wimbs@cbc.ca>

Bonjour,

I'd like to have your final decision on the options for the Francophone male speaker.

so chances are slim to none to have him. Hélène (in Montreal) has tried to contact him, no luck. s.19(1)

What do we do with the possibility of filming Mr. De Gaspé Beaubien? We could ask for a short 5-minute max. presentation. I understand that this type of presentation may not be ideal, but I think the content is worth it. He's keen on doing it.

We can discuss further if you wish,

If we take the taped presentation I would want to explore the possibility of having my CBC LIVE team shoot the interview. For quality/creative control. I could probably make that happen if Mr. De Gaspé Beaubien is amenable.

One of the speakers for the Ottawa event is Mr. De Gaspé Beaubien - the operations director of Expo 67. He cannot make the event in person, and we need to figure out a way to film his presentation in Montreal.

Let's discuss best approach/resources to make this work. Thanks!

Hi John,

This is a TP (Bruce Whitford) logistics set up - if he can go to the ici Radio Canada studio in Montreal - he can present his talk from a remote location or studio at the plant. Or, if we get a truck we can do it from his office like a "live hit" in to the Ottawa event. And it can be fed in live (or as a pretape). I'm copying Bruce so he can weigh in..

Maybe a green screen shoot at CBC Montreal giving us the ability to key in cool expo vis in the bg?

Bonjour à tous,
Here are, in order of preference, the dates and times, where Mr. de Gaspé Beaubien would be available in the next 2 weeks:

1) Tuesday, June 25 - after 11:00 a.m. and before 5:00 p.m. - would be at 1, Place Ville-Marie, Montréal
2) Monday, June 24 - after 2:00 p.m. before 6:00 p.m. -

3) Thursday, June 20, after 10:30 p.m. and before 4:00 p.m. (would be a bit stressful for him as he would not have a lot of time to get prepared).

We would need to get back to him today.

Thank you.

Hello Everyone,

Helene - thanks for presenting some options for this pre-tape shoot.

s.19(1)

Here's a few items we'll need to nail down:

Shooting

- Let's do this using a local Radio - Canada crew. Once we nail the date down, Toni Tosti (cc'd) will coord with Montreal.
- Helene - will you direct / produce this shoot?

Creative

- at the 4pm meeting today (which I can't be on) John, Helene and Carole will drill down on some direction for his remarks / presentation.
- Once the content of his presentation is agreed upon, we can decide how best to shoot this. One way might be to do this as a green screen shoot, giving us the ability to key images of what he is talking about in his background. This will be TBD.

Timing / Location

- with the event being next Thursday, sooner would be better. We also have editing booked for this project this Thursday and Friday. Helene - do you think we could ask for Thursday?

Helene after the call today, perhaps you and I can speak directly and help to move this forward. Good luck on the call today...I'm hoping to join in progress.

Hi John,

Renee tells me she has sent you a draft of the Ottawa media advisory. Will you have a chance to review it this morning? I'd like to see it as well before it goes to translation. And given the fact that it is supposed to be different than the other ones (as this one will be national), I suspect it will generate many comments from partners.

Follow up

A : Carole Breton <carole.breton@cbc.ca>, ALICIA MENZIES <alicia.menzies@cbc.ca>

Bonjour à vous deux!

It was such a pleasure meeting you both today. I very much enjoyed the walk-through.

Just a few follow up items:

- I will be handling the flag for the Governor General with his ADC and the NCC.
- With the new set up of the bleachers, we don't have a plan for a media box. Where would you like one, if at all?
- We have one Canadian flag with a post and stand if you would like to use it for the event.
- The GG needs a pitcher of ice water with a couple glasses in the VIP room. Please arrange this with catering.
- It would be best to assign someone from the CBC to sit beside the GG for the time he is there.

I think the next step is to get the floor plans to you for feedback. Of course, we are interested in the load in/out / set up and event schedules when they are ready.

It is a real pleasure working with you both.

Thanks,

I will certainly have a pitcher of ice water available for the VIP room for the GG.

Thanks!

Hello Angus,

The national release for the Ottawa summary event is planned to be sent Thursday afternoon. There are usually one contact per partner, CBC (Renee), Radio-Canada (French local), Anne-Marie and Jacques. Given the fact that Hubert will be there, I want to know if corp comms should be added and who from your team can attend the conference on June 27 in case there are media requests.

His Excellency, speech: Conference at War Museum

Carole Breton <carole.breton@cbc.ca> 17 juin 2013 16:06
À :

Hi

I believe there were 2 points on which you wanted me to follow-up; length and theme of the speeches.

The CEO's are asked to speak for about 3 minutes, the War Museum rep as well. As for His excellency, what would be appropriate? How about 5 minutes?
We'll be asking the speakers to talk from 5 to 8 minutes max.

As for the theme, each CEO (the three official partners) will talk about the past/present/future as it relates to Canada's history and their own point of view on the evolution of the country, where we are now and what 2017 should be/represent for each Canadian. I'll have a draft of Hubert T. Lacroix's speech Thursday. I can share it with you if you'd like.

Let me know if there's anyhting else.

Cindy Doire - June 27 event

Cc : JOHN WIMBS <JOHN.WIMBS@cbc.ca>

Hi Carole,
As discussed, I reached out to Cindy Doire, who is one of the musicians that Jowi recommended for our Ottawa event.

Good news! I heard back and she is really keen to take part in our event. She would like to speak for 3-5 minutes in both languages about her perspective having just travelled across the country and her vision for 2017.

She would also like to play Jowi's guitar and sing a bilingual song. Cindy will get back to us about the specifics. (She is left handed and will have to play Jowi's guitar upside down. Cindy has done this before and wanted to make sure we know she's not as "expert" sounding, but can still make it work well.)

Please let me know if that poses a problem.

Cindy is on tour right now and would need to travel from Toronto on June 26 and then depart for North Bay or Sudbury on the afternoon of June 27.

She's happy to take a train on the 26th, but would need a flight on the 27th.

Can we make this work?

Please let me know what you think.

Thanks so much!
Tannis

Also, when do you usually send the "We,re looking forward to seeing you" document. Two days before the event?
Please note that for the Ottawa conference, the text will have to be changed quite a bit to reflect the different format. Who writes this?

Bonjour,
J'ai demandé à Veritas de nous proposer des noms de conférenciers potentiels pour Ottawa. Nous avons déjà un bon équilibre. Nous attendons des nouvelles de M. De Gaspé Beaubien (père), le maire de Gatineau, If Beaubien can't, we'll go to and then

Is there anyone in the list that should be up next?

Yes, it looks good. Here are a few suggestions for your consideration:

- You may wish to create a sentence break between the 3 partners and Jean-Marc Blais. He is not a national partner and this is a summary event for the conference series
- You may wish to move the Mayor of Ottawa up on the list of speakers. He shouldn't be listed at the bottom.

Sincerely,
Sarah

Invitation, jeudi 27 juin - Maire Marc Bureau

Carole Breton <carole.breton@cbc.ca> 11 juin 2013 15:12
À :

Bonjour
Merci pour le suivi! Tel que convenu, voici l'invitation envoyée à M. Bureau.
J'attends de vos nouvelles.
Carole

Bonjour,

CBC/Radio-Canada, VIA Rail Canada et les Fondations communautaires canadiennes, en collaboration avec d'autres organisations importantes de partout au pays, organisent une série de conférences intitulée CANADA 150 / 2017 DÉBUTE MAINTENANT. Cette initiative lançait récemment une conversation à l'échelle du pays, en prévision du 150e anniversaire de la Confédération.

Un événement récapitulatif de cette série aura également lieu à Ottawa au Musée canadien de la guerre, le jeudi 27 juin, de 9 h à 13 h.

Nous aimerions inviter le maire de Gatineau, Marc Bureau, à prendre la parole à notre événement. Dans une présentation de style TED (c.-à-d. de 8 à 10 minutes), il pourra exposer des idées, initiatives ou souhaits pour la Ville de Gatineau et ses citoyens afin de célébrer de belle façon le 150e anniversaire du Canada.

Les conférences CANADA 150 / 2017 DÉBUTE MAINTENANT visent à informer les Canadiens, à les inspirer et à servir d'incubateur à des projets locaux, régionaux ou nationaux, pour marquer ce jalon important. Elles ont lieu dans les deux langues officielles et rassemblent des citoyens et des influenceurs de communautés de toutes les régions du pays, qui représentent toutes les facettes de notre société.

Chaque conférence est webdiffusée en direct et archivée sur le site Internet www.2017debutemaintenant.ca.

Je demeure donc à votre disposition pour répondre à toutes vos questions. Vous pouvez me joindre au 613-288-6649. À titre d'information, vous trouverez le « réservez la date du 27 juin » ci-joint.

Au plaisir de vous parler très bientôt.

Hello Deborah,

I hope you're having a good week.

Please find attached the program agenda with the speaking order. I don't anticipate many changes (fingers crossed!)

Also, Senator Romeo Dallaire confirmed yesterday that he will be there to deliver short remarks at the end of the day, and will stay for the reception, which is great news.

I'm also sending along the evite, which you are welcome to distribute to the CNHS network.

I was thinking it might also be nice to involve teachers or young leaders. Let me know your thoughts - I know school is still in, so it might be tricky for a Friday.

Thanks so much and best,

Hello

The format of the June 27 summary conference will be developped this week. As per our discussion, can yopu make sure the Mayor's office is aware of this event?

We want to invite the Mayor to speak, details to follow. Can you confirm his availability? This will impact the format we propose. his breakfast wraps-up at 9 a.m., so he could be at another location by 9:30?

Happy to discuss with you if you want an overview of what we're looking at.

Hi
We do want the Mayor to speak between 10:30 and 12 noon, when he's at the conference.
The final line-up will be finalized later on. The Mayor can speak 5 minutes or so. I have not heard back from the Gatineau Mayor. If they both come, we may have them speak one after the other.

Is there anything else you neee from me at this time?

Im working from home today. Back tomorrow.

Wanted to let you know that I have been getting some good feedback from the 2017 Task Force – I think a number of them will be in attendance on the 27th. Did you have that evite for me to circulate?

Also, any more information on the event at this time? I still need to provide information to the Mayor's office on the event scenario.

My thought is that a video presentation would not be ideal. It might not resonate and would be out of sync with the rest of the program. I would try for a live speaker before resorting to this.

Bonjour,

Mr. De Gaspé Beaubien is not available in person but would really like to contribute to the conference. He's offering that we film his presentation in Montreal and show it at the Ottawa conference. See Hélène's email below.

As for me, I'd go for it but instead of 8 - 10 minutes, I'd ask him to keep it at up to 5 minutes. We could possibly add a bit of editing and include somme '67 footage and music as a starting point if it supports/add to his presentation.

Unless we find another francophone male, but I believe that, in this case, his message would contribute a lot to the final conference.

What do yout think?

Carole

Hello Leslie and
Martine and Bill would like to have more suggestions for a English-language woman speaker. Right now we have Jessica McDonald (Heenan Blaikie, Vancouver) and as potential speakers.

We're looking for someone who would be a draw to the Ottawa conference. s.19(1)

Business is already covered, it could be an actress, a writer, or someone from another field.

We'll decide today who we want to reach out to next.

I think we need to tum closer to home...

Any hope for at NAC, and at sci tech museum? Last two would do a credible job and be reputable...

I don't want to retread old ground but I feel our range of options is tightening.

Large numbers - transportation June 26 and 27

Carole Breton <carole.breton@cbc.ca> 11 juin 2013 13:54
À : Charles Dubois <charles.dubois@radio-canada.ca>, ALICIA MENZIES <alicia.menzies@cbc.ca>

Bonjour Charles,

I'm ccing our Toronto colleague Ali on this as she is in charge of the logistics and will coordinate the transportation details directly with you.

To recap our discussion: we are holding an event on June 27 at the War Museum. They are large 150! numbers that need to be transported to the venue. Photos attached.

Delivery:
- Wednesday, June 26 a.m.: pick the numbers up at the Science and Tech Museum. Deliver at the War Museum (Barney Danson Theatre)

- Thursday, June 27 p.m.: pick the numbers up at the War Museum (after 2 pm, TBC) and deliver at the Science and Tech Museum.

Here is the info I've received from our contact at the Science and Tech Museum: "Numbers are ready to be picked up. Each number (1, 5, 0 and !) is about 3 ft wide, 5 ft tall and 18 inches deep. Each number weighs about 25 pounds. They are easy to transport, 2 persons can easily lift each of the large numbers. They should be transported with certain care... i.e. wrapped in a moving blanket, not to damage the painted surface. They are built out of wood, I think, and hollowed."

Feel free to contact us if you have further questions.

Thanks for your help, it is greatly appreciated.

Bonjour,
Nous allons bientôt préparer le déroulement de la conférence. J'aimerais savoir si nous pouvons compter sur la participation du maire de Gatineau.

Aussi, une invitation sera envoyée lundi. Nous pourrions ajouter son nom à la liste des conférenciers confirmés (date limite pour le texte, 6 juin).

Merci,

> CBC/Radio-Canada, VIA Rail Canada et les Fondations communautaires canadiennes, en collaboration avec d'autres organisations importantes de partout au pays, organisent une série de conférences intitulée CANADA 150 / 2017 DÉBUTE MAINTENANT. Cette initiative lançait récemment une conversation à l'échelle du pays, en prévision du 150e anniversaire de la Confédération.

Nous aimerions inviter le maire de Gatineau, Marc Bureau, à prendre la parole à notre événement. Dans une présentation de style TED (c.-à-d. de 8 à 10 minutes), il pourra exposer des idées, initiatives ou souhaits pour la Ville de Gatineau et ses citoyens afin de célébrer de belle façon le 150e anniversaire du Canada.

Chaque conférence est webdiffusée en direct et archivée sur le site Internet www.2017debutemaintenant.ca.

Je demeure donc à votre disposition pour répondre à toutes vos questions. Vous pouvez me joindre au 613-288-6649. À titre d'information, vous trouverez le « réservez la date du 27 juin » ci-joint.

Au plaisir de vous parler très bientôt.

Bonjour,

Nous sommes à finaliser l'invitation électronique. Nous aimerions savoir si le le Maire de Gatineau pourra participer à la conférence du 27 juin et prononcer une allocution de 5 à 8 minutes sur les activités, les projets que la Ville prévoit mettre en oeuvre d'ici 2017, ou sa vision de ce que devrait être 2017.

Quand pensez-vous être en mesure de me répondre?

L'invitation sera envoyée au plus tard ce jeudi.

Bruce Croxon
Dragon | Dragons' Den

Bruce Croxon draws his business enthusiasm from venturing off the beaten path and approaching potential opportunities from unique angles. Whether it's seeing an opportunity with a nascent technology or seizing an idea "off piste" in the wilds of Whistler, BC, Bruce defines his entrepreneurial philosophy as "serendipity mixed with smarts." He credits his upbringing by a Jamaican mother and a British father as part of the motivation that drove him towards success, and he celebrates his mixed-race heritage.

Bruce started to build his fortune by being an early adapter in the digital realm. Capitalizing on the growing interest in phone telepersonals combined with the timely development of the internet, he spotted an opportunity to earn some serious coin. In 1987, Bruce co-founded Lavalife, the internationally recognized online dating service. He wore many different hats at the company, including Partner, Chairman and CEO and guided Lavalife to the position of category leader, achieving revenues of close to $100 million prior to its sale in 2004.

Bruce is an active outdoorsman and an avid skier. After spending a number of years in Whistler, he realized that the path to a healthy and fulfilling life was through sport and wellness, founding Vida Spas through his West Coast Company. His interest in wellness and technology remains strong and his current ventures include Sprigg Software, Walkaway Canada and Mobilemiser.com. He also sits on the board of the Trans Canada Trail and Points.com, in addition to being a spokesperson for Anaphylaxis Canada. Bruce currently lives in Toronto with his wife and two children. He stays connected to his Jamaican roots and has a fondness for reggae music, spicy food and warm weather.

Bruce Croxon
Dragon | Dragons' Den

L'enthousiasme de Bruce Croxon pour les affaires le pousse hors des sentiers battus et l'incite à voir les occasions sous un angle nouveau. Prompt à saisir les occasions offertes par une technologie naissante ou une idée surgie « hors piste » sur les pentes vierges de Whistler, en Colombie-Britannique, Bruce définit sa philosophie d'entrepreneur comme un « mélange de hasard et de perspicacité ». Il attribue en partie son succès à l'éducation qu'il a reçue de sa mère jamaïcaine et de son père britannique, et il est fier de son héritage métissé.

Bruce a fait fortune grâce au numérique, qu'il a été parmi les premiers à exploiter. Profitant de l'intérêt croissant pour les lignes de rencontres téléphoniques, conjugué au développement d'Internet, il a flairé une bonne affaire. En 1987, il a cofondé Lavalife, un service de rencontres en ligne reconnu dans le monde entier. Il y a assumé différentes fonctions, notamment celles d'associé, de président et de chef de la direction, et a mené l'entreprise au sommet de sa catégorie, engrangeant des recettes qui frôlaient les 100 millions de dollars avant sa vente en 2004.

Bruce est un amoureux du plein air et un skieur passionné. Après avoir vécu quelques années à Whistler, il a réalisé que le sport et le bien-être étaient les passeports pour la santé et l'épanouissement. C'est ainsi qu'il a fondé les spas Vida, par l'intermédiaire de sa société de la Côte-Ouest. Il continue de cultiver un vif intérêt pour le bien-être et la technologie, et il investit dans Sprigg Software, Walkaway Canada et Mobilemiser.com. Il siège également au conseil d'administration du Sentier transcanadien et de Points.com, en plus d'agit comme porte-parole d'Anaphylaxie Canada. Bruce vit actuellement à Toronto avec sa femme et ses deux enfants. Il reste attaché à ses racines jamaïcaines, comme en témoigne son goût pour le reggae, les plats épicés et la chaleur.

Chanteuse Cindy Doire, has been extensively sharpening her craft as a songstress and performer since the release of her debut album; La Vie en Bleu. With this record, she presents us an interpretation of inspiring French jazz/folk music that unleashes a traveling French melody. She takes her listeners on a migration passage that tours from a north-American sound to the Parisian cafés and cabarets. Cindy is known for her multi-ligual performances in French, English and Spanish.

Native de Timmins dans le Nord de l'Ontario, cette jeune artiste à la voix riche et unique, qui invente les mélodies les plus oniriques et émouvantes, charme tout en douceur. Son folk aux inflexions de jazz évoque les anciens cabarets feutrés, les lumières tamisées et la nostalgie des confidences chuchotées. Naturelle, authentique et guitare à la main, l'artiste chante les notes de son quotidien, la poésie des intérieurs humains et la beauté de moment présent. Cette auteur-compositrice-interprète nous interpelle vivement par sa vision artistique d'une chanson française douce et spontanée. Dotée d'un charme naturel indéniable, Cindy réussit sur scène (et sur disque) à nous démontrer une confiance inébranlable en son œuvre.

- Emmanuelle Latraverse
  Télévision de Radio-Canada's Parliament Hill correspondent since May 2005, Ms. Latraverse was appointed Ottawa bureau chief for Radio-Canada in 2009 and has hosted the weekly political newsmagazine Les coulisses du pouvoir since the start of the 2011–12 season.   Ms. Latraverse is also periodically sent on foreign assignment, having been posted for a month in Afghanistan in 2008 and reporting from Haiti for three weeks in January 2010 following the country's devastating earthquake.

  After earning a BA in economics and German studies from McGill University and a master's of journalism from Carleton University, she received the Rogers Communications Award in Television Journalism in 1999. She was formerly a host, reporter and desk editor for the CHOT Ottawa regional newscast (April 1998–August 1999) and one of the reporters for the 1999–2000 season of Culture choc on RDI and Télévision de Radio-Canada.

- Emmanuelle Latraverse

Correspondante parlementaire de la Télévision de Radio-Canada à Ottawa depuis mai 2005, Emmanuelle Latraverse a été nommée chef du bureau parlementaire de Radio-Canada à Ottawa en 2009. Détentrice d'un baccalauréat en économie et en études allemandes de l'Université McGill et d'une maîtrise en journalisme de l'Université Carleton, elle a reçu en 1999 le prix Rogers décerné à l'étudiant le plus prometteur en journalisme télévisé. La chanteuse et interprète Cindy Doire a considérablement perfectionné son art depuis le lancement de son premier album, La vie en bleu. Dans son nouvel opus, elle nous offre une interprétation inspirante de la musique jazz/flok française où s'envole une mélodie enlevante. Elle emmène ses auditeurs dans un voyage musical qui les transporte de l'Amérique du Nord jusqu'aux cafés et aux cabarets parisiens. Cindy interprète ses chansons en français, en anglais et en espagnol.

Lynda Thalie, musique et force de la résilience

Lynda Thalie est la première artiste d'origine algérienne à se tailler une place de choix sur la scène artistique de chez nous. De par sa signature musicale et vocale unique mêlant, ce qu'elle décrit en ses propres mots, "le miel et le sirop d'érable", elle a réaffirmé son côté universel en suscitant l'enthousiasme de milliers de personnes sur quatre continents, et a su rallier la critique qui voit en son art le reflet de la diversité québécoise contemporaine.

Celle qui aura joué, en 2003, l'unique rôle féminin, celui de la Rose, dans la version québecoise de la comédie musicale Le Petit Prince, n'a cessé de surprendre de versatilité.

Car tout en poursuivant ses tournées dans le monde, la création d'oeuvres originales, des participations à des concerts événements uniques (400 e de Québec, Jubilée de la Reine, Fête du Canada sur la Plaine Parlementaire, Fête du Québec Montréal comme aux Plaines d'Abraham, Installation de l'Ex Gouverneur Général du Canada, Mme. Michaëlle Jean au Parlement, Jeux Olympiques de Vancouver, Festival de Jazz de Montréal, Festival d'été de Québec, Francofolies de Montréal à moulte reprises, etc.), Lynda prête aussi sa voix à des musiques de films de Michel Cusson, de Cité-Amérique et de l'Office national du film du Canada et Telimagin pour Radio-Canada.

Récipiendaire du Prix du patrimoine d'expression du Québec pour sa démarche artistique (2004). Mais aussi du Prix Interprète de l'année au Concours Ma Première Place des Arts ainsi que le Prix Radio-Canada (2000). Récipiendaire d'un total de 4 Trophées Gala S.O.B.A (Sounds of blackness Award), pour lequel elle aura été nommée plus de 10 fois. Nommée à 6 reprises au Gala de l'ADISQ. Lynda Thalie est certainement respectée par la communauté artistique autant que par les les amoureux de la musique.

Sa voix mêlant les sonorités de ses origines algériennes à ceux de sa terre d'adoption, l'aura menée d'un bout à l'autre du Québec et du Canada. Et menée en toumées dans près d'une quinzaine de pays dans le monde. Du Rwanda à la Jordanie, du Mexique à la Grèce, du Maroc à l'Olympia de Paris (première partie du légendaire Enrico Macias), de l'Egypte à l'Angleterre.
Lynda fut même de la délégation de Son Excellence la Gouvemeure Générale du Canada, Michaëlle Jean, lors de sa première visite officielle en Algérie.
Madame Jean qui d'ailleurs signa la préface de l'autobiographie de l'artiste, "Survivre aux naufrages" parue en 2011 aux Éditions La Semaine.

De part son apport, son implication et son engagement, Lynda Thalie est un modèle de réussite non seulement dans son domaine mais aussi pour l'ensemble de la société québécoise. Comme immigrante reçue, Lynda Thalie est l'un des modèles d'intégration les plus médiatisés, les plus positifs, ayant contribué au développement culturel et artistique du Québec de même qu'à l'international.
Elle est devenue, avec le temps, un grand symbole d'ouverture, de fierté et de partage. Et de par son histoire personnelle, elle est devenue une force de la résilience et un modèle de la victoire de la lumière sur l'ombre. Son histoire, elle ne la partage pas uniquement dans son livre mais aussi, lors de conférences, tantôt dans des écoles secondaires pour inspirer les jeunes à s'accrocher à leurs rêves et idéaux, et tantôt dans des congrès où elle partage candidement sa vision de l'intégration, des accommodements raisonnables, de la laïcité, des droits humains, des droits des femmes et de la force de l'espoir.
Ce message d'espoir et de résilience trouve aussi un sens particulier lorsqu'elle le porte ailleurs dans le monde, avec tout le respect qu'elle éprouve envers l'humanité et la diversité.

Lynda Thalie, conférencière

Les conférences de Lynda Thalie sont à l'image de l'histoire de sa vie, c'est-à-dire remplies de moments de grande intensité et de musique. Son histoire, c'est ce parcours unique entre l'Algérie et le Québec, entre le miel et le sirop d'érable, mais aussi entre le doux et l'amer, la falaise et la mer. Son navire a croisé bien des vagues et bien des tempêtes mais tient toujours fièrement bon cap. C'est avec sensibilité et discernement qu'elle livre à son auditoire un propos riche et franc, teinté d'un brin d'humour.

Elle raconte la déchirure d'avoir été trahie par l'abandon d'un père, la peur de vivre dans un pays d'hommes en pleine guerre et en pleine montée de l'intégrisme musulman, les durs coups de la vie, le rejet, les blessures, sa fuite de l'Algérie, l'espoir dans l'exil, l'arrivée au Québec, la « table rase », l'intégration de la jeune fille avide de liberté et la naissance de l'artiste.

Elle partage quelques secrets, ses opinions sur la société, les femmes, les accommodements raisonnables, la laïcité de l'état qui, à son avis, doit être 100% laïc, les moments forts, les moments faibles, ses coups de grâce et ses coups de gueule.

Elle décrit ses succès, ses tournées mémorables dans plus d'une douzaine de pays dont l'Égypte, la Jordanie, le Rwanda et le Liban. Elle aborde ses plus belles rencontres professionnelles, dont celle de l'ex-Gouverneure générale du Canada, Mme Michaëlle Jean, avec qui elle est retournée dans son pays natal quand elle s'y rendait pour sa première visite officielle.

Reconnue à plus d'un titre pour son engagement face à la place de la femme à travers le monde, Lynda Thalie aborde également ce thème avec passion. Son autobiographie est sortie au printemps 2011 sous les Publications Claude Charron Inc.

Quelques sujets abordés : Le succès et la passion de vivre, le Québec de demain, l'immigration, l'intégration réussie comme citoyen(ne,) les voyages formateurs. Rebâtir sa vie et repartir à zéro. La persévérance. La laïcité de l'état et le sensible dossier des accommodements raisonnables. L'importance de la langue française et de ses représentations dans la Francophonie à travers le monde.

Carole,
Voici le genre de courriel que j'ai utilisé comme première approche avec les conférenciers de Montréal. Je l'adaptais, bien sûr, au fur et à mesure que la liste des conférenciers confirmés se précisait.
Je t'envoie également sous pli séparé, le second courriel, envoyé une fois le conférencier confirmé. Il était accompagné d'un document «question et réponse» toujours adapté pour Montréal (puisque nous n'avons pas d'événement média). J'espère que le tout pourra te servir.
N'hésite toutefois pas à m'appeler si tu as des questions.

Madame

Merci de votre retour d'appel de ce matin. Tel que discuté lors de notre entretien téléphonique, voici plus de détails entourant l'événement pour lequel nous aimerions obtenir la participation de Monsieur Leblanc, à titre de conférencier.

CBC/Radio-Canada, VIA Rail Canada et les Fondations communautaires canadiennes, en collaboration avec d'autres organisations importantes de partout au pays, organisent une série de conférences intitulée CANADA 150 / 2017 DÉBUTE MAINTENANT. Cette initiative lancera une conversation à l'échelle du pays, en prévision du 150e anniversaire du Canada, qui coïncide aussi avec le 375e anniversaire de Montréal.

À Montréal, cet évènement aura lieu à la Société des Arts Technologiques, le 8 mai prochain.

Dans le but de faciliter l'émergence d'idées lors de cette rencontre et d'engager des discussions animées, nous aimerions pouvoir compter sur l'appui de conférenciers inspirants tels que Monsieur Leblanc, pour exposer, dans une présentation de style TED (environ 10 minutes), des idées, initiatives ou souhaits pour célébrer de belle façon cet anniversaire.

Chaque conférence sera filmée et publiée sur le site Internet de Radio-Canada et sera disponible dans les deux langues officielles. Vous pouvez d'ailleurs consulter ce site à www.2017debutemaintenant.ca .

Nous serions ravis que Monsieur Leblanc se joigne à nos conférenciers de renom tels Messieurs Gilbert Rozon (Festival Juste pour Rire), Simon Brault, (Culture Montréal et Ecole Nationale de Théâtre), Eric Fournier (Moment Factory), Ghislain Picard (Assemblée des Premières Nations pour le Québec et le Labrador), Mohamed Hage (Lufa Farms) qui ont déjà confirmé leur participation, le 8 mai prochain.

La présence de Monsieur Leblanc serait requise en matinée pour la portion "conférences" de la journée, soit de 8 h 30 à midi. Si son horaire le lui permet, nous espérons qu'il pourra rester pour le déjeuner et participer aux discussions en tables rondes, lesquelles prendront fin vers 16 h et seront suivies d'un cocktail.

Je demeure à votre disposition pour discuter plus en détails de sa participation à la conférence de Montréal et pour répondre à toutes vos questions. Vous pouvez me joindre en tout temps au 514 597-6548 ou à helene.forest-allard@radio-canada.ca.

Au plaisir de vous parler très bientôt.

INTRODUCING THE GOVERNOR GENERAL

Ladies and Gentlemen;

Would you please rise for the arrival of His Excellency the Right Honourable David Johnston, Governor General of Canada.

Mesdames et Messieurs;

Veuillez-vous lever, s'il vous plaît, pour l'arrivée de Son Excellence le très honorable David Johnston, gouverneur général du Canada.

Conference Summary

This summary is a modest effort to capture the enthusiasm and energy that accompanied a recent cross-Canada tour that connected 120 prominent Canadians with more than 1200 local delegates representing community organizations and other important groups. Together these delegates belong to networks connecting millions of Canadians — all of whom we hope will have a hand in helping to imagine, plan and participate as Canada marks the 150th anniversary of Confederation in 2017.

The goal for this conference series was simple: to start a conversation with Canadians in all corners of the country, and to use these conversations as a catalyst for action. As in the years leading up to Canada's 1967 Centennial, Canadians are again beginning to think about the past, present and future of their country. Our next national milestone is just ahead. The 2017 Starts Now conference series builds on this Centennial legacy by helping to mobilize civil society in Canada to look ahead to 2017 and beyond.

With only four years to go, now is the time for Canadians to being thinking creatively about the challenges and opportunities ahead of our country. National anniversaries are important occasions to take stock, to pause and to reflect. These twelve conferences — the first in a series of initiatives by CBC/Radio-Canada and its partners at VIA Rail and the Community Foundations of Canada — were designed to start this conversation, challenging each of us to think about how we can work together to celebrate, commemorate and connect Canada and Canadians.

In the pages that follow you'll read an account of the people and ideas that brought this series to life. We hope it will help to inspire you to reach out to others to start a conversation and make plans with members or your community or organization...

AN AUDACIOUS IDEA

There is something about national anniversaries that naturally inspire audacious ideas. This conference series is one of them. Between April 5 and May 27, 12 conferences took place across the country in every province and the North.

For everyone involved it was a labour of love — a project that proceeded at a unbelievable pace, connecting with thousands of Canadians along the way. It was inspired by the many grassroots events which built such interest in Canada's Centennial in the run-up to 1967.

Many of the earliest organizers that helped to shape Canada's 1967 Centennial celebrations were educators, by profession and at heart. They believed that the Centennial was special because it gave every Canadian the occasion to learn more about themselves, their neighbours and the country. Each of our partners and collaborators believe that this idea is still relevant today: How can we use 2017 to learn more about ourselves, our neighbours and our country?

This series was made possible by a special consortium of partners: first between CBC and Radio-Canada, along with its national partners VIA Rail and the Community Foundations of Canada.

More than two dozen additional organizations quickly signed on as collaborators making this by far Canada's largest 2017 network. These collaborators often worked closely with our local planning teams and will continue to meet and exchange ideas as each organization develops its own plans for contributing to Canada's 150th.

PREPARING FOR THE SERIES

It's fitting that each of the twelve 2017 Starts Now Conferences began with a conversation. Everyone connected with the series as well as local representatives from the host city piled in. Long lists of prospective speakers were drawn up and soon calls went out. At each event a half dozen or more local speakers were recruited to provide context, inspiring ideas and occasionally provocative challenges. Together, their job was to paint a picture of the country and its future, and to share some specific ideas for marking Canada's 150th anniversary.

These talks, each just ten minutes in length, can now be viewed as part of an impressive online archive which is an important legacy of this project.

At each event our speakers helped to colour the conversation that would follow. With often more than 100 delegates on-hand, it was easy to turn from these short presentations to lively, roving, roundtable dialogues that encouraged all participants to think about 2017 in both local and national terms.

At the helm, providing guidance through each day's event were two co-hosts from CBC and Radio-Canada. This bilingual partnership underscored the national stature of the series, and with the help of simultaneous interpreters, created a compelling dialogue in both official languages that was streamed across the internet reaching several thousand viewers.

Also helping to guide the discussion was an impressive cast of local facilitators — often local university and college student who volunteered to be a part of the program. This team contributed a valuable, youthful perspective, and quickly put the delegates at ease — and to work.

THE SPEAKERS

As a group the 2017 Starts Now speakers reflect the diversity and creativity that define Canada. In each city, this unprecedented collection of speakers set the stage for a substantive and inspired dialogue. Below we've listed only a few highlights from among our 120 speakers:

Vancouver: Environmentalist Tzeporah Berman described the need to protect our natural resources. She challenged Canadians to leave behind a greener country in better shape for future generations. Arctic Air star Adam Beach shared his experience as an Aboriginal Canadian who ultimately found both fame and a career as an actor, and discussed his recent efforts to help young aboriginals to fulfill their dreams. Architect and urban planner Gaëtan Royer shared his vision of an extraordinary green ribbon of parkland running along the banks of BC's Fraser River. Rob Tarry from Rethink suggested that the Royal Canadian Mint catch the 2017 spirit and issue a new denomination: a 150 dollar bill

Calgary: Erin O'Connor, executive director of One Yellow Rabbit Theatre, asked us to explore the perennial question of our national identity. Enbridge executive Karen Radford encouraged us to celebrate our individuality and to explore Canada's vast landscape. Théâtre à Pic artistic director Inouk Touzin talked about his love of language and the power of multilingualism. For 2017 he suggested that Canadians should each try to acquire a second, third or fourth language as an access pass to living in one of the world's great multicultures. Calgary Mayor Naheed Nenshi asked every Canadian to find just three things, big or small, which they could do for their country.

Toronto: Centennial College president and CEO Ann Buller described why education remains a radical force in society, and how her institution, a legacy of Canada's 1967 celebrations, continues to evolve. Direct from New York, the Late Show's Paul Shaffer took a seat a CBC piano to belt out Bobbie Gimby's best, as well as hits from other Canadian songwriters in his tribute his birthplace — and asked Canadians to write a new song to mark the 150th. Societe D'Histoire De Toronto Vice-President Christian Bode reminded delegates of the city's longstanding francophone community and the unique roll they've played in shaping Toronto from well before Confederation to today. Toronto Community Foundation president Rahul Bhardwaj talked about his love of hockey and how to build great cities.

Saskatoon: Award-winning author Yann Martel spoke eloquently about the persistence of time and the art of commemoration. He urged Canadians to find a symbol for the anniversary and noted that everyday items, even simple chairs, can have symbolic value. Community leader Zondra Roy described why the arts are a source of empowerment for young people, and can strengthen Canadian communities. Omayra Issa reflected on the growing complexity of citizenship in an era of multiple identities and origins. Former NHL player Theo Fleury reminded the country that we all have more to do to address the unspoken shame and violence that touches too many of us.

Winnipeg: The Honourable Lieutenant-General Roméo Dallaire asked that Canadians commemorate the sacrifice of generations of soldiers with a new memorial in Ottawa inspired by Vimy Ridge. He also suggested that we do more to ensure that young Canadians have a chance to visit and contribute to less fortunate parts of the world. Gillian Smith, CEO of the Institute for Canadian Citizenship, recounted how the recent birth of her twin daughters has made her more cognizant of the challenges faced by temporary foreign workers without a clear path to citizenship. World Trade Centre Winnipeg leader Mariette Mulaire celebrated the joys of bilingualism and encouraged Canadians to fall in love with both of their official languages.

Montreal: Ghislain Picard, the Chief of the Assembly of First Nations for Quebec and Labrador, spoke about the unfinished task of embedding and appreciating First Nations culture throughout Canada. President of Culture Montreal, Simon Brault, explained that 2017 was a time to invigorate our cultural identity and deepen our awareness of history. 2017 Artist in Motion Sonnet L'Abbé talked about the role of poetry in shaping our collective imagination. Eric Fournier from the Moment Factory dazzled his audience with his ideas for illuminating public buildings and creating new spectacles.

Charlottetown: Deborah Apps explained that the Trans-Canada Trail, a legacy from Canada's 125 celebrations, is nearing completion thanks to the generousity and monumental efforts of Canadian volunteers. Gilles Arsenault, President of the PEI Teachers' Federation, expressed the need to celebrate the contributions of educators across the country. He sees teachers as key partners to engage youth and bring 2017 celebrations to life. Writer and educator Bonnie Stewart talked about the importance of our personal stories and how the internet can be used to share and connect with one another. Jowi Taylor presented the Voyageur guitar, a modern national treasure that symbolizes the beauty and diversity of Canada's past.

Moncton: From Via Rail, Yves Desjardins-Siciliano explored the significance of Canada's famed continental rail network and its role as a gateway to the country. Onboardly Media co-founder Heather Anne Carson championed the can-do attitude of Canadian entrepreneurs. She explained how technology is helping to level the playing field allowing businesses in Canada's smallest towns to compete on a global scale. University of New Brunswick demographer Michael Hann discussed the demographic trends that are shaping Canada's population and highlighted the importance of new strategies for population growth in Atlantic Canada.

St. John's: The founder of Opera on the Avalon, Cheryl Hickman, announced Atlantic Canada's first original libretto — a full opera to be performed in 2017 chronicling the sacrifices and heroism of the Royal Newfoundland Regiment. Youth leader Donovan Taplin shared why he feels truly Canadian and challenged everyone to get creative and curious about our country in the run-up to 2017. Author Françoise Enguehard talked about the language and cultural barriers that remain between English and French-speaking Canadians and asked Canadians to embrace their linguistic duality.

Halifax: Danny Graham pointed to the 2010 Vancouver Olympics as a surprising and successful example of the appetite for nation-building events. Soulafa Al-Abbasi from FUSION Halifax, talked about the challenges she faced as a new Canadian and her passion for her city. Jac Gautreau spoke about his plans to stage a travelling show celebrating Canadian culture in 2017 called KA'NATA.

Yellowknife: Chief Electoral Officer David Brock invited Northerners to examine their constitution and consider role of the Territories in Confederation. Nunavut Commissioner Edna Ekhivalak Elias urged all Canadians to learn more about the Arctic, and reflected on the growing cultural diversity in Canada's North.

OUR DELEGATES

In each host city, invitations to recruit delegates to attend the event were sent through the networks of local collaborators. The response was heartening. Canadians are waking up to 2017 and are keen to become a part of the celebration.

Each conference had a very deliberate mix of delegates from civil society, representing arts and culture, youth groups, volunteer associations, newcomers, faith, and service clubs, as well as academe. Public sector organizations were also well-represented. Members of government, public servants, First Nations leaders, as well as staff from local museums, galleries, archives, libraries, schools and sports facilities each attended and will inevitably have a major role in helping to ready their communities and organizations to mark the anniversary.

Deliberate efforts were also made to reach out to Canadian businesses which as a sector played an essential role in energizing Canada's Centennial celebrations. With assistance from the Canadian Chamber of Commerce, local businesses were invited to attend and share their ideas for 2017.

This mix of organizations and individuals contributed to the richness of each event and helped to demonstrate that there is growing movement towards 2017. Many delegates reported that their organizations were in the early stages of developing their own plans for the 150th anniversary and looked forward to this event to help accelerate their efforts, and connect them with other like-minded groups.

Now with the 2017 Starts Now conference series complete, a national network, 1200 delegates strong, is in place. The growth and cultivation of this network will be a major focus for future efforts to promote new 2017 initiatives, and encourage Canadians to connect with one another, host their own events and create local partnerships and events in anticipation of the 150th anniversary.

STARTING A CONVERSATION

The purpose of the 2017 Starts Now Conferences was to get Canadians talking. Imagination is a kind of muscle that needs flexing, and these dialogues provided a chance for delegates to stretch their imagination and begin a conversation that we hope will continue in their communities and with their local organizations.

Following the presentations from local speakers, the delegates were invited to join any number of roundtables and discuss a question that interested them.

Typically delegates had 45 minutes to introduce themselves to one another and discuss the question which was assigned to their table. Over the course of the two hour session, they typically moved to several tables meeting many others, and sharing their views on several topics. Each session was divided in two sections. The first focussed on Canada as a whole. The second focussed on local events or initiatives to mark 2017.

Thinking Nationally Discussion Questions

1. What major events can we create to mark this milestone and make 2017 memorable for all Canadians?
2. How should we celebrate Canada Day 2017?
3. How can we take this celebration to the world?
4. How can we ensure that 2017 fosters a sense of pride, citizen stewardship and public engagement?
5. What are the themes and ideas that should shape 2017 celebrations?
6. How should CBC/Radio-Canada, VIA Rail Canada and Community Foundations of Canada mark this anniversary and involve all Canadians?

Thinking Locally Discussion Questions

1. What are the local accomplishments and histories we want to tell and commemorate in 2017?
2. What can the city, region and province give to Canada's celebrations?
3. What role can different local organizations play in preparing to celebrate 2017?
4. How do we ensure that local youth have an opportunity to lead, contribute to and enjoy 2017 celebrations?
5. What initiatives could the city, region and province undertake to create a lasting 2017 legacy?
6. How should the city, region and province mark this anniversary?

Philippe de Gaspé Beaubien

Titulaire d'un baccalauréat ès arts de l'Université de Montréal (1951) et d'une maîtrise en administration des affaires de la Harvard Business School (1954), Philippe de Gaspé Beaubien II est fondateur et ancien président de Télémédia, société de portefeuille dans le domaine des communications.

En plus de détenir 100 stations de radio au Canada, Télémédia est la plus importante entreprise de magazines féminins du pays.

Avant de racheter le Groupe en 1971, M. de Gaspé Beaubien occupe le poste de Président de Télémédia (Québec) Limitée. Il est également directeur de l'exploitation de l'exposition universelle de 1967 à Montréal (à titre de maire de l'Expo 67). En cette qualité, il est chargé de la gestion de l'exploitation de l'Expo 67.

De 1960 à 1963, il fonde et dirige la société Beaubien Distribution, spécialisée dans la distribution de produits alimentaires en Ontario et au Québec avant de la revendre à la société General Foods en 1963.

Aujourd'hui, Monsieur de Gaspé Beaubien est également directeur et coprésident de la Business Families Foundation, organisme à but non lucratif qui élabore et fournit des programmes de formation pour tous les secteurs des entreprises familiales dans la perspective d'aider les familles en affaires à acquérir les connaissances et les compétences supplémentaires pour renforcer leur entreprise.

Au cours de son illustre carrière, M. de Gaspé Beaubien a siégé aux conseils d'administration suivants :

- La Banque Toronto-Dominion
- Bombardier Inc.
- La Harvard Business School Visiting and Associates Boards
- Les Restaurants McDonald du Canada ltée
- Black and McDonald
- Le programme Fulbright (échanges éducatifs entre le Canada et les États-Unis)

M. de Gaspé Beaubien a également occupé les postes suivants :

- Fondateur et président de ParticipACTION (programmes de santé physique dans tout le Canada)
- Président de l'Association des diffuseurs canadien et de l'Association des éditeurs de magazines canadiens

Il a également obtenu les distinctions suivantes :

- Membre de l'Ordre du Canada

au cœur des Québécoises et des Québécois.

Outre ses prestations remarquées aux Jeux Olympiques de Vancouver en 2009 et lors des grands événements tels que la St-Jean sur les Plaines d'Abraham de Québec et la fête du Canada sur la colline parlementaire en 2010, Lynda Thalie lance son autobiographie aux Éditions La Semaine lors du Salon du livre de Québec, en avril 2011.

La même année, elle se produit quatre soirs consécutifs à l'Olympia de Paris, en assurant la première partie du légendaire Enrico Macias (30 millions d'albums vendus). Mais juste avant, c'est aux Jardins de l'Ambassade de France, au Caire, ainsi qu'au stade sportif d'Alexandrie (Égypte) qu'elle se retrouve, en formule double plateau, avec le grand Macias.

Artiste multidisciplinaire, Lynda Thalie se retrouve en 2012 sur le documentaire Mon Algérie produit par Telimagin pour Radio-Canada. Elle s'envole ensuite vers la Grèce pour une tournée de spectacles 14 au 20 mars. Au cours du printemps et de l'été qui suivent, elle réalise divers projets télévisuels et scéniques, au pays comme à l'étranger. Elle donne notamment 3 concerts pour la Francophonie internationale à Londres dans le cadre des Jeux Olympiques.

Ces séjours à l'étranger et cette formidable ouverture de cœur et d'esprit qui la caractérisent servent d'ailleurs de source à la préparation d'un nouvel album. Loin de renier le caractère engagé de sa démarche artistique, Lynda Thalie l'amène à un niveau supérieur, tant dans l'écriture des textes que dans la musique. Un premier extrait, Dance Your Pain Away, La tête haute, paraît en février 2013.

Cette nouvelle chanson, résolument positive, rafraîchissante et teintée d'un exotisme et d'un rythme irrésistible, donne le ton à l'album Nomadia, son 4e en carrière. Disponible en magasin le 27 mai 2013 sur étiquette Musicor, l'album est produit par son nouvel acolyte Louis Côté (K. Maro qui a vendu plus de 2 millions d'albums et qui est l'artisan du succès fulgurant de Shy'm.). Une tournée dans les villes canadiennes est prévue dès l'été 2013.

Depuis le début de sa carrière, Lynda Thalie multiplie les liens complices et récolte les honneurs. Elle voit son parcours s'enrichir d'exceptionnelles collaborations, notamment avec Michel Rivard, Luc de Larochellière, Félix Gray, Yann Perreau, Rachid Taha (France), Tony Levin (Peter Gabriel), Enrico Macias (France) et maintenant Louis Côté (K-Maro, Shy'm). Elle prête aussi sa voix à des musiques de films de Michel Cusson, de Cité-Amérique et de l'Office national du film du Canada.

C'est ce qui fait d'elle une artiste d'envergure internationale, une amoureuse de la vie et du genre humain, un être qui refuse d'inclure les mots échecs et limites dans son vocabulaire.

Nomadia, son nouvel album, est le témoignage éloquent du caractère exceptionnel de cette grande artiste.

Lynda Thalie propose une musique hybride, née du métissage harmonieux d'instruments et de sonorités musicales du monde. Sa signature vocale et son style musical lui ont d'emblée conféré une place unique au sein de la communauté artistique canadienne. Dépeinte comme une auteure-compositeure-interprète mariant avec grâce les rythmes d'Afrique du Nord et du Moyen-Orient à des sons occidentaux, Lynda Thalie a su rallier la critique qui reconnaît en son art le reflet de la diversité québécoise contemporaine.

Depuis plusieurs années, l'artiste d'origine algérienne réaffirme son côté universel en suscitant l'enthousiasme de milliers de personnes sur quatre continents. Ainsi, en 2006, la tournée De neige ou de sable (plus de 70 spectacles) ravit les spectateurs dans les salles et les festivals à travers le Québec. Ce spectacle reçoit quatre nominations au prestigieux gala de l'ADISQ et son album récolte une nomination comme « Album de l'année - Musique du monde » ainsi qu'une nomination au gala SOBA (Sounds of Blackness Award). En février de la même année, Toronto l'invite à se produire au gala du Panthéon des auteurs-compositeurs canadiens.

L'année 2007 se révèle spectaculaire, notamment grâce à une tournée internationale dans différentes villes de six pays, dans des salles et des amphithéâtres aussi prestigieux que mythiques. Le Moyen-Orient, l'Afrique du Nord, l'Europe et l'Amérique latine découvrent alors cette artiste remarquable. De retour à Montréal, elle est l'invitée de Rachid Taha lors du flamboyant spectacle de clôture du Festival International de Jazz de Montréal, présenté devant 80 000 personnes.

L'année 2008 débute avec une tournée au Moyen-Orient. À l'automne, c'est la sortie d'un nouvel album sous étiquette Musicor, une œuvre tout en finesse, puisée à même les racines de l'artiste et inspirée de ses expériences de voyage. L'année suivante, la tournée de spectacles « La Rose des Sables » est un périple aux confins de la sensualité et du mystère. Plus envoûtante que jamais, Lynda Thalie nous invite dans son univers exotique aux parfums d'Orient au Canada, en Égypte et à Chypre.

Elle reçoit 5 nominations et 2 prix au Gala SOBA comme « Artiste musique du monde » de l'année et pour son CD La rose des sables comme « Album francophone de l'année », ainsi qu'une 6e nomination au Gala de l'ADISQ.

En janvier 2009, Lynda Thalie devient porte parole canadienne de la 19e édition du Rallye Aïcha des Gazelles, course automobile dans le désert du Maroc qui met à l'épreuve des femmes de tout horizon, québécoises ou étrangères. La chanson Le rallye des gazelles de Lynda Thalie est choisie chanson officielle de l'événement et sélectionnée par la SPACQ (Société professionnelle des auteurs et des compositeurs du Québec) pour la plateforme « Francophonie Diffusion » avec 600 partenaires radios dans 100 pays, et un circuit de diffusion et de promotion auprès des partenaires dans le monde.

Durant la même période, elle participe à l'enregistrement de l'album Génération Passe-Partout qui reçoit la certification OR – la seule de 2009 – pour des ventes de plus de 40 000 exemplaires. L'album est le fruit d'une participation de nombreux artistes qui réinventent les mélodies de la fameuse émission éducative pour enfants Passe-Partout, si chère Votre exposé devrait durer dix minutes. Les exposés PowerPoint sont les bienvenus, mais ils ne sont pas essentiels. Les exposés devraient être visuels ou illustratifs et tout sera traduit. Si vous avez préparé un exposé PowerPoint, faites-le nous parvenir à hélène.forest-allard@radio-canada.ca avant le 29 avril 2013.

2. À quel auditoire vais-je m'adresser?

L'événement regroupera environ 125 délégués de compétence, d'âge, d'expérience et de provenance variés.

3. Quel ton devrais-je adopter pour mon exposé? Est-ce qu'un format particulier est recommandé?
Nous voulons que les délégués se sentent dynamisés, inspirés et mieux préparés à travailler ensemble afin que 2017 soit une année dont on se souviendra. Pour ce faire, nous souhaitons que vous communiquiez aux participants des exemples appropriés et clairs dont ils pourraient tirer des leçons, ou de grandes idées, inspirantes et informatives, qui contribueront à donner forme à des initiatives locales pour le 150e anniversaire du Canada.

Votre exposé peut inclure des exemples de partenariats ou de collaborations qui ont bien fonctionné, une histoire tirée du passé du Canada et dont nous pouvons être fiers, une leçon découlant de la planification d'un projet ou d'un événement important, ou des façons de tirer parti des nouvelles technologies pour rallier les Canadiens aux célébrations à plus grande échelle. Mais surtout, nous voulons créer une dynamique et générer de l'engouement pour cette conversation au cours des prochaines années. Canada 150 / 2017 débute maintenant, mais nous espérons que ces discussions se poursuivront longtemps après cette série de conférences – dans les salles de réunion des conseils d'administration, autour de la table à manger et dans toutes les communautés.

PRÉSENTENT UNE SÉRIE DE CONFÉRENCES CANADA 150

PRESENT A CANADA 150 CONFERENCE SERIES

Le 5 avril 2013

Cher Monsieur Fournier,

Nous vous remercions d'avoir accepté de prendre la parole dans le cadre de Canada 150/2017 débute maintenant, le mercredi 8 mai 2013, à La Société des arts technologiques. Au nom de CBC/Radio-Canada, des Fondations communautaires du Canada, et de VIA Rail Canada, nous sommes heureux de pouvoir compter sur votre participation.

Veuillez prendre quelques minutes pour lire attentivement les renseignements suivants concernant votre exposé et le déroulement de l'événement.

Le but des conférences 2017 débute maintenant consiste à informer, à inspirer et à servir d'incubateur à des discussions à propos de 2017 sur le plan local, régional et national.

Notre objectif est de faire en sorte que les organisations communautaires, les entreprises, les ministères et, en fin de compte, que les Canadiens de partout réfléchissent à la façon de célébrer le Canada en 2017. Si nous voulons que notre 150e anniversaire frappe notre imagination collective, le moment est tout indiqué d'en commencer la planification. Il s'agit d'une occasion unique de planifier des célébrations extraordinaires dont toute une génération de Canadiens se souviendra.

Nous avons conçu la conférence 2017 débute maintenant en trois parties.

Les conférences du matin sont inspirées du format des conférences TED. Les conférenciers sont invités à faire des exposés brefs et informatifs, mettant l'accent sur une grande idée ou histoire particulière. C'est ce que nous vous demandons de faire pour 2017 débute maintenant.

Votre présentation de dix minutes aura lieu le mercredi 8 mai, à la Société des arts technologiques. Le programme définitif et l'ordre des conférences vous seront confirmés au cours des prochaines semaines.

Hélène Forest-Allard de Radio-Canada, Morwenna Marwah et Peter MacLeod de MASS LBP sont disponibles pour parler du sujet de votre exposé et pour vous orienter sur le ton, le style et le format des conférences. Tous les conférenciers sont invités à prévoir un appel au moins 10 jours avant leur exposé afin d'en discuter et de répondre aux questions qu'ils pourraient avoir. Hélène Forest-Allard communiquera avec vous pour coordonner le tout. Vous pouvez aussi la joindre à helene.forest-allard@radio-canada.ca .

Décrivez une expérience mémorable. Faites part de votre vision du Canada en 2017. Parlez d'échecs et de réussites dont vous avez été témoin. Racontez des histoires. Donnez des exemples. Nous voulons que les membres de l'auditoire quittent la conférence dynamisés et prêts à retrousser leurs manches. Ils utiliseront votre énergie et vos idées pour orienter leurs conversations de l'après-midi sur la facon de concevoir et de planifier 2017.

À la suite de vos exposés, les délégués seront invités à participer à une série de tables rondes animées sur les thèmes nationaux des célébrations et sur les idées pour leur déploiement au niveau local.

Déroulement de la journée

Un représentant de CBC/Radio-Canada vous accueillera à votre arrivée à 8 h 20 pour un bref test de sonorisation.

Le programme du matin prendra fin à midi. Si votre horaire le permet, nous espérons que vous pourrez rester pour le déjeuner et participer aux tables rondes, lesquelles prendront fin à 16 h.

Une réception VIP aura lieu immédiatement après la conférence – nous serions heureux de vous compter parmi nous. Une invitation officielle vous sera envoyée plus tard.

Pour nous aider à planifier votre visite et votre exposé, veuillez remplir le formulaire ci-joint et nous le retourner par courriel.

En attendant, si vous avez des demandes additionnelles ou des questions d'ici la conférence, n'hésitez pas à communiquer avec nous.

Au plaisir d'assister à votre exposé et de participer à un événement extraordinaire.

Sincères salutations.

Objet: Conférence « Canadu 150 / 2017 débute maintenant »

Bonjour Pierre,

J'aimerais, au nom de CBC/Radio-Canada, vous remercier très sincèrement de votre participation à la conférence « Canada 150 / 2017 débute maintenant » tenue à Montréal, le 8 mai dernier.

Votre présence à titre de conférencier et vos propos inspirants ont largement contribué au succès de cette rencontre. Nous sommes enthousiastes quant aux idées émises découlant des conversations en tables rondes qui ont suivi les exposés de la matinée.

La série de conférences poursuit maintenant sa route vers Charlottetown, Moncton et quelques autres régions. Elle se terminera à Ottawa, le 27 juin prochain, par un événement récapitulatif qui mettra en lumière les idées de célébration recueillies à Montréal et ailleurs au Canada.

Les exposés de la conférence de Montréal seront affichés dans les deux langues officielles dès cette semaine sur le site www.2017debutemaintenant.ca et sur lequel vous pouvez d'ailleurs continuer à suivre les étapes de notre projet.

Encore une fois, merci de votre précieuse collaboration et bon succès dans vos projets actuels et futurs.

Discours – Canada 150

Au nom de tous les radio-canadiens et de nos partenaires, je tiens à vous remercier d'être avec nous aujourd'hui, ainsi que les milliers de Canadiens qui ont partagé avec nous, en personne et sur le Web, le grand rêve collectif que représente cette série de conférences. Votre participation témoigne de votre engagement envers votre communauté, et de votre intérêt à prendre en main l'avenir de notre grand pays.

Permettez-moi aussi de souligner la participation de Son Excellence le très honorable David Johnston, Gouverneur général du Canada, ainsi que les conférenciers ici aujourd'hui, et tous ceux qui ont partagés leurs idées d'un océan à l'autre.

Finalement, je tiens à remercier le Musée de la Guerre pour s'être joint à nous à titre de partenaire et de nous accueillir dans cette magnifique salle. Difficile d'imaginer un lieu plus ancré dans l'histoire du Canada que celui où nous nous trouvons ce matin. Les liens que nous tissons entre notre passé, notre présent et notre avenir sont au cœur de notre identité collective.

Without our common history, without our stories there would not be a Canada. As Canada's public broadcaster CBC/Radio-Canada is tremendously proud of the role we play in telling these stories and in connecting regions, peoples, and cultures.

Along the way we've heard a lot of bold – sometimes crazy – ideas, from the creation of a 150 dollar bill, to the need for a national song. But one of the most powerful images was from Deborah Apps, President and CEO of the TransCanada Trail speaking in Charlottetown. Her dream for July 1st, 2017 is to snap a satellite picture from space of Canadians standing side by side, coast-to-coast, shining flashlights towards the sky.

These are the ideas that spark movements. And movement is what we are after. 2017 Starts Now, it doesn't end today. Great ideas are nothing without action. And so now the challenge begins.

Let's dream big – à vous la parole.

Hi Helene and Carole,

We have had technical troubles accessing the data from the video card from the shoot into our edit system. Fortunately, there is a back up card in Montreal and the video company is posting the shoot to an FTP site later today that our editor will be able to access.

We will not be able to edit this until Monday.

Carole and John - we will be forwarding you MP4's of a fine cut for your approval sometime on Monday.

Helene - once we get the footage off the FTP site, we will send you an MP4 or series of MP4's with the best takes for you to look at and get back to us with the sections you mentioned need to be edited out. We'll try get that to you asap and appreciate your prompt feedback. Helene, we'll also forward you MP4's of our edit for your approval as well.

Thanks for your patience everyone....we'll make this work!

Have a great weekend!

2017 DÉBUTE MAINTENANT / LA SÉRIE DE CONFÉRENCES SUR LE 150e DU CANADA

Résumé des conférences

CBC Radio-Canada

VIA Rail Canada

2017 STARTS DÉBUTE NOW! MAINTENANT!

001126

Le readingpalooza Jackson
Poésie et dramaturgie | Moncton

2017 Débute Maintenant!

Ce résumé a pour but de mettre en mots l'enthousiasme et l'énergie de la récente tournée pancanadienne qui a réuni 90 personnalités d'ici et plus de 1 200 délégués issus des milieux communautaires et d'autres groupes locaux d'importance.

Ces délégués appartiennent à des réseaux regroupant des millions de Canadiens qui, nous l'espérons, contribueront à imaginer et à planifier le 150e anniversaire de la Confédération canadienne en 2017, et participeront aux festivités.

Les douze conférences ont été conçues par CBC/Radio-Canada et ses partenaires, VIA Rail Canada et les Fondations communautaires canadiennes, pour lancer une conversation et encourager chacun d'entre nous à penser à la façon dont nous pourrions unir nos efforts pour célébrer et commémorer cet événement, tout en raffermissant les liens entre les Canadiens et leur patrie.

L'objectif des conférences CANADA 150/ 2017 DÉBUTE MAINTENANT était simple : lancer une conversation entre des Canadiens de tous les coins du pays et se servir de ces échanges comme d'un moteur pour passer à l'action. Comme dans les années qui ont précédé le 100e anniversaire de la Confédération en 1967, les Canadiens commencent à se pencher sur le passé, le présent et l'avenir de leur pays. Le prochain jalon majeur de notre histoire est à nos portes. Les conférences 2017 DÉBUTE MAINTE-NANT s'appuient sur cet héritage du centenaire de la Confédération pour contribuer à mobiliser la société civile canadienne pour qu'elle se projette vers 2017 et au-delà.

Commissaire du Nunavut | Yellowknife

UNE IDÉE AUDACIEUSE

Les commémorations nationales sont naturellement prétexte à l'audace. Cette série de conférences en est un exemple. Ainsi, du 5 avril au 27 juin 2013, 12 conférences se sont tenues dans chaque province du pays ainsi que dans le Nord.

Le projet, réalisé à une vitesse phénoménale, en a été un de grande envergure et aura, dans son sillage, tissé des liens entre des milliers de Canadiens. Il s'inscrit en droite ligne dans la continuité des nombreuses initiatives populaires qui ont créé un engouement pour le 100e anniversaire de la Confédération avant sa célébration en 1967.

Un grand nombre des organisateurs qui ont contribué à façonner les célébrations de 1967 étaient des éducateurs, de profession et de cœur. Ils avaient la conviction que le 100e anniversaire de la Confédération était un moment charnière, puisqu'il donnait à tous les Canadiens l'occasion d'en apprendre plus sur eux-mêmes, sur leurs compatriotes et sur leur pays. Tous nos partenaires et collaborateurs partagent cette vision et la conviction qu'elle est toujours pertinente aujourd'hui : Comment pouvons-nous tirer parti du 150e anniversaire pour en apprendre davantage sur nous-mêmes, nos compatriotes et notre pays?

Cette série de conférences est l'œuvre d'un consortium réunissant CBC/Radio-Canada et ses partenaires nationaux, VIA Rail Canada et les Fondations communautaires du Canada.

Dès le départ, plus de deux douzaines d'organismes se sont joints au consortium pour former ce qui allait devenir de loin le plus vaste réseau pour les célébrations de 2017. Ces collaborateurs ont contribué à la formation des équipes locales de planification et ils continueront de se rencontrer et d'échanger des idées. Chaque organisation façonnera ses propres plans pour souligner à sa façon le 150e anniversaire de la Confédération.

PRÉPARATION DE LA SÉRIE DE CONFÉRENCES

Chacune des 12 conférences 2017 DÉBUTE MAINTENANT s'est amorcée tout naturellement par une conversation entre les différents intervenants et les représentants locaux de la ville hôte. À chaque conférence, une demi-douzaine, voire davantage de personnalités locales ont été invitées à prendre la parole pour parler du projet, présenter des idées inspirantes et parfois proposer des défis audacieux. Leur tâche était de brosser un tableau du Canada d'aujourd'hui et de demain, et de partager des idées concrètes pour les célébrations du 150e anniversaire.

Les allocutions, d'à peine dix minutes chacune, ont archivées en lignece ce qui constituent un legs important du projet au www.2017debutemaintenant.ca.

Chaque fois, les conférenciers ont donné le ton de la conversation. Grâce à la présence des délégués sur place, souvent plus d'une centaine, il a été facile de poursuivre la discussion en tables rondes animées où tous les participants étaient encouragés à réfléchir au déroulement de 2017, tant à l'échelle locale que nationale. Dans le but de reconnaître le rôle fondamental joué par les peuples autochtones au Canada, nous avons invité des aînés à donner le coup d'envoi aux différentes conférences avec une bénédiction.

À la barre de ces conférences, des co animateurs bilingues de CBC/Radio-Canada ont fait un travail d'encadrement dans les deux langues, comme l'exigeait la portée nationale du projet, et grâce à l'interprétation simultanée, ont alimenté un dialogue de fond que plusieurs milliers de Canadiens ont pu suivre sur Internet.

Des équipes modérateurs locaux, souvent recrutés dans les universités et les collèges de la région, ont également joué un rôle non négligeable dans le bon déroulement des discussions. Ce contingent de jeunes bénévoles a non seulement apporté un regard neuf et stimulant, mais a rapidement mis les délégués à l'aise...pour que ces derniers se mettent au travail.

LES CONFÉRENCIERS

Les 120 conférenciers de la série 2017 DÉBUTE MAINTENANT sont à l'image de la diversité et de la créativité canadiennes. Partout où elles ont pris la parole, ces personnalités de tous les horizons ont préparé le terrain pour favoriser un dialogue constructif et inspiré. Vous trouverez ci-après une liste de quelques-unes des têtes d'affiche du programme.

Vancouver : La militante écologiste Tzeporah Berman a parlé de la nécessité de protéger nos ressources naturelles. Elle a mis ses concitoyens au défi de préserver l'environnement pour les générations futures. Le comédien de la série Arctic Air, Adam Beach, a fait part de son expérience en tant qu'Autochtone ayant accédé à la célébrité et à la reconnaissance comme acteur. Le directeur artistique du Théâtre à Pic, Inouk Touzin, a parlé de sa passion des langues et du pouvoir que confère la maîtrise de plusieurs. Il a suggéré pour 2017 que tous les Canadiens essaient d'acquérir une deuxième, une troisième, voire une quatrième langue pour vivre pleinement dans une des plus grandes sociétés multiculturelles du monde. Le maire de Calgary, Naheed Nenshi, a quant à lui proposé aux Canadiens de se donner trois objectifs, petits ou grands, qu'ils peuvent réaliser pour leur pays.

Toronto : Ann Buller, présidente-directrice générale du Centennial College, a expliqué pourquoi l'éducation demeure un levier fondamental de notre société et comment son institution, un legs de 1967, continue d'évoluer. Directement de New York, Paul Shaffer, collaborateur du Late Show, a interprété au piano des grands titres du répertoire de Bobbie Gimby et d'autres auteurs canadiens en hommage au pays qui l'a vu naître, et en a profité pour suggérer que l'on compose une nouvelle chanson pour le 150e anniversaire. Le vice-président de la Société d'histoire de Toronto, Christian Bode, a rappelé aux délégués l'existence d'une communauté francophone dans sa ville et l'ascendant que celle-ci a eu sur la vie torontoise longtemps avant la Confédération et jusqu'à nos jours. Le président de la Toronto Community Foundation, Rahul Bhardwaj, a parlé de sa passion pour le hockey et de ce qui fait les grandes métropoles.

Cameron Coulter
Athlétique

Saskatoon : L'auteur lauréat Yann Martel a parlé avec éloquence de la pérennité et de l'art de la commémoration. Il a pressé les Canadiens de trouver un symbole pour l'anniversaire et expliqué que des objets de tous les jours, même de simples chaises, peuvent avoir une valeur symbolique. La leader communautaire Zondra Roy a expliqué aux délégués pourquoi l'art était une source de pouvoir pour les jeunes et comment il pouvait resserrer les communautés canadiennes. Omayra Issa a apporté le fruit de sa réflexion sur la complexité grandissante de la citoyenneté à une époque où les identités et les origines sont multiples. L'ancien joueur de la LNH Théoren Fleury nous a rappelé qu'il fallait être plus proactifs pour contrer la honte et la violence que vivent nombre d'entre nous.

Winnipeg : L'honorable Roméo Dallaire, lieutenant-général (ret.), a demandé aux Canadiens de commémorer le sacrifice de générations de soldats par un nouveau mémorial à Ottawa en hommage à la bataille de Vimy. Il a également plaidé pour que les jeunes Canadiens aient la chance de visiter des contrées moins fortunées pour y apporter leur contribution. Gillian Smith, présidente-directrice générale de l'Institut pour la citoyenneté canadienne, a raconté comment la naissance de ses jumelles l'a sensibilisée aux défis que doivent relever les travailleurs étrangers temporaires pour obtenir la citoyenneté canadienne. Enfin, Mariette Mulaire, dirigeante du World Trade Centre de Winnipeg, a vanté les joies du bilinguisme et encouragé les Canadiens à vraiment apprécier leurs deux langues officielles.

Le président de Culture Montréal, Simon Brault, a expliqué que 2017 nous donnait l'occasion de dynamiser notre identité culturelle et d'approfondir notre connaissance de l'histoire. Michel Leblanc, président et chef de la direction de la Chambre de commerce du Montréal métropolitain, espère que sa ville retrouvera la fierté et le dynamisme d'Expo 67 et touchera à nouveau tous les Canadiens en 2017. Éric Fournier, de Moment Factory, a subjugué l'auditoire par sa proposition d'illuminer des immeubles publics et de créer de nouveaux spectacles.

Charlottetown : Deborah Apps a expliqué que l'aménagement du Sentier transcanadien, héritage des célébrations du 125e anniversaire du Canada, s'achevait, grâce à la générosité et aux efforts des bénévoles canadiens. Gilles Arsenault, président de la Fédération des enseignants de l'Î.-P.-É., a souligné la contribution des éducateurs du pays. Pour lui, les enseignants sont des partenaires clés pour mobiliser les jeunes et concrétiser les célébrations de 2017. L'auteure et éducatrice Bonnie Stewart a témoigné de l'importance de nos pages de vie personnelles et expliqué comment Internet pouvait servir de fil conducteur entre chacun d'entre nous. Jowi Taylor a présenté la guitare Voyageur, un trésor national des temps modernes qui symbolise la beauté et la diversité de notre patrimoine.

Moncton : Yves Desjardins-Siciliano, de VIA Rail Canada, a parlé de l'importance du célèbre réseau ferroviaire transcontinental et de son rôle comme porte d'entrée du Canada. La cofondatrice d'Onboardly Media, Heather Anne Carson, a vanté le dynamisme des entrepreneurs canadiens et expliqué comment la technologie aide à équilibrer les rapports de force en permettant aux entreprises des petites villes canadiennes de livrer concurrence à l'échelle mondiale. Michael Hann, démographe de l'Université du Nouveau-Brunswick, a discuté des tendances sociodémographiques à l'œuvre au Canada et souligné l'importance de définir de nouvelles stratégies pour assurer la croissance de la population des provinces atlantiques.

St. John's : La fondatrice d'Opera on the Avalon, Cheryl Hickman, a annoncé la création du premier livret d'opéra original du Canada atlantique. L'œuvre qui raconte le sacrifice et l'héroïsme des soldats du Royal Newfoundland Regiment sera interprétée en 2017. Donovan Taplin, jeune leader, est venu expliquer pourquoi il se sentait profondément canadien et a encouragé ses concitoyens à faire preuve de créativité et de curiosité envers leur pays d'ici 2017. L'auteure Françoise Enguehard a parlé des barrières linguistiques et culturelles qui perdurent au pays et a pressé les Canadiens d'embrasser leur dualité linguistique.

Halifax : Danny Graham a cité les Jeux olympiques de Vancouver de 2010 comme un exemple inattendu, mais efficace d'événement répondant au désir d'affermissement de l'identité nationale. Soulafa Al-Abbasi de FUSION Halifax a raconté les défis qu'elle a dû surmonter en tant qu'immigrante et de sa passion pour sa ville d'accueil. Jac Gautreau a présenté KA'NATA, son projet de spectacle itinérant célébrant la culture canadienne en 2017.

NOS DELEGUES

Dans chacune des villes hôtes, nos réseaux de collaborateurs locaux ont procédé au recrutement des délégués. La réponse chaleureuse obtenue prouve l'intérêt des Canadiens pour 2017 et leur enthousiasme à l'idée de participer aux célébrations.

Chaque conférence présentait une brochette

Naheed Nenshi
Le maire de Calgary | Calgary

de délégués de toute provenance : la société civile, le secteur des arts et de la culture, des groupes de jeunes, des associations bénévoles, des nouveaux arrivants, une diversité de confessions religieuses, des organismes communautaires, ainsi que le milieu universitaire. Le secteur public y était également bien représenté. Des représentants du gouvernement et de la fonction publique, des leaders autochtones, ainsi que des porte-parole des musées, galeries d'art, fonds d'archives, bibliothèques, écoles et installations sportives de la communauté étaient chaque fois présents. Ils auront immanquablement un rôle important à jouer au sein de leur communauté et de leurs organisations dans la planification des célébrations.

On a déployé des efforts délibérés pour intéresser les entreprises canadiennes, secteur qui a donné une impulsion essentielle aux célébrations du centenaire. Avec l'aide de la Chambre de commerce du Canada, les entreprises locales ont pu prendre part à la discussion et exposer leurs idées pour 2017. Les équipes de planification ont également travaillé en étroite collaboration avec des centres d'amitié locaux pour encourager les communautés autochtones à prendre part à la conversation.

La diversité des organisations et des individus qui ont participé aux conférences a enrichi la discussion et démontré qu'il y avait un élan de plus en plus marqué vers 2017. De nombreux délégués ont d'ailleurs indiqué que leurs organisations avaient commencé à mettre en place leurs propres plans pour souligner le 150e anniversaire et qu'elles fondaient beaucoup d'espoir sur les conférences pour accélérer leurs efforts et les mettre en contact avec des groupes qui partagent leur vision.

Les conférences 2017 DÉBUTE MAINTENANT sont terminées, mais le réseau, fort de ses 1 200 délégués, demeure. Nous allons concentrer nos énergies à cultiver ce réseau pour promouvoir de nouvelles initiatives pour 2017 et encourager les Canadiens à participer au dialogue, à organiser leurs propres activités et à mettre en place des partenariats et des événements locaux pour souligner le 150e anniversaire de la Confédération.

LANCER LA CONVERSATION

Les conférences 2017 DÉBUTE MAINTENANT visaient à mobiliser les Canadiens. L'imagination étant une faculté qui doit être entretenue, ces conversations étaient l'occasion pour les délégués d'exercer leur créativité et d'engager un dialogue qu'ils poursuivront, nous l'espérons, au sein de leur communauté et avec les organismes locaux.

Après les présentations des conférenciers locaux, les délégués ont été invités à prendre part à des tables rondes sur des questions qui leur tenaient à cœur.

Ils disposaient généralement de 45 minutes pour se présenter et discuter du thème assigné à leur table. Dans les 75 minutes restantes, ils pouvaient se déplacer pour prendre part à plusieurs discussions à d'autres tables et partager leur vision de différents sujets avec de nombreux délégués. Chaque séance était divisée en deux volets. Le premier portait sur le Canada dans son ensemble et le second, sur les événements ou initiatives à l'échelle locale pour souligner 2017.

Questions de portée nationale

1. Quels événements majeurs pouvons-nous créer pour souligner cet événement marquant et faire en sorte que 2017 soit mémorable pour tous les Canadiens?
2. Comment devrions-nous célébrer la fête du Canada en 2017?
3. Comment pouvons-nous partager ce moment avec le reste du monde?
4. Comment pouvons-nous nous assurer que 2017 inspire un sentiment de fierté chez les citoyens et qu'ils se mobilisent pour cet événement et se l'approprient?
5. Quels sont les thèmes et les idées qui devraient façonner les célébrations de 2017?
6. Comment CBC/Radio-Canada, VIA Rail Canada et les Fondations communautaires du Canada devraient-elles souligner cet anniversaire et mobiliser tous les Canadiens?

Questions de portée locale

1. Quelles sont les réalisations et les histoires que nous voulons raconter et commémorer en 2017?
2. Comment la ville, la région et la province peuvent-elles contribuer aux célébrations du Canada?
3. Quel rôle les différentes organisations locales peuvent-elles jouer dans la préparation des célébrations pour 2017?
4. Comment pouvons-nous nous assurer que les jeunes d'ici puissent jouer un rôle dans les célébrations de 2017 et les apprécier?
5. Quelles initiatives la ville, la région et la province peuvent-elles prendre pour assurer l'héritage de 2017?
6. De quelle façon la ville, la région et la province peuvent-elles marquer cet anniversaire?

EXEMPLES DE THÈMES ET D'IDÉES DE CÉLÉBRATIONS POUR 2017

METTRE LA JEUNESSE DE L'AVANT

Mon Canada en 150 | Vancouver

Manon Gauthier
Centre national des arts, Ottawa

Sur les rails | Vancouver
Grâce à des rabais spéciaux offerts par VIA en 2017, les jeunes Canadiens pourraient profiter de l'occasion pour découvrir le Canada en train d'un océan à l'autre. Les médias sociaux pourraient servir de liens entre les voyageurs, pour qu'ils partagent leurs expériences et élargissent leurs réseaux.

C'est l'aviron qui nous mène | Calgary
Lancer un concours pancanadien jumelant des objectifs éducatifs et artistiques qui encourageraient les jeunes à décorer des canots et à en apprendre davantage sur le Canada de 1867. Les canots seraient intégrés à des installations d'art permanentes dans les communautés pour rappeler les origines de notre pays.

150 choses à faire | Calgary
On pourrait donner aux jeunes de toutes les régions une série de défis, comme trouver un immeuble historique, assortis de mots-clics. Ils pourraient documenter leur quête sur Instagram et réaliser un album photos virtuel témoignant de leur engagement civil.

Projet de journal pour 2017 | Saskatoon

Échange générationnel | Montréal
Les jeunes pourraient être jumelés à des gens du troisième âge de leur communauté avec lesquels ils établiraient des liens d'amitié et de partage. Les jeunes pourraient ainsi en apprendre davantage sur l'histoire de leur quartier et la vie riche de leurs aînés, tandis que les plus vieux profiteraient du regard neuf de la génération montante.

Le coin des étudiants | St. John's
Les élèves du secondaire pourraient produire des capsules vidéo pour expliquer ce que signifie être canadien. Ces vidéos seraient mises en ligne, et les gens pourraient commenter et voter pour leurs préférées. Les enseignants pourraient les utiliser comme outils d'enseignement pour découvrir les différentes communautés du pays.

PLACE AUX ARTS

Les arts et la culture sont un moyen d'expression privilégié de notre identité. Il s'agit d'un langage universel qui permet d'exprimer des idées souvent négligées dans la vie de tous les jours. De nombreux délégués voient en 2017 l'occasion d'investir dans des artistes canadiens, de présenter des œuvres nouvelles et reconnues, partout au pays et sur la scène internationale. Les artistes canadiens devraient être des ambassadeurs nationaux et exécuter des commandes pour célébrer cet anniversaire.

Recueil de chansons du Canada | Vancouver

La murale « Mon Canada » | Montréal
De vastes murales interactives pourraient être créées dans des espaces urbains partout au pays. Les citoyens pourraient enrichir cette murale en y ajoutant des messages personnels ou des dessins à la peinture ou à la craie.

Le train des arts de 2017 | Vancouver
Le train des arts de 2017 réunirait des artistes de partout au pays. À chaque arrêt et à chaque gare, une nouvelle œuvre s'ajouterait à la collection. Les Canadiens seraient encouragés à visiter cette collection en devenir.

Campagne d'art public | Saskatoon
S'inspirant du succès de projets artistiques communautaires réalisés dans les années 1990, les villes pourraient adopter une mascotte locale, telle que la marmotte de Saskatoon. Des artistes pourraient concevoir des sculptures à l'effigie de ces mascottes, qui seraient exposées dans chacune des villes participantes.

Canada-stock | St. John's
On pourrait organiser une série de concerts de musiciens canadiens populaires à l'été 2017. Les concerts seraient gratuits et réuniraient de nouveaux venus et des ténors de la scène musicale canadienne.

Léo-Paul Provencher
Fédération franco-ténoise

L'héritage de l'Expo 67 | Montréal
Des archives des œuvres d'art présentées à l'Expo 67 pourraient être exposées pendant 2017. Des participants à l'Expo 67 pourraient parler de leur expérience et de leurs efforts dans une vidéo en ligne.

En images | Toronto

RAPPROCHER DES GENS ET DES LIEUX

La technologie permet aux Canadiens de construire entre eux des réseaux comme jamais auparavant. Les possibilités des réseaux sociaux pour souligner 2017 n'ont pratiquement aucune limite. Malgré la fascination qu'exerce le virtuel, il demeure toutefois important que les Canadiens puissent parcourir le pays pour faire des rencontres en personne.

Portes ouvertes sur le Canada | Moncton
On choisirait une journée dans l'ensemble du pays pour que les lieux porteurs de sens, tels que des sites historiques, des bâtiments emblématiques, des espaces architecturaux novateurs, des lieux de culte, des parcs nationaux et des musées, ouvrent leurs portes gratuitement au public, comme cela se fait à l'échelle locale un peu partout au pays.

Journée du serment d'allégeance | Winnipeg
On pourrait choisir un moment précis en 2017 durant lequel tous les Canadiens pourraient prononcer un serment d'allégeance en chœur. Les citoyens seraient invités à rédiger leur propre serment, les écoles pourraient tenir des concours et les journaux pourraient publier des textes inspirants rédigés par des personnalités de la scène canadienne. On pourrait ainsi rendre hommage aux bâtisseurs du pays, saluer l'expérience des Premières Nations et réaffirmer ensemble notre engagement envers notre pays. Cet événement pourrait devenir une tradition annuelle et constituer un héritage pour l'avenir.

Nord x 150 | Saskatoon, St. John's et Vancouver
Le 1er janvier 2017, les Canadiens seraient invités à prendre la résolution de faire un geste, peu importe lequel, 150 fois avant la fête du Canada, pour eux-mêmes, leur communauté et leur pays. Il pourrait s'agir de faire du travail bénévole, d'apprendre une autre langue, de créer un projet d'art, de se présenter à leurs voisins ou de faire des dons à des œuvres de charité. Les résolutions des participants pourraient être présentées en ligne jusqu'au 1er juillet 2017 et faire partie des célébrations entourant la fête du Canada.

La chaîne transcanadienne | Calgary et Charlottetown
Les gens pourraient emprunter le sentier transcanadien pour créer une immense chaîne humaine reliant le pays d'un océan à l'autre. Grâce à une coordination en ligne, les participants utiliseraient des lampes de poche, des projecteurs, des bougies, des bâtons lumineux et des feux d'artifice pour illuminer la chaîne et la rendre visible de l'espace. Des photos prises par satellite ou par des astronautes canadiens pourraient immortaliser cette ceinture de lumière et la présenter au reste du monde comme un symbole du sentiment d'appartenance des Canadiens.

Trousse de la fête du Canada |St. John's

PROMOTION DU CANADA SUR LA SCÈNE INTERNATIONALE

L'innovation canadienne à la rescousse | Charlottetown

Témoignages d'amour de l'étranger | Toronto
Des Canadiens vivant à l'étranger pourraient prendre cinq minutes pour immortaliser sur vidéo leur vécu en tant qu'expatriés canadiens. Ces témoignages pourraient être colligés en ligne et mis en forme dans des montages qui seraient diffusés dans les semaines et les mois précédant le 1er juillet 2017. On pourrait encourager les Canadiens à réfléchir sur ce qui les lie et sur le sens d'être Canadien à l'ère de la mondialisation.

2017 à l'étranger | Vancouver et Calgary

En lice pour un record Guinness | Halifax et Toronto
Les communautés de partout au pays pourraient prendre part à des activités pour établir des records. Les activités en question pourraient s'articuler autour d'un thème canadien : le plus grand nombre de gens à entonner un hymne national, à boire du sirop d'érable ou à prononcer une phrase en inuktitut. Les communautés les plus ambitieuses pourraient poursuivre une tradition de longue date au Canada qui consiste à créer le « plus grand [compléter la phrase] ». Fort de tous ces records, le Canada pourrait mettre au défi d'autres pays pour qu'ils battent « le plus de records établis par un même pays au cours d'une année ».

RENOUVELER NOS COMMUNAUTÉS

La nécessité d'investir dans nos infrastructures, autant culturelles que sociales et matérielles, a été soulevée à de nombreuses occasions. Les participants considèrent qu'il s'agit d'une priorité commune et que les efforts collectifs pourraient faire une grande différence. Les participants entrevoient les célébrations de 2017 comme l'occasion de créer un héritage durable pour le Canada.

Le comité d'accueil du 150e | Halifax

Renouveler le patrimoine du centenaire| St. John's, Halifax et Calgary
Un grand nombre d'immeubles du centenaire ont besoin de travaux de réfection et de réparation urgents. Dans de nombreux cas, on pourrait convertir ces immeubles patrimoniaux pour répondre aux nouveaux besoins des communautés. Des groupes de citoyens locaux pourraient prendre en charge les plans de développement et réunir les fonds nécessaires pour insuffler une nouvelle vie au patrimoine bâti vieillissant.

Vert 2017 Green | Charlottetown
Chaque province pourrait créer un nouvel espace vert, qu'il s'agisse d'un parc ou d'un boisé, autour d'un thème commun qui les unirait. On pourrait encourager les citoyens à choisir les endroits les plus appropriés ainsi que leur vocation.

Festival de l'alimentation | Saskatoon
Des organismes, restaurants et leaders communautaires locaux pourraient unir leurs efforts pour mettre sur pied un événement annuel consacré à l'art culinaire. Ces initiatives seraient des occasions de partage sur plusieurs plans et serviraient de forums pour un nouvel engagement communautaire.

Le Canada en marche! Le Canada en forme! | Montréal
La santé pourrait être un thème central pour les célébrations de 2017. Les Canadiens et les jeunes en particulier pourraient être encouragés à accroître leur activité physique de manière créative et divertissante. On pourrait proposer une discipline sportive et un événement commun, tel qu'un tournoi de crosse, pour faire le pont entre toutes les initiatives mises de l'avant.

POUR LE PLAISIR DU JEU

Les conférences 2017 DÉBUTE MAINTENANT nous ont rappelé à quel point les Canadiens étaient créatifs et savaient trouver des idées audacieuses, divertissantes et parfois même totalement loufoques.

Call it Bannada! | Calgary
On pourrait inviter les communautés à réinventer une recette traditionnelle comme la bannique en faisant appel à leur créativité. On pourrait ensuite créer un livre de recettes et d'adaptations culinaires en ligne.

Les mitaines rouges emblématiques | Montréal
Les mitaines rouges conçues pour Équipe Canada lors des Jeux olympiques de Vancouver pourraient être remises au goût du jour comme symbole national, et le produit de la vente de ces articles pourrait servir à financer des initiatives pour 2017.

Mobilisation éclair pancanadienne | Toronto
On pourrait organiser une mobilisation éclair savamment chorégraphiée dans différents lieux au pays. Les manifestations seraient filmées et montées en une seule vidéo, qui pourrait être accompagnée d'une trame sonore originale.

Nous vous attendions! | Vancouver
Des groupes communautaires pourraient aller accueillir les voyageurs dans des aéroports un jour donné. Les voyageurs seraient chaleureusement accueillis à leur sortie d'avion.

ARTISTE EN MOUVEMENT 2017

Après la première conférence qui a eu lieu à Vancouver, Sonnet L'Abbé, une des conférencières, a accepté de devenir l'Artiste en mouvement 2017. La poète de renom a pris le train de VIA vers l'est pour assister à chacune des conférences, avec le mandat d'écrire un poème original qui serait dévoilé à la dernière conférence, à Ottawa. Au cours des trois derniers mois, elle a parcouru le pays en communiquant sur Twitter et sur son blogue, tout en écrivant des poèmes et en faisant des entrevues avec les Canadiens rencontrés sur son parcours. Le programme Artiste en mouvement 2017 est un exemple des occasions que les organismes canadiens peuvent offrir aux artistes en émergence dans la montée vers le 150e anniversaire de la Confédération. Pour en savoir plus sur l'aventure et le projet, consulter le blogue www.canada150blog.com.

TROUSSE DE DISCUSSION

La trousse de discussion 2017 DÉBUTE MAINTENANT est un outil utile pour aider les communautés et les organisations à amorcer un dialogue sur les célébrations de 2017. La trousse donne une marche à suivre pour organiser des événements, ainsi qu'une liste de ressources pratiques, dont un répertoire complet de vidéos en ligne sur le sujet. Elle renferme également des conseils et des outils pour susciter un engouement pour 2017. Elle est offerte gratuitement en format PDF sur le site 2017debutemaintenant.ca.

FAIRE DE 2017 UNE ANNÉE MÉMORABLE

La conférence d'Ottawa a mis fin à la série de conférences CANADA 150 / 2017 DÉBUTE MAINTENANT, mais les retombées de ce projet sur la mobilisation publique de la Confédération devraient se faire sentir de plus en plus à l'approche du 150e anniversaire. Les conférences ont incité des groupes de partout au pays à réfléchir sur le sens à donner à cette date historique.

Il appartient désormais à chacun d'entre nous de poursuivre la démarche. Quels cadeaux nous offrirons-nous? Quelles expériences partagerons nous? Que pouvons-nous accomplir ensemble non seulement pour souligner le 150e anniversaire, mais pour les 50 années qui mèneront au bicentenaire de 2067? Ces questions sont non seulement un point de départ pour une discussion sur les célébrations nationales, mais elles sont aussi essentielles à une société démocratique saine et dynamique.

La série de conférences 2017 DÉBUTE MAINTENANT a démontré que le Canada est prêt et que 2017 commence effectivement maintenant! En rassemblant les Canadiens et en les invitant à se joindre à la conversation, nous pouvons faire de 2017 une année mémorable pour les générations à venir.
