Section I: Introduction

The Parliament of Canada's international and interparliamentary relations are carried out, in part, through parliamentary associations.

As of March 31, 2016, there are 12 parliamentary associations that receive funding from the Parliament of Canada and fall under the administrative authority of the Joint Interparliamentary Council. Those associations also receive full administrative assistance from the International and Interparliamentary Affairs Directorate.

The purpose of this report is to provide an overview of the parliamentary associations that fall under the Council, as well as their activities and expenditures for the 2015-2016 fiscal year. This section of the report provides some information about parliamentary associations, their governance and the support they receive. Section II provides a general overview of the associations' activities and expenditures for the 2015-2016 fiscal year whereas Section III provides information and data for each association for that same period.

Since the election was held during the period covered, some information presented in this report, such as the make-up of the executive committees, reflects two periods of the 2015-2016 fiscal year, from April 1 to August 2, 2015 (41st Parliament, 2nd Session) and from December 3 to March 31, 2016 (42nd Parliament, 1st Session). It is important to note that the associations carried out activities throughout the fiscal year, even during the election period.

For any additional information about this report or the parliamentary associations, please contact the Joint Interparliamentary Council, at JIC-CIM@parl.gc.ca.

Parliamentary Associations and Interparliamentary Groups

As mentioned on the previous page, the parliamentary associations¹ receive funding from the Parliament of Canada, fall under the administrative authority of the Joint Interparliamentary Council and receive full administrative assistance from the International and Interparliamentary Affairs Directorate. Though their activities and objectives may be varied, the associations share similar characteristics:

- they promote the country's interests abroad on a continuing basis;
- they operate on multilateral and bilateral levels;
- they are composed of members of the Senate and of the House of Commons;
- they meet at annual general meetings where they elect their executive committees, as well as at other meetings to coordinate and direct activities with their bilateral counterparts or with the international secretariats of the multilateral organizations to which they belong.

As of March 31, 2016, there are 12 associations, plus the Canadian Delegation to the OSCE Parliamentary Assembly which falls under the Canada-Europe Parliamentary Association. These multilateral or bilateral associations, which can be found in Table 1 on the next page, may be grouped in five regions: global, Europe, Americas, Asia-Pacific and Africa.

There are also four interparliamentary groups,² which can also be found in Table 1 on the next page, which have been recognized by the Parliament of Canada and which also help promote bilateral relations with the specific country to which they are related. These groups receive no funding from Parliament and minimal administrative assistance. This assistance is generally limited to administrative and procedural support for annual general meetings, maintaining the group's constitution and collecting related membership fees. The interparliamentary groups promote cooperation and understanding amongst nations and, like parliamentary associations, strengthen the relations between Canadian parliamentarians and their counterparts in other parliaments. Membership fees from individual parliamentarians support the activities of these groups. Given the nature of these groups, this report does not provide information about their activities and expenditures.

In addition to the parliamentary associations and the four recognized interparliamentary groups, there are a number of other groups, often referred to as friendship groups, that do not receive administrative or financial support from the Parliament of Canada. These groups are not required to register their activities or membership with the Council, but they are encouraged to advise the International and Interparliamentary Affairs Directorate in order to assist those who might wish to contact one of these groups. For more information about these groups, please consult the unofficial list of other interparliamentary groups.

Joint Interparliamentary Council

The Joint Interparliamentary Council, whose members are listed on the next page, is responsible for determining all budgetary and administrative matters relating to parliamentary associations. Specifically, the Council determines the level of funding to be distributed to each association within the limits of the total allotments approved by the Standing Senate Committee on Internal Economy, Budgets and Administration and the House of Commons Board of Internal Economy. In addition, the Council is also responsible for setting the overall general policy direction for parliamentary associations as well as for coordinating related activities and operating policies to ensure effective, efficient, consistent and coherent support for international and interparliamentary activities while also promoting the best interests of Parliament in its relations with the other parliaments.

Supporting Parliamentary Associations

The International and Interparliamentary Affairs Directorate (IIAD), is a joint Senate-House of Commons directorate offering a single parliamentary window to coordinate the Parliament of Canada’s international and interparliamentary relations and activities. The Parliamentary Associations team is responsible for the ongoing administrative, logistical and procedural support for each association.

The Library of Parliament provides direct support through analysts who provide research and analysis services to a number of associations. Finally, the Parliamentary Affairs Unit, Global Affairs Canada, is a close partner that provides support for official travel by parliamentarians, parliamentary associations and interparliamentary groups and friendship groups through documents, information sessions and coordination efforts with the missions.

Section II: 2015-2016 Activities and Expenditures – Overview

This section includes tables and figures that present and illustrate data related to the activities and expenditures of all parliamentary associations for the 2015-2015 fiscal year. It is important to distinguish between association activities and travel. While activities include travel, they also include executive committee meetings, general assemblies and hosting activities.

A number of the parliamentary associations' activities are held outside Ottawa and abroad. The world map in Figure 1 below shows the places to which the associations travelled to carry out activities from April 1, 2015 to March 31, 2016. During that period, the total number of trips is 59, fewer than the total number of trips in the previous fiscal year, which was 82. This drop may be explained by the election that took place in the fall of 2015.

Table 2 below provides an overview of the activities of the parliamentary associations for the 2015-2016 fiscal year, for both parliamentary sessions. For instance, in this fiscal year, 52 delegations made up of senators and MPs visited 30 countries while the Parliament of Canada welcomed 23 delegations from abroad as part of the activities of parliamentary associations.

Table 4 below shows a summary of the expenditures of all the parliamentary associations for the past five years. For the 2015-2016 fiscal year, the parliamentary associations had a budget of $3,563,537. The contribution expenditures of $1,370,199 show an increase over the previous fiscal year. Finally, the budget balance of $588,710 is largely due to a drop in the number of activities and participants during this election year and the long election campaign.

The graph in Figure 2 below shows a comparison of the expenditures of associations for their activities and contributions over the past five years. As the graph indicates, there is a decrease in expenditures for activities but an increase in expenditures for contributions.

2015-2016 Activities and expenditures

In this fiscal year, delegations from the Canada-Europe Parliamentary Association (CAEU) participated in two sessions of the Parliamentary Assembly of the Council of Europe, in Strasbourg, France, the first having taken place in April 2015 and the second in September of the same year. Immediately prior to the April session, the delegation travelled to Luxembourg and Netherlands, the countries that will assume the next presidency of the Council of the European Union. During the trips, special meetings were organized on particular ongoing issues in Canada-European Union relations, such as the Comprehensive Economic and Trade Agreement, the Strategic Partnership Agreement, and the proposed measures for the implementation of the Fuel Quality Directive. Delegations also participated in various meetings of the Standing Committee of Parliamentarians of the Arctic Region in Reykjavik, in May 2015, and in Stockholm, in March 2016. During the May visit, the delegates also participated in the Fourth Northern Dimension Parliamentary Forum.

Canadian Delegation to the OSCE Parliamentary Assembly (SECO)

Objectives

The Canadian Delegation to the OSCE Parliamentary Assembly (SECO) exists within the rubric of the Canada-Europe Parliamentary Association, sharing the same membership and addressing the same objective of providing a forum for the exchange of information and ideas between Canadian parliamentarians and the OSCE Parliamentary Assembly (OSCE PA), as well as providing opportunities to identify mutual goals and issues of common concern, and striving for their attainment and solution. The primary purpose of the OSCE PA, the parliamentary arm of the OSCE, is to facilitate inter-parliamentary dialogue and to issue recommendations to the OSCE concerning its three dimensions of action: the politico-military dimension, the economic and environmental dimension, and the human dimension.

It attended two of the three regular meetings of the OSCE Parliamentary Assembly, which were held in Helsinki, in July 2015, and in Vienna, in February 2016. These meetings gave member countries the opportunity to discuss political, economic and humanitarian issues and to adopt reports and resolutions on these matters.
